Juvenile detention facilities; costs; institutional care; programs.

(c) To operate, under rules promulgated by the department, regional juvenile detention facilities in order to detain and diagnose children under the age of 19 years committed to the department by the juvenile division of the probate court, or children under the age of 17 concerning whom an order of detention has been issued under the provisions of sections 14, 15 and 16 of chapter 12a of Act No. 288 of the Public Acts of 1939, as amended, being sections 712a.14 to 712a.16 of the Compiled Laws of 1948. The department shall assume responsibility for all children committed to it by the juvenile division of the probate court under the provisions of Act No. 185 of the Public Acts of 1925, as amended, being sections 803.101 to 803.113 of the Compiled Laws of 1948; Act No. 183 of the Public Acts of 1925, as amended, being sections 804.101 to 804.113 of the Compiled Laws of 1948; and Act No. 220 of the Public Acts of 1935, as amended, being sections 400.201 to 400.214 of the Compiled Laws of 1948. Whenever the director, commissioner or those officials responsible for enforcing any state or local building code determine that a dwelling unit fails to meet the standards of such code through fault of the landlord, the department may refuse to pay public assistance grants authorized under this act for payment of rent on such dwelling unit. A written notice of the refusal, stating the grounds therefor and listing the defects to be corrected, shall be mailed forthwith to the landlord by certified mail. During the period of refusal the landlord may bring an action against the department in the nature of quo warranto, but may not maintain an action for the rent or possession of the premises. Such information shall be forwarded to the county agent of the county in which the prospective home is located, if the judge of probate has given prior general consent to such procedure, or to the director of a licensed child-placing agency, or to an employee of the state department who shall investigate the home and if in his opinion the placement should be made shall file his approval with the department. If the proposed placement is or appears to be planned with a view to an adoption of the child under the law of this state by the family with whom the child is to be placed, the prior approval of the proposed placement by the judge of probate of the county of residence of the family is also required. When requested, the state department may require supervision of the child in the home until such time as the child is legally adopted or otherwise discharged from care.

400.18 Appropriations; allocation and distribution, basis, limitations, arrangements.

Sec. 18. The commission shall provide for the distribution of such moneys as shall be appropriated by the legislature for public welfare grants in respect to general relief, including total administrative costs, medical care and care in the county medical care facility, and the burial of the bodies of deceased indigent or unknown persons, but not capital expenditures in respect to the county medical care facility, other infirmity care or hospitalization, to the several city, county and district departments of social welfare on the basis of monthly reporting to the commission by the departments and with reference to the following facts:

(a) Need for relief as demonstrated by experience of the respective counties.

Funds distributed shall be in respect to the net amount expended monthly by the respective departments, for general public relief. State funds distributed shall be not less than 40% of the net amount spent by such department for general relief. Whenever any county, district or city department share of general relief expenditures equals 1 mill of the state equalized valuation, the state shall distribute funds for 100% of the general relief costs in excess of 1 mill. General relief shall include the expenditures named in this section, except that administrative costs for any fiscal quarter shall not be included for any county with a population over 600,000 in which section 23a is applicable for the full fiscal quarter. Whenever any county, district or city department share of general relief expenditures exceeds 1 mill of the state equalized valuation, or did exceed 1 mill in the prior fiscal year, administrative costs for such county shall be subject to the review and approval of the state department and the county department of social welfare shall make no change in its policy or administrative plan as would substantially affect its expenditures without the approval of the state department.

The state treasurer, subject to the approval of the state administrative board, may transfer available money other than money in the irrevocable medical assistance account established in section 11, from the state appropriations made for any of the several forms of social welfare administered under the jurisdiction of the state department, to any other of the funds so administered.

For counties having a population of 600,000 or less and for all cities regardless of population, the commission may make arrangements to disburse amounts to general public relief recipients through central state facilities after determination of the recipients' needs by a county, district or city department of social welfare. The arrangements shall permit emergency and temporary general public relief payments by the county, district or city department and voucher or vendor payments for persons entitled to general public relief not involving any federal funds, where the well-being of the recipient or the protection of general public relief funds makes such payments desirable. The arrangements shall include provisions for county or city reimbursement to the state of funds centrally disbursed to general public relief recipients and allocable costs of the central disbursement. Nothing in this section or act shall be construed, however, as limiting the right of the state department to make warrants payable to and deliver same to, any creditor of a recipient of general public relief who has provided food, shelter or public utility service to such recipients at the request of the state department.

Sec. 18b. The commission shall provide for the distribution of such moneys for the foster care of children as shall be appropriated by the legislature to counties whose annual expenditures from county funds for foster care, as limited in this section, exceed a basic amount to be established as follows: Such basic amount shall be equal to $1\frac{1}{2}$ hundredths of 1% of the value of the taxable real and personal property of the county as determined by the state board of equalization for the preceding year, unless in the case of any particular county the commission finds, upon careful examination of the financial resources and necessary expenditures of the county for all services, that it is unable to provide for foster care in so large an amount, in which case the basic amount to be expended by the county before state funds may be made available to it shall be reduced in an amount to be determined by the commission in relation to the county's financial situation: Provided, That the basic amount in every county shall not be less than \$2,000.00: And provided further, That the commission shall make an annual original foster care grant to each county of 90% of the first \$2,000.00 of annual expenditures from the child care fund of the county established in section 73 of this act, such grant to be considered county funds for the purposes of this section.

Costs which shall be considered in determining the county's expenditures for foster care for the purpose of establishing the basic amount are:

(1) Expenditures from county funds for the care of children committed to Michigan children's institute, boys' vocational school and girls' training school.

(2) Expenditures, classified as required by the auditor general, made by the county or on the order of the judge of probate from the general fund of the county for the foster care of children, including children in detention pending adjudication.

(3) Expenditures from the child care fund of the county established under section 73 of this act. Such distribution of state funds shall be in an amount not less than 50% of the net cost of foster care paid from the child care fund of the county established in section 73 of this act, not including any amount of county expenditures from this fund which were used (a) to establish the said basic amount, or (b) to pay for the care of children admitted to Michigan children's institute, boys' vocational school and girls' training school: Provided, That all payments from the foster care fund made on order of the county department of social welfare are found by the commission to have been made in accordance with the standards of care and service established in section 18c of this act. In respect to those counties whose basic amount has been reduced by the commission or who receive other financial consideration by the commission in view of their need, the commission shall establish suitable per diem rates for foster care for any such county and may change such rates from time to time as may be necessary to insure economical and satisfactory foster care. Rates established will not be for the purpose of fixing minimum or maximum rates which a county may pay, but for the purpose of determining an average cost as the basis for allocating state funds. In the case of children cared for through licensed child caring institutions and placement agencies, such per diem rates may include a reasonable amount for supervision.

Household goods and wearing apparel shall not be considered, nor shall farm stock or implements, including but not limited to horses, cattle, poultry, power machinery and motor powered vehicles having a fair market value of less than $750.00 be considered. The interest of the applicant or recipient in an estate or trust as heir, devisee, legatee, cestui que trust, or otherwise shall not be considered the property of the applicant or the recipient for eligibility requirements unless and until it has been distributed to him or is available to him for disposition or expenditure by him. In fixing the value of property under this section, ownership of real property located in another state by a spouse not having a legal residence in Michigan shall not preclude the applicant from receiving the aid unless it appears that the applicant has a present legal interest in such property.

(b) Has an income from all sources of more than the amount necessary to provide such person, or married couple, with a minimum subsistence which shall be determined, as near as possible, by the state department, which shall use the recognized current standards of the department of agriculture of the federal government and the cost figures of the department of labor and industry of the state of Michigan. Premiums paid in any type of life insurance on the life of the applicant or recipient, or on the life of his or her spouse, which has been in force and effect for 5 years or more, by any beneficiary thereof therein provided, shall not be construed as income of the applicant or recipient, and shall not be deducted from the amount of support to be granted or granted for assistance, whether or not the person by whom the premiums are paid is a pecuniarily responsible relative of the applicant or recipient.

The state department shall determine the percentage of the total capital cost of the facility which the county will be unable to meet and shall request from the legislature an appropriation from the general fund of the state or such federal funds as may be made available for this purpose to meet this amount. Requests of the legislature from the state department for such appropriations shall be separate items for each medical care facility. The amount of state aid actually granted the county by the state department shall not exceed (1) the amount appropriated by the legislature in respect to the amount of the item in the budget, or (2) the percentage of state aid required as previously determined by the state department, whichever is the lesser.

Special tax.

If the county department receiving a denial is not satisfied with the evidence supporting it, appeal may be made to the director of the state department. If the notice of denial is not given to the county department granting relief within 60 calendar days after the county of probable domicile receives notice, the county department granting relief, irrespective of any other provisions of this act, shall be reimbursed by the county receiving the notice for all relief granted the applicant prior to the date the notice of denial is given. In the case of 2 or more counties having received notices under section 59a and none having acknowledged settlement and domicile, the failure to acknowledge may be treated as a denial for the purpose of an appeal to the director.

The decision of the director shall be final. If the decision is that there is insufficient evidence for a determination, all the proceedings of both counties shall be set aside and the county granting relief may proceed anew as if no notice had been sent under sections 59a and 59b.

The joint plan shall consider the relative possibilities of economic rehabilitation of the person in each of the 2 counties but if these appear approximately equal, the departments shall consult the wishes of the person. If, as the result of the joint planning, the 2 county departments determine that a person should be removed, the plan shall be presented to the person who will be informed that as soon as a suitable living arrangement can be made in the other county, he will be removed. Any person who shall neglect or refuse to submit to the department issuing relief the information required by this section shall, if the amount of relief granted as a result of such neglect or refusal be less than $500.00, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and if the amount of relief granted as a result of such neglect or refusal be $500.00 or more, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be punished as provided by the laws of this state.

The county board and the probate judge may establish further financial practices not inconsistent with the above. When in accordance with the provisions of the statutes, a child has been decreed to be a ward of the probate court, or the juvenile division of the probate court has acquired formal jurisdiction of a child, if it shall appear to the judge of probate, because of the circumstances of the case, or because the condition of the child might be benefited, the court may make a temporary commitment to the state department of social welfare and direct that the child be taken to a facility of the Michigan children's institute for observation for a period not to exceed 90 days. Before the expiration of this order of observation, the superintendent of the institute shall report to the judge of probate the results of the observation of said child. If the superintendent shall report to the judge of probate that the order of observation should be extended, or that the child is in need of treatment for emotional disturbance which does not require hospital care and for which the institute has facilities, then the court may extend the temporary commitment and continue the observation order or establish a treatment period for the child to any date prior to the nineteenth birthday of the child. When such child has ceased to be a ward of the court, written consent of the person or persons lawfully having custody of the child shall be secured. Before the expiration of this extended order of observation or treatment, the superintendent shall report to the judge of probate the results of the observation or treatment of the child and an opinion stating what disposition can be made of the child. Before any child is sent to a facility of the institute for observation, the superintendent of the institute shall notify the judge of probate that there is room to receive the child and shall designate the facility of the institute for the reception of the child. The commission may by regulation establish conditions for the reimbursement of the expense of caring for said child while under the supervision of the institute when the parents or other persons responsible for the child's support are financially able to pay reasonable costs of such care.

Transfer from other state institutions, return.

(c) By transfer. Any child now attending or under the control of the boys' vocational school at Lansing or the girls' training school at Adrian, upon recommendation of the superintendent of each respective institution and upon approval of the commission, may be transferred to the care of the Michigan children's institute for placement and supervision under such regulations as the commission shall establish when such transfer will materially benefit the child either mentally or physically. The original commitment shall be deemed to be in full force and effect for the purpose of retaining such child in the custody of the state. Before such transfer is made the superintendent of the institute shall indicate in writing that there is room to receive the child and the superintendent, with the approval of the commission, may return the child to the care of the institution to which original commitment was made at any time before the expiration date of the order of commitment.

Upon receipt of such order the superintendent of said institute shall, as soon as there is room to receive such child at the said institute, notify the judge of probate of that fact, whereupon the judge of probate may cause such child to be transported to the said institute for admission thereto. The expense of transportation of such child to said institute pursuant to law shall be audited by the board of state auditors and paid from the general fund in the same manner as the expense of conveying children to other institutions of the state.

400.205 Committed children; placement in private home, investigation, court order.

Sec. 5. In case a child has been committed to said institute, and a person in the same county has been found who is willing to take said child into his home under the same conditions as children placed out on agreement, or for adoption from the said institute, the court, county agent, probation officer or any other person representing the court or state in the placement of children may notify the superintendent of said institute, giving the name and the address of the party interested in taking the child into his home; whereupon the superintendent shall order an investigation be made, and if it appears that the home is a suitable one for said child, the child shall be placed and the order of the court entered on the records of the said institute. Upon entering the order of the court on the records of the said institute, the child shall be considered a ward of said institute and may be supervised, or adopted as are other wards of the said institute: Provided, In case the investigation indicates that the child is not eligible for admission to the said institute because of some mental or physical defect, or should not be offered for adoption because of a mental defect in its forbears, or being of unknown parentage and too young to determine its mental and physical development, the superintendent shall so notify the court with reasons thereof and further disposition shall be made by said court.

400.206 Committed children; temporary residential facilities.

Sec. 6. The commission shall maintain at Ann Arbor and at such other places as may be made available to the commission, temporary residential facilities for the reception of children sent to the institute under sections 3 or 4 of this act, or for their care between placements in family homes, or for other temporary purposes. HISTORY: Add. 1955, p. 328, Act 220, Eff. Oct. 14.

Original section 6 of Act 220 of 1935, p. 364, which provided for 1 year county liability, was repealed by Act 207 of 1943.

400.207 Committed children; county liability for care; gifts, trust fund, investment; rules; release of child to relative, placement in licensed boarding home.

Sec. 7. The commission shall make all necessary regulations for the maintenance, health, instruction and training of the children under the control of said institute; for placing them in homes; and for their supervision while they remain wards of the state. The county from which the child was committed shall be liable to the state for 50% of the cost of care, but this amount may be reduced by use of funds from the annual original foster care grant of the state to the county, or otherwise for any period of time in respect to which the commission has made a finding that the county is unable to bear 50% of the expense: Provided, That when a child, born in a hospital or institution to which its mother has been committed or in which the mother is receiving care, is committed to the Michigan children's institute upon a petition filed within 30 days of birth in the probate court of the county in which the hospital or institution is located, the judge of probate of the county of residence of said child, having refused consent to the transfer of jurisdiction to his court as provided in section 2 of chapter 12A of Act No. 288 of the Public Acts of 1939, being section 712A.2 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, the liability shall be upon the county which committed the mother, or if the mother was not committed, upon the county in which she was living at the time of entering the hospital, as shall be determined by the commission. The finding that the county is unable to bear 50% of the cost of care shall be based on a study to be made by said commission in accordance with section 18b of Act No. 280 of the Public Acts of 1939, as added, of the financial resources and of the necessary expenditures of the county. The cost of care shall be determined by the commission on a per diem basis using all cost figures for the previous fiscal year, exclusive of capital outlay. The superintendent is to be recognized as the authorized agent of the said commission to carry out the purposes of this act. The superintendent or the commission may receive any donation, grant or personal property for the benefit of the children of said institute. The superintendent or the commission, upon receipt of such donation, grant or personal property, shall within 30 days remit the same to the state treasury to be credited to the Michigan children's institute trust fund, which is hereby created in the state treasury. The state treasurer is hereby authorized to keep as much of said fund as he deems advisable invested in United States government bonds, notes, bills, certificates or other obligations, and to credit all earnings to said fund. The commission may expend such amounts as they deem necessary for any of the purposes of said institute for the care and education of such children during minority or until released as provided in this act. When any part of said trust fund shall be required by said commission for said purposes, the superintendent shall obtain the same by requisition to the accounting division of the department of administration, which division shall certify the same to the auditor general who shall issue his warrant therefor. The said commission may utilize any facilities existing in any county in caring for such children and is authorized to accept the services of any voluntary organization for the benefit of such children, subject to such regulations as the said commission may establish. Such rules and regulations shall be enforced by the superintendent on behalf of the said commission. Any agreement entered into with any person taking a child who is a ward of the Michigan children's institute shall provide that the said commission shall have the right to cancel the same when, in the opinion of said commission, the interest of the child requires it. If any parent, or relatives within the third degree, of any child who is a ward of said institute shall establish a suitable home and are capable and willing to support such child, the said commission may by resolution restore such child to its parent, parents or relatives. Said institute may assist such parent or relative with the support of such child, provided such aid is less than the cost of care that said institute would otherwise provide. Said commission shall have the right and authority to place and maintain any child under the control of said institute in any licensed boarding home for children, and the expense of supervision and transportation of such children to said home shall be paid out of money appropriated to said institute, subject to partial reimbursement by the county liable as provided in this section. The superintendent shall cause an investigation of the condition and suitability of each such boarding home to be made, and a report to be made and kept on file at the office of the superintendent. Such report must have the approval of said superintendent before any child or children of the said institute may be placed in such licensed boarding home.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

400.301 Solicitation for charitable purposes; definitions.

Sec. 1. As used in this act:

- (a) "State department" means the state department of social welfare.
- (b) "Commission" means the Michigan social welfare commission.
- (c) "Charitable organization" means a corporation, institution, association or private person (1) that solicits or receives funds from the public upon the representation that they will be used for a charitable purpose, and regardless of whether a "membership" or article of small value is given the donor, or (2) that from a central office promotes such solicitation by local groups and receives part of the gross proceeds.
- (d) "Exempt organization" means a church, or a church sponsored charitable organization, or a veterans organization chartered by the congress of the United States.
- (e) "Soliciting material" means printed or similar material, including but not limited to labels, posters, television scripts, radio scripts or recordings, used in soliciting funds from the public.

Statement filed with state department; license, issuance, revocation; local solicitation.

Hereafter every charitable organization, except an exempt organization shall be required to file with the state department a statement setting forth the name and location of the charitable organization, and, if located outside of Michigan, the name and address of its Michigan agent, the purposes for which it exists, the name of its principal officers and soliciting agents, the purposes for which money solicited is to be expended, and the terms under which solicitors are employed, a financial statement for the most recent fiscal year in such detail and with such certification as may be required by the rules and regulations of the commission including those salaries paid to the 10 highest paid officials outside the state of Michigan and 5 highest paid officials working within the state of Michigan, and copies of all soliciting materials used in the most recent fiscal year. The word "pay" shall be interpreted to include total amounts paid including commissions as well as guarantees. If in the judgment of the commission the statement shall be deemed sufficient evidence, the state department shall be authorized to issue to the charitable organization and its agents and representatives, a state license without expense, authorizing the organization to solicit and receive from the public donations or sell memberships, for the charitable purpose contained in the statement filed with the state department, in any county, city or township in the state. Such license shall be valid for 1 year from the date of its issuance, and may be renewed from time to time in the same manner as is herein provided for the original granting thereof. Any license issued to a charitable organization, under the provisions of this act, may be revoked by the commission for cause shown, and after reasonable notice to the organization and after due opportunity to be heard. Nothing in this act, however, shall be construed to prohibit any local charitable organization from publicly soliciting funds or donations within any one county in which, optionally, its principal activity or its registered office is located. No license shall be issued under the provisions of this act to a charitable organization located in another state, unless it shall have an agent in Michigan. No license issued under the terms of this act shall be deemed to authorize the soliciting of funds thereunder in any township, village or city in this state, without having first obtained any required separate township, village or city license or permit to do so from the proper officials of the township, village or city.

Sec. 5. Work permits shall be issued in such form as the state superintendent of public instruction may require and in accordance with instructions prescribed by him. For work during periods or days during which the school of which such minor is a pupil is not in session, or for hours outside of school hours, limited permits shall be issued. Full time permits shall be issued to a minor under the age of 18 years for full time employment. Limited permits shall be on a form of a special color, distinct from that of the regular full time permits. All permits shall state the name and address of the minor, the date and place of his birth, the occupation and industry in which he is to be employed, the employer's name and address and such other information as the state superintendent of public instruction may require. No fee shall be charged to any minor, his parent, guardian [guardian] or other person for any such permit, certificate of age or other record required by this act by any official by whom the same shall be issued. The issuance of a work permit to an individual minor for employment so authorized shall be within the discretion of the local issuing officer, who, in deciding whether or not the same shall be issued, shall give due consideration to the following factors:

- (a) Age and physical condition of such minor to establish evidence of age.
- (b) Attendance and standing in school work.
- (c) Need for income from such employment for the support of either such minor or members of his immediate family.
- (d) Standards of employment as established by the commissioner of labor, as hereinafter provided.

No such work permit shall be issued to permit any minor to engage in an occupation which is injurious to the health or morals of such minor or is unduly hazardous.

HISTORY: CL 1948, 409.5.

409.6 Work permits; refusal to grant or revocation; record, grounds.

Sec. 6. The issuing officer may refuse to grant a work permit or revoke a permit already issued if in his opinion the best interests of the minor would be served by such refusal or revocation. He shall keep a record of each such refusal and revocation and the reason therefor. He may revoke any work permit or age certificate which in his opinion was improperly issued, or, in case of a minor who remains in school and is employed part time under such work permit, if it is apparent that such employment is resulting in inability on the part of such minor to properly perform his school work, after notice to the parent or guardian of such child and failure to correct such deficiency. Such permit shall likewise be revoked in case the issuing officer is officially informed by the office of commissioner of labor that such employment is unduly hazardous or injurious to the health or morals of the individual minor or is in violation of any federal act or of any rule or regulation promulgated thereunder.

HISTORY: CL 1948, 409.6.

409.7 Work permits; failure or refusal to grant; appeal by minor's parent or guardian, procedure.

Sec. 7. In case of the failure or refusal of the issuing officer to issue such work permit based upon an offer of employment for which an occupational approval number has been duly issued by the commissioner of labor, appeal may be taken by the parent or guardian of the minor applying therefor or by the person or agency to whom the custody of such minor has been awarded. Appeal may be taken in the same manner from the revocation of any such permit. Such appeal shall be taken by the filing with the probate court of a written statement setting forth the action complained of and the basis and objection thereto, copy of which shall be served upon the issuing officer by the person taking such appeal or his agent, either by delivering the same to him personally or by leaving the same during business hours at his office with the person in charge thereof. Proof of such service shall be filed with the probate court prior to the hearing thereon. Such issuing officer shall, within 5 days following the date of such service upon him, make his return to the probate court, in which he shall set forth such information as will advise the probate court of the facts involved insofar as they are within his knowledge. No bond shall be required nor shall any fee be charged by the probate court in connection with such appeal. The matter shall be forthwith brought on for hearing in the probate court, upon giving of such notice thereof to the interested parties as the court may in its discretion require. The court shall hear the matter de novo and shall thereupon enter its order, either affirming the action of the issuing officer appealed from or, in the event of the reversal, requiring such officer to issue or reinstate, as the case may be, such permit. No appeal shall lie from the order of the probate court.

HISTORY: CL 1948, 409.7.

409.8 Work permits; authorization to employ minors in special circumstances; refusal of application, appeal, procedure; inaction deemed approval.

Sec. 8. In the event that such issuing officer is of the opinion that a given minor is capable of performing employment which is not authorized under the standards established by the commissioner of labor and that such employment would aid in the development of such minor, he may apply to the commissioner of labor for authority to issue such work permit as a deviation for that particular case only from such standards. In the event such authority is granted, the commissioner of labor shall so advise both the issuing officer and the employer offering employment. In the event of refusal, the commissioner shall specify in writing the reasons or grounds upon which the same was based, and, in the event that such employment would violate any federal act or regulation promulgated pursuant thereto, shall so state and make specific reference thereto. Unless such employment would violate any such federal act or regulation, appeal may be taken from the refusal of the commissioner to authorize the issuance of such work permit by the parent or guardian of such minor or the person or agency to whom his custody has been awarded. Such appeal shall be taken, heard and determined in a manner specified in section 7 hereof, except that copy of the written statement, filed as to the taking of such appeal, shall be served upon the commissioner of labor, either by registered mail or personal service, not less than 10 days prior to the hearing thereon. The commissioner shall act upon any such application within 5 days, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays excepted, after receipt of such application and shall immediately notify such issuing officer of such action. In the event of failure of the commissioner to act within such period, he shall be deemed to have approved such deviation and authorized the issuance of such permit.

409.9 Certificate of age; requests, proof of age required; issuance when over 18 and under 21.

Sec. 9. Such standards and any changes therein shall be established only after the commissioner has consulted with employers, employees, school officials and such other persons as may in his opinion be in position to furnish pertinent information in regard thereto and after public hearing at which any person interested therein shall have the right to be heard. Appeals from such standards may be taken to appeal panels, to be appointed by the commissioner of labor. Such appeal panel shall be acceptable to the appellant: Provided, That the panel is composed of local representatives, or agents, of those affected by the standards.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

CHAPTER 1

COVERAGE AND LIABILITY

418.101 Workmen's compensation act of 1969; short title.

Sec. 101. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "workmen's compensation act of 1969".

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 640, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.111 Persons subject to act.

Sec. 111. Every employer, public and private, and every employee, unless herein otherwise specifically provided, shall be subject to the provisions of this act and shall be bound thereby.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 640, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.115 Employers covered; private employers, agricultural employers; medical and hospital coverage.

Sec. 115. This act shall apply to:

(a) All private employers, other than agricultural employers, who regularly employ 3 or more employees at 1 time.

(b) All private employers, other than agricultural employers, who regularly employ less than 3 employees if at least 1 of them has been regularly employed by that same employer for 35 or more hours per week for 13 weeks or longer during the preceding 52 weeks.

(c) All public employers, irrespective of the number of persons employed.

(d) All agricultural employers of 3 or more regular employees paid hourly wages or salaries, and not paid on a piecework basis, who are employed 35 or more hours per week by that same employer for 13 or more consecutive weeks during the preceding 52 weeks. Coverage shall apply only to such regularly employed employees. The average weekly wage for such an employee shall be deemed to be the weeks worked in agricultural employment divided into the total wages which the employee has earned from all agricultural occupations during the 12 calendar months immediately preceding the injury, and no other definition pertaining to average weekly wage shall be applicable.

(e) All agricultural employers of 1 or more employees who are employed 35 or more hours per week by that same employer for 5 or more consecutive weeks shall provide for such employees, in accordance with rules established by the director, medical and hospital coverage as set forth in section 315 for all personal injuries arising out of and in the course of employment suffered by such employees not otherwise covered by this act. The provision of such medical and hospital coverage shall not affect any rights of recovery that an employee would otherwise have against an agricultural employer and such right of recovery shall be subject to any defense the agricultural employer might otherwise have. Section 141 shall not apply to cases, other than medical and hospital coverages provided herein, arising under this subdivision nor shall it apply to actions brought against an agricultural employer who is not voluntarily or otherwise subject to this act. No person shall be considered an employee of an agricultural employer if the person is a spouse, child or other member of the employer's family, as defined in subdivision (b) of section 353 residing in the home or on the premises of the agricultural employer.

All other agricultural employers not included in subdivisions (d) and (e) shall be exempt from the provisions of this act.

The purchase and acceptance by an employer of a valid compensation insurance policy, except in the case of domestics and agricultural employees, constitutes an assumption by him of such liability without any further act on his part, which assumption of liability shall take effect from the effective date of the policy and continue only as long as the policy remains in force, in which case the employer shall be subject to no liability other than workmen's compensation as provided for in this act. Agricultural and domestic employees may be voluntarily included by specific indorsement to a workmen's compensation policy in those cases where such coverage is not required.

Members of a volunteer fire department of any city, village or township shall be deemed to be employees of the city, village or township and entitled to all the benefits of this act when injured in the performance of their duties as members of the volunteer fire department and shall be deemed to be receiving such salary or wages from the village, city or township as would secure for the member of any volunteer fire department the maximum benefit provided under this act. The benefits of this act shall be available to any safety patrol officer who is engaged in traffic regulation and management for and by authority of any county, city, village or township, whether such officer is paid or unpaid, in the same manner as benefits are available to volunteer firemen, upon the adoption by the legislative body of the county, city, village or township of a resolution to that effect. A contractor shall be deemed to include subcontractors in all cases where the principal gives permission that the work or any part thereof be performed under subcontract.

(2) If the principal is liable to pay compensation under this section, he shall be entitled to be indemnified by the contractor or subcontractor. CHAPTER 3

COMPENSATION

418.301 Workmen's compensation; payment; time or date of injury; injury enroute to or from work.

Sec. 301. (1) An employee, who receives a personal injury arising out of and in the course of his employment by an employer who is subject to the provisions of this act, at the time of such injury, shall be paid compensation in the manner and to the extent provided in this act, or in case of his death resulting from such injuries the compensation shall be paid to his dependents as defined in this act. Time of injury or date of injury as used in this act in the case of a disease or in the case of an injury not attributable to a single event shall be the last day of work in the employment in which the employee was last subjected to the conditions resulting in disability or death.

(2) Every employee going to or from his work while on the premises where his work is to be performed, and within a reasonable time before and after his working hours, shall be presumed to be in the course of his employment.

HISTORY: New 1909, p. 646, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.305 Wilful misconduct of employee.

Sec. 305. If the employee is injured by reason of his intentional and wilful misconduct, he shall not receive compensation under the provisions of this act.

HISTORY: New 1909, p. 646, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.311 Compensation payments; computations.

Sec. 311. No compensation shall be paid under this act for any injury which does not incapacitate the employee from earning full wages, for a period of at least 1 week, but if incapacity extends beyond the period of 1 week, compensation shall begin on the eighth day after the injury. If incapacity continues for 2 weeks or longer or if death results from the injury, compensation shall be computed from the date of the injury.

HISTORY: New 1909, p. 646, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.315 Services or treatments furnished; employee choice of physician; prosthetics; payment; attorney fees.

Sec. 315. The employer shall furnish, or cause to be furnished, to an employee who receives a personal injury arising out of and in the course of his employment, reasonable medical, surgical and hospital services and medicines or other attendance or treatment recognized by the laws of this state as legal, when they are needed. After 60 days from the inception of medical care as herein provided, the employee may treat with a physician of his own choice by giving to the employer the name of the physician and his intention to treat with such physician. The employer or his carrier may file a petition objecting to the named physician selected by the employee and setting forth reasons for the objection. If the employer or carrier can show cause why the employee should not continue treatment with the named physician of the employee's choice, after notice to all parties and a prompt hearing by a hearing referee, he may order that the employee discontinue treatment with the named physician or pay for the treatment received from the physician from the date the order is mailed. The employer shall also supply to the injured employee dental service, crutches, artificial limbs, eyes, teeth, eyeglasses, hearing apparatus and such other appliances as may be necessary to cure, so far as reasonably possible, and relieve from the effects of the injury. If the employer fails, neglects or refuses so to do, the employee shall be reimbursed for the reasonable expense paid by him, or payment may be made in behalf of the employee to persons to whom the unpaid expenses may be owing, by order of the hearing referee. The hearing referee may prorate attorney fees in such cases at the contingent fee rate paid by the employee and may also prorate such payments in the event of redemptions.

418.319 Rehabilitation services; application for service; expenses; duration; refusal, hearings.

Sec. 319. (1) An employee who has suffered an injury covered by this act shall be entitled to prompt medical rehabilitation services. When as a result of the injury he is unable to perform work for which he has previous training or experience, he shall be entitled to such vocational rehabilitation services, including retraining and job placement, as may be reasonably necessary to restore him to useful employment. If such services are not voluntarily offered and accepted the director on his own motion or upon application of the employee or carrier or employer, after affording the parties an opportunity to be heard, may refer the employee to a bureau-approved facility for evaluation of the need for, and kind of service, treatment or training necessary and appropriate to render him fit for a remunerative occupation. Upon receipt of such report, the director may order that the services and treatment recommended in the report be provided at the expense of the employer. The director may order that any employee participating in vocational rehabilitation shall receive additional payments for transportation or any extra and necessary expenses during the period and arising out of his program of vocational rehabilitation. Vocational rehabilitation training, treatment or service shall not extend for a period of more than 52 weeks except in cases when, by special order of the director after review, the period may be extended for an additional 52 weeks or portion thereof. If there is an unjustifiable refusal to accept rehabilitation pursuant to a decision of the director, the director shall order a loss or reduction of compensation in an amount determined by the director for each week of the period of refusal, except for specific compensation payable under the provisions of subsections (1) and (2) of section 361.

(2) If a dispute arises between the parties concerning application of the above provisions, any of the parties may apply for a hearing before a hearing referee.

HISTORY: New 1980, p. 646, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.321 Death benefits; amount, duration; partial dependents.

Sec. 321. If death results from the injury, the employer shall pay, or cause to be paid, subject, however, to the provisions of section 375, in 1 of the methods hereinafter provided, to the dependents of the employee, wholly dependent upon his earnings for support at the time of the injury, a weekly payment equal to 2/3 of his average weekly wages for a period of 500 weeks from the date of death, but not more than $64.00 for 1 dependent; $69.00 for 2 dependents; $75.00 for 3 dependents; $81.00 for 4 dependents; and $87.00 for 5 or more dependents, except as provided in section 355 but such weekly payments in no event shall be less than $27.00 for 1 dependent; $30.00 for 2 dependents; $33.00 for 3 dependents; $36.00 for 4 dependents; and $39.00 for 5 dependents. If at the expiration of the 500-week period any such wholly or partially dependent person is less than 21 years of age, a hearing referee may order the employer to continue to pay the weekly compensation or some portion thereof until such wholly or partially dependent person reaches the age of 21. If the employee leaves dependents only partially dependent upon his earnings for support at the time of his injury, the weekly compensation to be paid shall be equal to the same proportion of the weekly payments for the benefit of persons wholly dependent as the amount contributed by the employee to such partial dependents bears to the annual earnings of the deceased at the time of his injury.

418.331 Dependents; conclusive presumption.

Sec. 331. (1) The following persons shall be conclusively presumed to be wholly dependent for support upon a deceased employee:

Wife.

(a) A wife upon a husband with whom she lives at the time of his death, or from whom, at the time of his death a hearing referee shall find the wife was living apart for justifiable cause or because he had deserted her.

Children; apportionment; guardians, appointment; partial dependents.

(b) A child under the age of 16 years, or over if physically or mentally incapacitated from earning upon the parent with whom he is living at the time of the death of such parent. In the event of the death of an employee who has at the time of such death a living child by a former spouse or a child who has been deserted by such deceased employee under the age of 16 years, or over if physically or mentally incapacitated from earning, such child shall be conclusively presumed to be wholly dependent for support upon such deceased employee, even though not living with the deceased employee at the time of such death and in all cases the death benefit shall be divided between or among the surviving spouse and all the children of the deceased employee, and all other persons, if any, who are wholly dependent upon the deceased employee, in equal shares, the surviving spouse taking the same share as a child. In all cases mentioned in this section the total sum due the surviving spouse and his own children shall be paid directly to the surviving spouse for his own use, and for the use and benefit of his own children; but if during the time compensation payments shall continue, a hearing referee shall find that the surviving spouse is not properly caring for such children, he shall order the shares of such children to be thereafter paid to their guardian or legal representative for their use and benefit, instead of to their father or mother; and in all cases the sums due to the children by the former spouse of the deceased employee shall be paid to their guardians or legal representatives for the use and benefit of such children. In all other cases questions of dependency, in whole or in part, shall be determined in accordance with the fact, as the fact may be at the time of the injury. Where a deceased employee leaves a person wholly dependent upon him for support, such person shall be entitled to the whole death benefit and persons partially dependent, if any, shall receive no part thereof, while the person wholly dependent is living. All persons wholly dependent upon a deceased employee, whether by conclusive presumption or as a matter of fact, shall be entitled to share equally in the death benefit in accordance with the provisions of this section. If there is no one wholly dependent or if the death of all persons wholly dependent shall occur before all compensation is paid, and there is but 1 person partially dependent, such person shall be entitled to compensation according to the extent of his dependency; and if there is more than 1 person partially dependent, the death benefit shall be divided among them according to the relative extent of their dependency. No person shall be considered a dependent unless he is a member of the family of the deceased employee, or unless such person bears to the deceased employee the relation of husband or widow, or lineal descendant, or ancestor, or brother or sister.

418.335 Dependency termination; remarriage of wife; age limitation.

Sec. 335. Upon the remarriage of a dependent wife receiving compensation, such payments shall cease upon the payment to her of the balance of the compensation to which she would otherwise have been entitled but in no event to exceed the sum of $500.00, and further compensation, if any, shall be payable to the person either wholly or partially dependent upon deceased for support at his death as provided in subdivision (b) of section 331. A hearing referee shall determine the amount of compensation or portion thereof that shall be payable weekly to such wholly or partially dependent person for the remaining weeks of compensation. Where, at the expiration of the 500-week period, any such wholly or partially dependent person is less than 21 years of age, a hearing referee may order the employer to continue to pay the weekly compensation, or some portion thereof, until such wholly or partially dependent person reaches the age of 21. The payment of compensation to any dependent child shall cease when the child reaches the age of 21 years, if at the age of 21 years he is neither physically nor mentally incapacitated from earning, or when the child reaches the age of 16 years and thereafter is self-supporting for 6 months. If such status ceases, the dependency shall be reinstated. Such remaining compensation, if any, shall be payable to the person either wholly or partially dependent upon the deceased for support at the time of his death, as provided in the case of the remarriage of a dependent wife.

418.341 Dependents; qualifications; party in interest.

Sec. 341. Questions as to who constitutes dependents and the extent of their dependency shall be determined as of the date of the injury to the employee, and their right to any death benefit shall become fixed as of such time, irrespective of any subsequent change in conditions except as otherwise specifically provided in sections 321, 331 and 335. The death benefit shall be directly recoverable by and payable to the dependents entitled thereto, or their legal guardians or trustees. In case of the death of a dependent, his proportion of the compensation shall be payable to the surviving dependents pro rata. Upon the death of all dependents compensation shall cease. No person shall be excluded as a dependent who is a nonresident alien. No dependent of an injured employee shall be deemed, during the life of such employee, a party in interest to any proceeding by him for the enforcement of collection of any claim for compensation, nor as respects the compromise thereof by such employee.

HISTORY: New 1989, p. 648, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.345 Death resulting from injury; expenses paid by employer, maximum.

Sec. 345. If death results from the injury, the employer shall pay, or cause to be paid, the reasonable expense of the employee's last sickness and burial. The cost of burial shall not exceed $750.00. Any person who performed such service or incurred such liability is authorized to file an application with the bureau. A hearing referee may order the employer to pay such sums.

HISTORY: New 1989, p. 649, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.351 Total disability; amount of compensation, duration.

Sec. 351. (1) While the incapacity for work resulting the injury is total, the employer shall pay, or cause to be paid as hereinafter provided, to the injured employee, a weekly compensation of 2/3 of his average weekly wages, but not more than $64.00, if such injured employee has no dependents; $69.00 if 1 dependent; $75.00 if 2 dependents; $81.00 if 3 dependents; $87.00 if 4 dependents; and $93.00 if 5 or more dependents; except as provided in section 355. Compensation shall be paid for the duration of the disability. Weekly payments shall not be less than $27.00 if there are no dependents; $30.00 if 1 dependent; $33.00 if 2 dependents; $36.00 if 3 dependents; $39.00 if 4 dependents; and $42.00 if 5 or more dependents; except as provided in section 355. Compensation shall be paid for the duration of the disability. The conclusive presumption of total and permanent disability shall not extend beyond 800 weeks from the date of injury and thereafter the question of permanent and total disability shall be determined in accordance with the fact, as the fact may be at that time.

418.353 Dependency; determination.

Sec. 353. (1) For the purposes of sections 351 to 361, dependency shall be determined as follows:

Wife and child, conclusive presumption.

(a) The following shall be conclusively presumed to be dependent for support upon an injured employee:

(i) The wife of an injured employee living with such employee as such wife at the time of the injury.

(ii) A child under the age of 16 years, or over said age, if physically or mentally incapacitated from earning, living with his parent at the time of the injury of such parent.

Other persons, question of fact; restrictions.

(b) In all other cases questions of dependency shall be determined in accordance with the fact, as the fact may be at the time of the injury. No person shall be considered a dependent unless he is a member of the family of the injured employee, or unless such person bears to such injured employee the relation of husband or wife, or lineal descendant, or ancestor or brother or sister. Except as to those conclusively presumed to be dependents, no person shall be deemed a dependent who receives less than 1/2 of his support from an injured employee.

Reduction of payments.

(2) Weekly payments to an injured employee shall be reduced by the additional amount provided for any dependent child or spouse or other dependent when such child either reaches the age of 21 years or after becoming 16 ceases for a period of 6 months to receive more than 1/2 of his support from such injured employee, if at such time he is neither physically nor mentally incapacitated from earning, or when such spouse shall be divorced by final decree from his injured spouse, or when such child, spouse or other dependent shall be deceased.

Increased dependents.

(3) No increase in payments shall be made for increased numbers of dependents not so dependent at the time of the injury of an employee.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 649, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.355 Compensation; maximum weekly rates, adjustments.

Sec. 355. (1) The maximum weekly rate in each dependency classification in this act shall be adjusted once each year in accordance with the increase or decrease in the average weekly wage in covered employment, as determined by the employment security commission. The average weekly wage in covered employment determined by the employment security commission for the year ending June 30, 1967, shall be the base on which such adjustments are made.

(2) A second adjustment, if any, shall be made on January 1, 1970 and shall reflect the change, if any, between the average weekly wage for June 30, 1969 and the average weekly wage for June 30, 1968 and the adjustment shall be made in like manner on each January 1 thereafter, utilizing the average weekly wage for the preceding June 30.

(3) Adjustment for the statutory maximum rate shall be made only if there has been an increase or decrease in the average weekly wage of at least $1.50 during the preceding year, applied to the June 30, 1967, base and the director shall announce the adjustment each December 1, to become effective the following January 1. If in any year the change is less than $1.50, the director shall announce no change for the following year but the amount of change in such year shall be carried forward and added to or subtracted from subsequent annual determinations until the total change shall be at least $1.50, in which year an adjustment shall be made. There shall be an adjustment made of $1.00 in the maximum rates for each $1.50 increase or decrease in the average weekly wage. The maximum weekly rate as so determined for the year in which the date of injury occurred shall remain fixed without further change as to the personal injury occurring within such year.

418.357 Employees 65 or over; reduction of payments.

Sec. 357. When an employee who is receiving weekly payments or is entitled to weekly payments reaches or has reached or passed the age of 65, the weekly payments for each year following his sixty-fifth birthday shall be reduced by 5% of the weekly payment paid or payable at age 65, but not to less than 50% of the weekly benefit paid or payable at age 65, so that on his seventy-fifth birthday the weekly payments shall have been reduced by 50%; after which there shall be no further reduction for the duration of the employee's life. In no case shall weekly payments be reduced below the minimum weekly benefit as provided in this act.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 650, Act 317, I.H. Dec. 31.

418.359 Employees under 25; total disability; payments.

Sec. 359. Whenever an employee who has not attained his twenty-fifth birthday is injured so that he is entitled to compensation as permanently and totally disabled as defined in this act, if it is established that the injured employee was of such age and experience when injured that, under natural conditions, his wages or position would be expected to increase, that fact, subject to the statutory minimum and maximum weekly payments, may be considered by a hearing referee in determining his weekly payments.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 650, Act 317, I.H. Dec. 31.

418.361 Partial disability; compensation schedule; duration.

Sec. 361. (1) While the incapacity for work resulting from the injury is partial, the employer shall pay, or cause to be paid to the injured employee a weekly compensation equal to 2/3 of the difference between his average weekly wages before the injury and the average weekly wages which he is able to earn thereafter, but not more than $64.00 if such injured employee has no dependents; $69.00 if 1 dependent; $75.00 if 2 dependents; $81.00 if 3 dependents; $87.00 if 4 dependents; and $93.00 if 5 or more dependents; except as provided in section 355. Compensation shall be paid for the duration of the disability. In cases included by the following schedule, the disability in each such case shall be deemed to continue for the period specified, and the compensation so paid for such injury shall be 2/3 of the average weekly wages for the loss of the following:

- (a) Thumb, 65 weeks.
- (b) First finger, 38 weeks.
- (c) Second finger, 33 weeks.
- (d) Third finger, 22 weeks.
- (e) Fourth finger, 16 weeks.

The loss of the first phalange of the thumb, or of any finger, shall be considered to be equal to the loss of 1/2 of such thumb or finger, and compensation shall be 1/2 of the amounts above specified.

The loss of more than 1 phalange shall be considered as the loss of the entire finger or thumb. In no case shall the amount received for more than 1 finger exceed the amount provided in this schedule for the loss of a hand.

- (f) Great toe, 33 weeks.
- (g) A toe other than the great toe, 11 weeks.

The loss of the first phalange of any toe shall be considered to be equal to the loss of 1/2 of such toe, and compensation shall be 1/2 of the amount above specified.

The loss of more than 1 phalange shall be considered as the loss of the entire toe.

- (h) Hand, 215 weeks.
- (i) Arm, 269 weeks.

An amputation between the elbow and wrist 6 or more inches below the elbow shall be considered a hand, above this point an arm.

- (j) Foot, 162 weeks.
- (k) Leg, 215 weeks.

An amputation between the knee and foot 7 or more inches below the tibial table (plateau) shall be considered a foot, above that point a leg.

(1) Eye, 162 weeks.

Eighty percent loss of vision of 1 eye shall constitute the total loss of that eye.

Total and permanent disability, defined.

(2) Total and permanent disability, compensation for which is provided in section 351 means:

(a) Total and permanent loss of sight of both eyes.

(b) Loss of both legs or both feet at or above the ankle.

(c) Loss of both arms or both hands at or above the wrist.

(d) Loss of any 2 of the members or faculties enumerated in (a), (b) or (c).

(e) Permanent and complete paralysis of both legs or both arms or of 1 leg and 1 arm.

(f) Incurable insanity or imbecility.

(g) Permanent and total loss of industrial use of both legs or both hands or both arms or 1 leg and 1 arm; for the purpose of this subdivision such permanency shall be determined not less than 30 days before the expiration of 500 weeks from the date of injury.

Limitations on amounts; subsequent losses.

(3) The amounts specified in this clause are all subject to the same limitations as to maximum and minimum as above stated. In case of the loss of 1 member while compensation is being paid for the loss of another member, compensation shall be paid for the loss of the second member for the period herein provided, payments to begin at the conclusion of the payments for the first member.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 650, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.371 Wage loss; average weekly wage, computation, definition.

Sec. 371. (1) The weekly loss in wages referred to in this act shall consist of such percentage of the average weekly earnings of the injured employee computed according to the provisions of this section as shall fairly represent the proportionate extent of the impairment of his earning capacity in the employment in which he was working at the time of the injury, the same to be fixed as of the time of the injury, but to be determined in view of the nature and extent of the injury. The compensation payable, when added to his wage earning capacity after the injury in the same or another employment, shall not exceed his average weekly earnings at the time of such injury.

(2) Average weekly wage means the weekly wage earned by the employee at the time of his injury, inclusive of overtime, premium pay, and cost of living adjustment, and exclusive of any fringe or other benefits which continue during disability, but in no case less than 40 times his hourly rate of wage or earning. When it is found that the established normal work week for the employee's classification of employment in the establishment of the employer where the employee suffered a personal injury is less than 40 hours, then the average weekly wage shall be established by multiplying the employee's hourly rate or earning by the number of hours customarily worked in the employee's classification or employment in that place of employment or his actual earned wages, whichever is greater.

(3) When a hearing referee finds that the employee was employed specifically and not temporarily on a part-time basis, the average weekly wage shall be determined by multiplying the hourly rate or earning by the average number of hours worked in the part-time employment. When it is found that the employee has worked an average of 25 hours or more per week in all of his current employments, he shall not be considered a part-time employee.

(4) If the hourly earning of the employee cannot be ascertained, or if no pay has been designated for the work required, the wage, for the purpose of calculating compensation, shall be taken to be the usual wage for similar services where such services are rendered by paid employees.

(5) Where there are special circumstances under which the weekly wage cannot justly be determined by applying the above provisions, an average weekly wage may be computed by dividing the aggregate earnings during the year prior to the injury by the number of days when work was performed and multiplying such daily wage by the number of working days customary in the employment, but not less than 5.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 651, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.375 Death of injured employee; nonabatement of benefits.

Sec. 375. (1) The death of the injured employee prior to the expiration of the period within which he would receive such weekly payments shall be deemed to end the disability and all liability for the remainder of such payments which he would have received in case he had lived shall be terminated, but the employer shall thereupon be liable for the following death benefits in lieu of any further disability indemnity.

(2) If the injury received by such employee was the proximate cause of his death, and the deceased employee leaves dependents, as hereinbefore specified, wholly or partially dependent on him for support, the death benefit shall be a sum sufficient, when added to the indemnity which at the time of death has been paid or becomes payable under the provisions of this act to the deceased employee, to make the total compensation for the injury and death exclusive of medical, surgical and hospital services, medicines and rehabilitation services furnished as provided in sections 315 and 319, equal to the full amount which such dependents would have been entitled to receive under the provisions of section 321, in case the injury had resulted in immediate death, and such benefits shall be payable in the same manner as they would be payable under the provisions of section 321 had the injury resulted in immediate death.

(3) If an application for benefits has been filed but has not been decided by a referee or on appeal and the claimant dies from a cause unrelated to his injury, the proceedings shall not abate but may be continued in the name of his personal representative. In such case, the benefits payable up to time of death shall be paid to the same beneficiaries and in the same amounts as would have been payable if the employee had suffered a compensable injury resulting in death.

418.381 Notice of injury or death; claim for compensation, time limit.

Sec. 381. (1) No proceedings for compensation for an injury under this act shall be maintained, unless a notice of the injury has been given to the employer within 3 months after the happening thereof and unless the claim for compensation with respect to the injury, which claim may be either oral or in writing, has been made within 6 months after the occurrence of the same; or in case of the death of the employee, within 12 months after death; or in the event of his physical or mental incapacity, within the first 6 months during which the injured employee is not physically or mentally incapacitated from making a claim. In a case in which the employer has been given notice of the injury, or has notice or knowledge of the same within 3 months after the happening thereof, but the actual injury, disability or incapacity does not develop or make itself apparent within 6 months after the happening of the injury, but does develop and make itself apparent at some date subsequent to 6 months after the happening of the same, claim for compensation may be made within 3 months after the actual injury, disability or incapacity develops or makes itself apparent to the injured employee, but no such claim shall be valid or effectual for any purpose unless made within 3 years from the date the personal injury was sustained. Any time during which an injured employee shall be prevented by reason of his physical or mental incapacity from making a claim shall not be construed to be any part of the 6 months' limitation mentioned in this section. In a case in which the employer has been given notice of the happening of the injury or has notice or knowledge of the happening of the accident within 3 months after the happening of the same, and fails, neglects or refuses to report the injury to the bureau as required by the provisions of this act, the statute of limitations shall not run against the claim of the injured employee or his dependents, or in favor of the employer or his insurer, until a report of the injury has been filed with the bureau.

Period which payments may cover.

(2) Whenever weekly payments are due an injured employee under this act, such payments shall not be made for any period of time earlier than 2 years immediately preceding the date on which the employee filed application for hearing with the bureau.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 653, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.383 Notice of injury; unintentional errors; actual knowledge.

Sec. 383. A notice of injury or a claim for compensation made under the provisions of this act shall not be held invalid or insufficient by reason of any inaccuracy in stating the time, place or cause of the injury, unless it is shown that it was the intention to mislead, and the employer or the carrier, was in fact misled. Want of written notice shall not be a bar to proceedings under this act if it be shown that the employer had notice or knowledge of the injury.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 653, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.385 Physical examination of employee; report, copy; refusal; evidence.

Sec. 385. After the employee has given notice of injury and from time to time thereafter during the continuance of his disability, if so requested by the employer or the carrier, he shall submit himself to an examination by a physician or surgeon authorized to practice medicine under the laws of the state, furnished and paid for by the employer or the carrier. If an examination relative to the injury is made, the employee or his attorney shall be furnished, within 15 days of a request, a complete and correct copy of the report of every such physical examination relative to the injury performed by the physician making the examination on behalf of the employer or the carrier. The employee shall have the right to have a physician provided and paid for by himself present at the examination. If he refuses to submit himself for the examination, or in any way obstructs the same, his right to compensation shall be suspended and his compensation during the period of suspension may be forfeited. Any physician who makes or is present at any such examination may be required to testify under oath as to the results thereof. If the employee has had other physical examinations relative to the injury but not at the request of the employer or the carrier, he shall furnish to the employer or the carrier a complete and correct copy of the report of each such physical examination, if so requested, within 15 days of the request. If such a request is made, the employee may not subsequently introduce into evidence a report of any physical examination not furnished to the employer or the carrier.

OCCUPATIONAL DISEASES AND DISABLEMENTS

418.401 Occupational diseases and disablements; definitions.

Sec. 401. Whenever used in this act:

(a) "Disability" means the state of being disabled from earning full wages at the work in which the employee was last subject to the conditions resulting in disability.

(b) "Disablement" means the event of becoming so disabled.

(c) "Personal injury" shall include a disease or disability which is due to causes and conditions which are characteristic of and peculiar to the business of the employer and which arises out of and in the course of the employment. Ordinary diseases of life to which the public is generally exposed outside of the employment shall not be compensable. A hernia to be compensable must be clearly recent in origin and result from a strain arising out of and in the course of the employment and promptly reported to the employer.

HISTORY: New 1909, p. 654, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.405 Police and firemen; respiratory and heart disease; application for benefits.

Sec. 405. (1) In the case of a member of a full paid fire or police department of a city, township or incorporated village employed and compensated upon a full-time basis, a county sheriff and his deputies and members of the state police, "personal injury" shall be construed to include respiratory and heart diseases or illnesses resulting therefrom which develop or manifest themselves during a period while the member of the department is in the active service of the department and result from the performance of duties as a fire fighter or policeman.

(2) Such respiratory and heart diseases or illnesses resulting therefrom are deemed to arise out of and in the course of employment in the absence of evidence to the contrary.

(3) As a condition precedent to filing an application for benefits, the claimant, if he is one of those enumerated in subsection (1), shall first make application for, and do all things necessary to qualify for any pension benefits which he, or his decedent, may be entitled to. If a final determination is made that pension benefits shall not be awarded, then the presumption of "personal injury" as provided in this section shall apply. The employer or employee may request 2 copies of the determination denying pension benefits, 1 copy of which may be filed with the bureau.

HISTORY: New 1909, p. 654, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.411 Disablement treated as personal injury.

Sec. 411. The disablement of an employee resulting from such disease or disability shall be treated as the happening of a personal injury within the meaning of this act and the procedure and practice provided in this act shall apply to all proceedings under this chapter, except where specifically otherwise provided herein.

HISTORY: New 1909, p. 654, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.415 Death or disablement compensation.

Sec. 415. If an employee is disabled or dies and his disability or death is caused by a disease and the disease is due to the nature of the employment in which such employee was engaged and was contracted therein, he or his dependents shall be entitled to compensation and other benefits for his death or for his disablement, all as provided in this act.

HISTORY: New 1909, p. 654, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.425 Date of disablement.

Sec. 425. For the purposes of this chapter the date of disablement shall be such date as the hearing referee may determine on the hearing of the claim.

HISTORY: New 1909, p. 654, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.431 Employer's liability; conditions exempting and limiting.

Sec. 431. No compensation shall be payable for an occupational disease if the employee at the time of entering into the employment of the employer by whom the compensation would otherwise be payable, or thereafter, wilfully and falsely represents in writing that he has not previously suffered from the disease which is the cause of the disability or death. Where an occupational disease is aggravated by any other disease or infirmity, not itself compensable, or where disability or death from any other cause, not itself compensable, is aggravated, prolonged, accelerated or in any way contributed to by an occupational disease, the compensation payable shall be a proportion only of the compensation that would be payable if the occupational disease were the sole cause of the disability or death as such occupational disease, as a causative factor, bearing to all the causes of such disability or death, such reduction in compensation to be effected by reducing the number of weekly payments or the amounts of such payments, as under the circumstances of the particular case may be for the best interest of the claimant or claimants.

418.435 Employer's liability; apportionment; procedure; definitions.

Sec. 435. The total compensation due shall be recoverable from the employer who last employed the employee in the employment to the nature of which the disease was due and in which it was contracted. If any dispute or controversy arises as to the payment of compensation or as to liability therefor, the employee shall give notice to and make claim upon the last employer only and apply for a hearing against the last employer only. If the employee was employed by prior employers in an employment to the nature of which the disease was due and in which it was contracted, the hearing referee to whom the case is assigned or the director on motion made in writing by the last employer shall join any or all prior employers, mentioned in the motion, as parties-defendant. A "prior employer", for purposes of this section, means an employer who has employed the employee for 6 months or longer during the 10 years preceding the date upon which the employee was last subjected to the conditions resulting in disability. Any prior employer so joined as a party-defendant may move, in writing, to join other employers as parties-defendant, and such hearing referee or the director shall join the employers as parties-defendant. The bureau, within 5 days of the entry of an order joining any prior employer as a party-defendant, shall give such party written notice thereof by first class mail, which notice shall be mailed not less than 30 days before the date of hearing and shall include the name of the employee, the name of the last employer, the name of the moving party and the names of all other employers joined as parties-defendant. The bureau shall give not less than 30 days notice in writing by first class mail to all parties of the time and place of the hearing between the employee and the last employer at which liability shall be determined. Any prior employer named as a defendant pursuant to motion shall have 10 days from the date of the mailing of notice of joinder to file objections to his being named as a party-defendant. On the date of the hearing at which the liability of the parties shall be determined, the hearing referee first shall hear arguments and take evidence concerning the joinder as parties-defendant of employers who have filed timely objections and if the arguments and evidence warrant, the hearing referee shall grant a motion to dismiss any prior employer as a party-defendant. At such hearing all employers named as defendants may appear, cross-examine witnesses, give evidence and defend both on the issue of the liability of the last employer to the employee and on the issue of their liability to the last employer. The hearing referee shall enter an order determining liability for compensation as between the employee and the last employer. The hearing referee shall apportion liability for compensation among the several employers in proportion to the time that the employee was employed in the service of each employer in the employment to the nature of which the disease was due and in which it was contracted and shall enter a separate order in favor of the last employer and against prior employers for their proportionate share of liability, which order may be enforced in the same manner as an award for compensation. Any order so entered may be appealed by any party and shall be reviewed in accordance with the procedure provided in this act. Any employer made a party under this section, prior to hearing, may inquire in writing of the employee claiming compensation, or of his attorney, the names and addresses of all employers and the approximate dates of employment, and the employee or his attorney shall answer to the best of his ability.

418.441 Notice; requirements.

Sec. 441. The requirements of notice of occupational disease and death resulting therefrom and the requirements as to the bringing of proceedings for compensation for disability or death resulting from such occupational disease shall be the same as required in chapter 3, except that the notice shall be given to the employer within 120 days after the disablement.

FUNDS

418.501 Second injury fund and silicosis and dust disease fund; creation.

Sec. 501. A second injury fund and a silicosis and dust disease fund are created.

HISTORY: New 1980, p. 656, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.511 Board of trustees; appointment, term, expenses.

Sec. 511. The funds shall be managed by a board of 3 trustees, 1 of whom shall be the director, the remaining 2 of whom shall be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate and so selected by the governor that 1 trustee will represent the insurance industry and the remaining trustee shall represent those employers who have been authorized to act as self-insurers. The director shall be a permanent trustee but the other 2 trustees shall be appointed for terms of 4 years and shall serve until their successors are appointed and qualified. The present trustees of the silicosis and dust disease fund shall continue to serve for the balance of their terms and shall exercise the powers granted by this chapter. The trustees shall receive no compensation for their services, but shall be reimbursed for their actual and necessary expenses during the performance of their duties.

418.515 Board of trustees; duties; funds administrator; office; personnel; expenses.

Sec. 515. (1) The trustees shall have general authority to carry out the purposes of this chapter, shall make such rules as they deem necessary, shall maintain records and institute systems and procedures or take any other administrative action as they deem necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

(2) The trustees may appoint an administrative officer to be referred to as the funds administrator who shall perform duties as shall be designated or delegated by the trustees.

(3) The bureau shall provide the trustees of the funds with suitable office space and clerical assistance. All other expenses authorized by the trustees for the proper administration of the funds, including but not limited to, the salary and expenses of the funds administrator and the investigation, determination and defense of claims against the funds shall be borne ratably by and paid from the assets of the funds. The trustees may secure legal advice and be represented by the attorney general or any assistant designated by him in any matter involving the affairs of the funds. The cost of such services and expenses in connection therewith shall be borne ratably by and paid from the funds. All expenses so incurred and charged to the funds shall be accounted for on a fiscal year basis.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 656, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.521 Second injury fund; payments reimbursable.

Sec. 521. (1) If an employee has a permanent disability in the form of the loss of a hand, arm, foot, leg or eye and subsequently has an injury arising out of and in the course of his employment which results in another permanent disability in the form of the loss of a hand, arm, foot, leg or eye, at the conclusion of payments made for the second permanent disability he shall be conclusively presumed to be totally and permanently disabled and paid compensation for total and permanent disability after subtracting the number of weeks of compensation received by the employee for both such losses. The payment of compensation under this section shall be made by the second injury fund, and shall begin at the conclusion of the payments for the second permanent disability.

(2) Any permanently and totally disabled person as defined in this act, if such total and permanent disability arose out of and in the course of his employment, who, on and after June 25, 1955, is entitled to receive payments of workmen's compensation in amounts per week of less than is presently provided in the workmen's compensation schedule of benefits for permanent and total disability, and for a lesser number of weeks than the duration of such permanent and total disability, after the effective date of any amendatory act by which his disability is defined as permanent and total disability, or by which the weekly benefits for permanent and total disability are increased, shall receive weekly from the carrier on behalf of the second injury fund differential benefits equal to the difference between what he is now or shall hereafter be entitled to receive from his employer under the provisions of this act as the same was in effect at the time of his injury, and the amounts now provided for his permanent and total disability by this or any other amendatory act, with appropriate application of the provisions of sections 351 to 359. Such payments shall continue after the period for which the person is otherwise entitled to compensation under this act for the duration of the permanent and total disability. Any payments so made by a carrier pursuant to this section shall be reimbursed to the carrier by the second injury fund as provided in this chapter.

(3) Any person who prior to July 1, 1968, has been receiving or is entitled to receive benefits from the second injury fund pursuant to any prior provisions of the workmen's compensation law shall continue to receive or be entitled to receive such benefits from such fund which shall be paid directly to him from such fund unless such payments are paid in accordance with an agreement made pursuant to section 541.

(4) If any carrier is unable to make the payments on behalf of the fund as provided for herein, the trustees of the second injury fund may make the payments directly to the permanently and totally disabled employee.

(5) The obligation imposed by this section on a carrier to make payments on behalf of the second injury fund shall not impose an independent liability on the carrier nor obligate the carrier to make payments on behalf of the fund if the carrier does not have a separate obligation to make payments of compensation simultaneously to the permanently and totally disabled employee.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 656, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.531 Silicosis and dust disease fund; payments reimbursable.

Sec. 531. In all cases in which any carrier shall have paid, or cause to be paid, compensation for disability or death from silicosis or other dust disease either to the employee, or to another employer under the provisions of section 435, the carrier shall be reimbursed from the silicosis and dust disease fund for all sums so paid in excess of $12,500.00, excluding payments made pursuant to sections 315, 319 and 345 which have been paid by the carrier as a portion of its liability.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 657, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.535 Disability from multiple causes; apportionment; reimbursement.

Sec. 535. If an employee's disability is caused by a combination of silicosis or other dust disease and other compensable causes, a hearing referee shall apportion the amount of disability between that due to silicosis or other dust disease and other compensable causes. The trustees of the silicosis and dust disease fund shall reimburse the employer liable for compensation for that portion of compensation paid in excess of $12,500.00 that the silicosis or other dust disease disability bears to the total disability.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 657, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.541 Payments from funds; notice of claim for reimbursement; agreements.

Sec. 541. (1) All payments from the funds shall be determined by the trustees and made upon an order signed by a trustee. If a dispute arises between the trustees and a carrier as to any determination by the trustees or the obligation of any carrier to make payments on behalf of the second injury fund, the dispute shall be deemed to be a controversy concerning compensation and shall be determined in accordance with this act.

(2) In all cases in which the carrier shall be entitled to be reimbursed, notice of claim for reimbursement shall be filed with the trustees within 1 year from the date on which the right to reimbursement first accrues. After the carrier has established a right to reimbursement, payment shall be made promptly on a proper showing periodically every 6 months.

(3) The trustees may enter into agreements with carriers whereby the payment of benefits to persons permanently and totally disabled from the second injury fund which heretofore have been made directly from the fund may be made by carriers who are paying workmen's compensation benefits to such persons and the carriers shall be reimbursed periodically at 6-month intervals from the fund for such payments.

418.545 Silicosis and dust disease claims; redemption of liability.

Sec. 545. After a carrier has paid an employee $12,500.00 for disability or death due to silicosis or other dust disease, the trustees may compromise the liability of the silicosis and dust disease fund by entering into a redemption of liability directly with the employee if in the judgment of the trustees it is in the employee's best interest to do so. Redemption of liability shall terminate all liability of the fund. A redemption of liability by a carrier for compensation paid for disability or death from silicosis or other dust disease made with the employee prior to the actual payment by the carrier of $12,500.00 in compensation benefits shall eliminate all liability of the silicosis and dust disease fund.

418.551 Assessment on disbursed funds; notice; payment; liability; delinquencies; investments; reports.

Sec. 551. (1) As soon as practicable after January 1 each year, the director shall assess upon and collect from each carrier a sum equal to that proportion of 175% of the total disbursements made from the second injury fund during the preceding calendar year, less the amount of net assets in excess of $200,000.00 in that fund as of December 31 of the preceding calendar year, which the total compensation benefits, exclusive of payments made pursuant to sections 315, 319 and 345, paid by each such carrier in the state bears to the total of such compensation benefits paid by all carriers in the state.

(2) As soon as practicable after January 1, 1969, each year the director shall assess upon and collect from each carrier a sum equal to that proportion of 175% of the total disbursements made from the silicosis and dust disease fund during the preceding calendar year, less the amount of net assets in excess of $200,000.00 in that fund as of December 31 of the preceding calendar year, which the total compensation benefits, exclusive of payments made pursuant to sections 315, 319 and 345, paid by each carrier in the state bears to the total of compensation benefits paid by all carriers in the state.

(3) Notice of the assessments shall be sent by the director by certified mail to each carrier. Payment of assessments shall be made so as to be received in the Lansing office of the bureau on or before a date specified uniformly in the notice but not less than 90 days from the date of mailing.

(4) All assessments constitute elements of loss for the purpose of establishing rates for workmen's compensation insurance.

(5) An employer who has ceased to be a self-insurer or an insurance company which has ceased to write workmen's compensation insurance in this state shall continue to be liable for any second injury fund or silicosis or dust disease fund assessment on account of any compensation benefits, exclusive of payments made pursuant to sections 315, 319 and 345 paid by it during the previous calendar year.

(6) The director shall certify to the trustees the collection and receipt of all moneys from assessments, noting any delinquencies. The trustees shall take such action as in their judgment is proper to effect collection of any delinquent assessment. All moneys received from assessments pursuant to this section shall be turned over to the state treasurer who shall be the custodian of the second injury fund and the silicosis and dust disease fund. The treasurer may make such investments as in his judgment are in the best interest of the funds and earnings from the investment of such moneys shall be credited to the funds. The state treasurer, at the end of each fiscal year, shall determine what amount represents a pro rata earnings share due to each fund, shall credit it to them and shall notify the trustee of the amounts credited and the balances of the respective funds as of June 30. The trustees shall make separate annual reports and accountings, which reports shall be included in the annual report of the bureau.

418.552 Workmen's compensation; funds; borrowing between, procedure.

Sec. 552. (1) If, prior to the end of any calendar year, the annual assessments, after having been substantially collected, have not provided funds sufficient to either the second injury fund or the silicosis and dust disease fund to meet the known obligations of those funds as they mature prior to the next available assessment date, the trustees, if they find it to be reasonably required, may borrow on behalf of 1 fund from the other such sum or sums as may be required.

(2) Any sum or sums so borrowed shall be included in the next assessment of the borrowing fund and shall be repaid after the assessment has been substantially collected and the fund from which the sum or sums was borrowed during the period prior to repayment shall record the sum or sums as an asset.

(3) The trustees shall not borrow in the manner described in this section if it shall impair the ability of either fund to meet its known obligations as they mature prior to the next available assessment date.

(4) If the trustees find that it is reasonably required that they borrow on behalf of 1 fund from the other but that such borrowing will impair the ability of such fund to meet its known obligations as they mature prior to the next assessment date, then, and in that event only, the trustees may order the director to levy a special assessment on each carrier in a sum sufficient to permit the fund making the assessment to meet its known obligations as they mature prior to the next available assessment date. Such assessment shall be levied on each carrier in the same proportion as used in the preceding annual assessment. Payment of such special assessment shall be paid by each carrier within 45 days after the date of the mailing of the notice of special assessment.

SECURITY FOR COMPENSATION

418.601 Security for compensation; definitions.

Sec. 601. Whenever used in this act:

(a) "Insurer" means an organization which transacts the business of workmen's compensation insurance within this state.

(b) "Self-insurer" means an employer authorized to carry its own risk.

(c) "Carrier" means a self-insurer, an insurer and the accident fund.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 659, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.611 Compensation payment; methods, approval.

Sec. 611. (1) Every employer subject to the provisions of this act, subject to the approval of the director, shall secure the payment of compensation under this act by 1 of the following methods:

(a) By receiving authorization from the director to be a self-insurer. The director may grant such authorization upon a reasonable showing by the employer of his solvency and financial ability to pay the compensation and benefits provided for in this act and to make such payments directly to his employees as they may become entitled to receive the same under the terms and conditions of this act. If the director determines it to be necessary, he may require the furnishing of a bond or other security in such form and amount as may be reasonable.

(b) By insuring against such liability with an insurer authorized to transact the business of workmen's compensation insurance within this state.

(c) By insuring against such liability with the accident fund.

(2) The director, from time to time, may review and alter his decision in approving the election of an employer to adopt any one of the foregoing methods if, in his judgment, such action is necessary or desirable for any reason.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 659, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.615 Report by employer not self-insurer; failure to file.

Sec. 615. Upon written request of the director, every employer who has not been exempted by the director from insuring his compensation risk shall report to him in writing the number of employees, the nature of their work, the name of the insurer with whom he has insured his liability under this act and the number and date of expiration of such policy. Failure to furnish the report within 10 days from the making of a request by registered mail constitutes presumptive evidence that the delinquent employer is violating the provisions of section 611.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 659, Act 317, Eff. Dec. 31.

418.621 Insurance contract; consistency with act.

Sec. 621. (1) Every contract for the insurance of the compensation provided in this act for or against liability therefore, shall be deemed to be made subject to the provisions of this act and provisions inconsistent with this act are void.

Mandatory provisions.

(2) The accident fund and every insurer issuing an insurance policy to cover any employer not permitted to be a self-insurer under section 611 shall insure, cover and protect in one and the same insurance policy, all the businesses, employees, enterprises and activities of the employer. Each policy of insurance covering workmen's compensation in this state shall contain the following provisions:

"Notwithstanding any language elsewhere contained in this contract or policy of insurance, the accident fund or the insurer issuing this policy hereby contracts and agrees with the insured employer:

Medical services. (b) That it will furnish or cause to be furnished to all employees of the employer, all reasonable medical, surgical and hospital services and medicines when they are needed which the employer may be obligated to furnish or cause to be furnished to his employees under the provisions of the Michigan workmen's compensation act and that it will pay to the persons entitled thereto for all such services and medicines when they are needed for all compensable injuries or compensable occupational diseases happening to his employees during the life of this contract or policy;

Rehabilitation services. (c) That it will furnish or cause to be furnished such rehabilitation services for which the insured employer may become liable to furnish or cause to be furnished under the provisions of the Michigan workmen's compensation act for all compensable injuries or compensable occupational diseases happening to his employees during the life of this contract or policy;

Funeral expenses. (d) That it will pay or cause to be paid the reasonable expense of the last sickness and burial of all employees whose deaths are caused by compensable injuries or compensable occupational diseases happening during the life of this contract or policy and arising out of and in the course of their employment with the employer, which the employer may be obligated to pay under the provisions of the Michigan workmen's compensation act;

Scope of contract. (e) That this insurance contract or policy shall for all purposes be held and deemed to cover all the businesses the said employer is engaged in at the time of the issuance of this contract or policy and all other businesses, if any, the employer may engage in during the life thereof, and all employees the employer may employ in any of his businesses during the period covered by this policy;

Obligations assumed. (f) That it hereby assumes all obligations imposed upon the employer by his acceptance of the Michigan workmen's compensation act, as far as the payment of compensation, death benefits, medical surgical, hospital care or medicine and rehabilitation services is concerned;

Termination notice. (g) That it will file with the bureau of workmen's compensation at Lansing, Michigan, at least 20 days before the taking effect of any termination or cancellation of this contract or policy, a notice giving the date at which it is proposed to terminate or cancel this contract or policy; and that any termination of this policy shall not be effective as far as the employees of the insured employer are concerned until 20 days after notice of proposed termination or cancellation is received by the bureau of workmen's compensation;

Conflicting provisions. (h) That all the provisions of this contract, if any, which are not in harmony with this paragraph are to be construed as modified hereby, and all conditions and limitations in the policy, if any conflicting herewith are hereby made null and void."

Type size.

(3) Such provisions shall be printed upon or conspicuously attached to every insurance contract or policy issued by the accident fund or insurer in type size not smaller than 10-point and shall constitute a separate paragraph of the policy and any provision of the policy inconsistent with the said undertakings and agreements of the accident fund or insurer contained in such provisions shall be null and void.

Sec. 625. The accident fund and every insurer mentioned in section 611 issuing an insurance policy covering workmen's compensation in this state shall file with the director, within 10 days after the effective date thereof, a notice of the issuance of such policy and its effective date. If the policy covers persons who would otherwise be exempted from the provisions of this act by section 115, the notice shall contain a specific statement to that effect. A notice shall not be required of the accident fund or any insurer where the policy issued is a renewal of the preceding policy. The accident fund or insurer, if it refuses to accept any coverage under this act, shall do so in writing.

418.631 Claim payments; filing reports.

Sec. 631. If the injured employee or his dependents or personal representative does not commence the action within 1 year after the occurrence of the personal injury, then the employer or carrier, within the period of time for the commencement of actions prescribed by statute, may enforce the liability of such other person in the name of that person. Act 1, 1936 (Ex. Ses.), p. 3; Imd. Eff. Dec. 24.

AN ACT to protect the welfare of the people of this state through the establishment of an unemployment compensation fund, and to provide for the disbursement thereof; to create the Michigan employment security commission, and to prescribe its powers and duties; to provide for the protection of the people of this state from the hazards of unemployment; to levy and provide for contributions from employers; to provide for the collection of such contributions; to enter into reciprocal agreements and to cooperate with agencies of the United States and of other states charged with the administration of any unemployment insurance law; to provide for the payment of benefits; to provide for appeals from redeterminations, decisions and notices of assessment; and for referees and an appeal board to hear and decide any and all issues arising from redeterminations, decisions and notices of assessment; to provide for the cooperation of this state and compliance with the provisions of the social security act and the Wagner-Peyser act passed by the Congress of the United States of America; to provide for the establishment and maintenance of free public employment offices; to provide for the transfer of funds; to make an appropriation for carrying out the provisions of this act; to prescribe penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act; and to repeal all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act. Am. 1937, p. 844, Act 347, Imd. Eff. Aug. 5;—Am. 1954, p. 472, Act 197, Imd. Eff. May 7.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

421.1 Michigan employment security act; short title.

Sec. 1. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Michigan employment security act." Wherever in this act reference is made to the "Michigan unemployment compensation act" or to the "unemployment compensation act" such reference shall mean the "Michigan employment security act."

HISTORY: CL 1948, 421.1;—Am. 1951, p. 378, Act 251, Imd. Eff. Jun. 17.

CITED IN OTHER SECTIONS: Sections 421.1 to 421.62 are cited in § 421.501.

421.2 Declaration of public policy.

Sec. 2. Declaration of policy. The legislature acting in the exercise of the police power of the state declares that the public policy of the state is as follows: Economic insecurity due to unemployment is a serious menace to the health, morals, and welfare of the people of this state. Involuntary unemployment is a subject of general interest and concern which requires action by the legislature to prevent its spread and to lighten its burden which so often falls with crushing force upon the unemployed worker and his family, to the detriment of the welfare of the people of this state. Social security requires protection against this hazard of our economic life. Employers should be encouraged to provide stable employment. The systematic accumulation of funds during periods of employment to provide benefits for periods of unemployment by the setting aside of unemployment reserves to be used for the benefit of persons unemployed through no fault of their own, thus maintaining purchasing power and limiting the serious social consequences of relief assistance, is for the public good, and the general welfare of the people of this state.

Three voting members of the commission shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The commission shall prescribe its organization and methods of procedure.

Any member of the commission or its duly authorized agents may administer an oath or affirmation to a witness in any matter before the commission, certify to official acts, and take depositions. 421.10 Administration fund; nonreversion to general fund; appropriation for commission use.

Sec. 10. There is hereby created in the state treasury a special fund to be known and designated as the administration fund (Michigan employment security act). Any balances in this fund at the end of any fiscal year of the state shall be carried over as a part of said fund and shall at no time revert to the general fund of the state. Except as otherwise provided in the third paragraph of this section, all moneys deposited into said fund under the provisions of this act are hereby appropriated to the commission to pay the expenses of the administration of this act.

Appropriations by state; receipts from United States; expenditure.

Said fund shall be credited with all moneys appropriated thereto by the legislature, all moneys received from the United States of America or any agency thereof for such purpose, and all moneys received by the state for said fund. All moneys in this fund which are received from the federal government or any agency thereof or which are appropriated by this state for the purposes of this act, except moneys requisitioned from the account of this state in the unemployment trust fund pursuant to a specific appropriation made by the legislature in accordance with section 903 (c) (2) of the federal social security act, as amended, and with section 17 (f) of this act, shall be expended solely for the purposes and in the amounts found necessary by the appropriate agency of the United States of America for the proper and efficient administration of this act.

Deposit in administration fund from unemployment trust fund; unexpended moneys redeposited in unemployment trust fund.

All moneys requisitioned from the account of this state in the unemployment trust fund pursuant to a specific appropriation made by the legislature in accordance with section 903 (c) (2) of the federal social security act, as amended, and with section 17 (f) of this act, shall be deposited in the administration fund. Any such moneys which remain unexpended at the close of the 2-year period beginning on the date of enactment of such specific appropriation shall be immediately redeposited with the secretary of the treasury of the United States of America to the credit of this state's account in the unemployment trust fund; or any such moneys which for any reason cannot be expended or are not to be expended for the purpose for which appropriated before the close of such 2-year period shall be so redeposited at the earliest practicable date.

Lost or improperly expended funds; replacement by state.

If any moneys received after June 30, 1941, from the appropriate agency of the United States of America under title 3 of the social security act, or any unencumbered balances in the administration fund (Michigan employment security act) as of that date, or any moneys granted after that date to this state pursuant to the provisions of the Wagner-Peyser act, or any moneys made available by this state or its political subdivisions and matched by such moneys granted to this state pursuant to the provisions of the Wagner-Peyser act, are found by the appropriate agency of the United States, because of any action or contingency, to have been lost or been expended for purposes other than, or in amounts in excess of, those found necessary by such agency of the United States for the proper administration of this act, it is the policy of this state that such moneys shall be replaced by moneys appropriated for such purpose from the general funds of this state to the administration fund (Michigan employment security act) for expenditure as provided herein. Upon receipt of notice of such a finding by the appropriate agency of the United States, the commission shall promptly report the amount required for such replacement to the governor and the governor shall, at the earliest opportunity, submit to the legislature a request for the appropriation of such amount. This subsection shall not be construed to relieve this state of its obligation with respect to funds received prior to July 1, 1941, pursuant to the provisions of title 3 of the social security act.

Same; liability of commissioners for replacement, bond.

If any funds expended or disbursed by the commission are so found by the appropriate agency of the United States to have been lost or expended for purposes other than, or in amounts in excess of, those found necessary by such agency of the United States for the proper administration of this act, and if such funds are replaced as aforesaid by moneys appropriated for such purpose from the general funds of the state, then those members of the commission who voted for or otherwise approved the expenditure or disbursement of such funds for such purposes or in such amounts, shall be jointly and severally liable to the state in an amount equal to the sum of money appropriated as aforesaid to replace such funds; and the members of the commission shall be required by the governor to post a proper bond in a sum not less than $25,000.00 to cover their liability as hereinabove prescribed, the cost thereof to be paid from the general fund of the state of Michigan.

Contingent fund; deposits; appropriation for administration purposes; expenditures; refunds of erroneously collected interest, damages and penalties.

There is hereby created in the state treasury a separate fund to be known as the contingent fund (Michigan employment security act) into which shall be deposited all interest on contributions, penalties and damages collected under the provisions of this act. All amounts in the contingent fund (Michigan employment security act) and all earnings thereon are hereby continuously appropriated without regard to fiscal years for the administration of the commission, to be expended only when authorized by the commission: Provided, (1) That no such authorization or expenditure shall be made as a substitution for a grant of federal funds or for any portion of such grant or grants, which, in the absence of said authorization, would be available to the commission, and (2) that immediately upon receipt of administrative grants from the appropriate agency of the United States of America to cover administrative costs for which the commission has authorized and made expenditures from the contingent fund, such grants shall be transferred to the contingent fund to the extent necessary to reimburse the contingent fund for the amount of such expenditures. Amounts needed to refund interest, damages and penalties erroneously collected shall be withdrawn and expended for such a purpose from such contingent fund upon order of the commission. Any amount authorized to be expended for administration pursuant hereto may be transferred to the administration fund: Provided, however, That any amount not needed for the purpose for which authorized shall, upon order of the commission, be returned to the said contingent fund.

421.11 Employment security commission; cooperation with federal agency; reports; receipts, expenditures.

Sec. 11. (a) In the administration of this act, the commission shall cooperate with the appropriate agency of the United States of America, under the social security act, approved August 14, 1935, as amended. The commission shall make such reports, in such form and containing such information as the appropriate agency of the United States may from time to time require, and shall comply with such provisions as the appropriate agency of the United States may from time to time prescribe to assure the correctness and verification of such reports. The commission, subject to the provisions of this act, shall comply with the regulations prescribed by the appropriate agency of the United States relating to the receipt or expenditure of such sums as may be allotted and paid to this state for the purpose of assisting in the administration of this act.

Confidential information; privileged communications; use in court actions; availability to interested parties and public agencies; use in research programs; examination of national bank reports.

(b) Information obtained from any employing unit or individual pursuant to the administration of this act, and determinations as to the benefit rights of any individual shall be held confidential and shall not be disclosed or open to public inspection other than to public employees in the performance of their official duties pursuant to the provisions of this act in any manner revealing the individual's or the employing unit's identity, but any information in the commission's possession that may affect a claim for benefits or a charge to an employer's rating account shall be available to the interested parties. Except as hereinafter provided, such information and determinations shall not be used in any action or proceeding before any court or administrative tribunal unless the commission is a party or complainant therein. Any report or statement, written or verbal, made by any person to the commission, or any member thereof, or to any person engaged in administering this law, shall be a privileged communication and no person, firm or corporation shall be held liable for slander or libel on account of any such report or statement. Such records and reports in the custody of the commission shall be available for examination by the employer or employee affected.

Subject to such restrictions as the commission may by regulation prescribe, such information may be made available to any agency of this or any other state, or any federal agency, charged with the administration of an unemployment compensation law or the maintenance of a system of public employment offices, or the bureau of internal revenue of the United States department of the treasury or the social security administration of the United States department of health, education and welfare, and information obtained in connection with the administration of the employment service may be made available to persons or agencies for purposes appropriate to the operation of a public employment service. Subject to such restrictions as the commission may by regulation prescribe, the commission may also make such information available to agencies of other states which are responsible for the administration of public assistance to unemployed workers, and to the departments of this state. Information so released shall be used only for purposes not inconsistent with the purposes of this act.

Upon request therefor the commission shall furnish to any agency of the United States charged with the administration of public works or assistance through public employment, and may furnish to any state agency similarly charged the name, address, ordinary occupation and employment status of each recipient of benefits and such recipient's rights to further benefits under this act.

Ninety days after the effective date of this act and subject to such restrictions as the commission may prescribe, by regulation or otherwise, the commission may also make such information available to colleges, universities and public agencies of this state, for use in connection with research projects of a public service nature. No person associated with such institutions or agencies shall disclose said information in any manner which would reveal the identity of any individual or employing unit from or concerning whom such information was obtained by the commission.

The commission may request the comptroller of the currency of the United States to cause an examination of the correctness of any return or report of any national banking association rendered pursuant to the provisions of this act, and may in connection with such request transmit any such report or return to the comptroller of the currency of the United States as provided in section 3305 (c) of the federal internal revenue code.

Reciprocity as to benefits.

(c) The commission is authorized to enter into agreements with the appropriate agencies of other states or the federal government whereby potential rights to benefits accumulated under the unemployment compensation laws of the several states or such a law of the federal government, or both, may constitute the basis for the payment of benefits through a single appropriate agency under plans which the commission finds will be fair and reasonable as to all affected interests and will not result in substantial loss to the unemployment compensation fund.

Reciprocity as to contributions.

(d) (1) The commission is authorized to enter into reciprocal agreements with the appropriate agencies of other states or of the federal government adjusting the collection and payment of contributions by employers with respect to employment not localized within this state.

(2) The commission is authorized to enter into reciprocal agreements with agencies of other states administering unemployment compensation, whereby contributions paid by an employer to any of such other states may be received by such other state as an agent acting for and on behalf of this state to the same extent as if such contributions had been paid directly to this state: Provided, That such payment is remitted to this state; and such contributions so received by such other state shall be deemed contributions, required and paid under this act as of the date such contributions were received by such other state; and that the commission may collect contributions in a like manner for such agencies of other states administering unemployment compensation and remit such contributions to such agencies under the terms of such reciprocal agreements.

Records, furnishing to railroad retirement board or other state or federal agency.

(e) The commission may make the state's records relating to the administration of this act available and may furnish to the railroad retirement board or any other state or federal agency administering an unemployment compensation law, at the expense of such board, state or agency, such copies thereof as the railroad retirement board deems necessary for its purpose.

Cooperation with other states and United States; actions to enforce contributions, penalties and interest.

(f) The commission may cooperate with or enter into agreements with any agency of another state or of the United States charged with the administration of any unemployment insurance or public employment service law.

The commission is therefore authorized to make such investigations, secure and transmit such information, make available such services and facilities and exercise such of the other powers provided herein with respect to the administration of this act as it deems necessary or appropriate to facilitate the administration of any such unemployment compensation or public employment service law, and in like manner, to accept and utilize information, services and facilities made available to this state by the agency charged with the administration of any such other unemployment compensation or public employment service law.

On request of an agency which administers an employment security law of another state or foreign government and which has found in accordance with the provisions of such law that a claimant is liable to repay benefits received under such law, the commission may collect the amount of such benefits from such claimant to be refunded to such agency.

In any case in which under this subsection a claimant is liable to repay any amount to the agency of another state or foreign government, such amounts may be collected by civil action in the name of the commission acting as agent for such agency: Provided, That the court costs shall be paid or guaranteed by such agency.

To the extent permissible under the laws and constitution of the United States, the commission is authorized to enter into or cooperate in arrangements whereby facilities and services provided under this act and facilities and services provided under the unemployment compensation law of the Dominion of Canada, may be utilized for the taking of claims and the payment of benefits under the unemployment compensation law of this state or under a similar law of the Dominion of Canada.

Any employer who is not a resident of this state and who exercises the privilege of having one or more individuals perform service for him within this state, and any resident employer who exercises that privilege and thereafter removes from this state, shall be deemed thereby to appoint the secretary of state as his agent and attorney for the acceptance of process in any civil action under this act, and in instituting such an action against any such employer the commission shall cause such process or notice to be filed with the secretary of state and such service shall be sufficient service upon such employer, and shall be of the same force and validity as if served upon him personally within this state: Provided, That the commission shall forthwith send notice of the service of such process or notice, together with a copy thereof, by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, to such employer at his last known address; and such return receipt, the commission's affidavit of compliance with the provisions of this section, and a copy of the notice of service shall be appended to the original of the process filed in the court in which such civil action is pending.

The courts of this state shall recognize and enforce liabilities, as hereinafter provided, for unemployment compensation contributions, penalties and interest imposed by other states which extend a like comity to this state.

The attorney general is empowered to commence action in the appropriate court of any other state or any other jurisdiction of the United States by and in the name of the commission to collect unemployment compensation contributions, penalties and interest finally determined, redetermined or decided under this act to be legally due this state. The officials of other states which extend a like comity to this state are empowered to sue in the courts of this state for the collection of unemployment compensation contributions, penalties and interest, the liability for which has been similarly established under the laws of such other state or jurisdiction. A certificate by the secretary of any such state under the great seal of such state attesting the authority of such official or officials to collect unemployment compensation contributions, penalties and interest shall be conclusive evidence of such authority.

The attorney general is authorized to commence action in this state as agent for or on behalf of any other state to enforce judgments and duly established liabilities for unemployment compensation taxes or contributions, penalties and interest due such other state if such other state extends a like comity to this state.

Reciprocal agreements as to employees serving in more than one state; wages and employment, defined; reimbursement.

(g) The commission is also authorized to enter into reciprocal agreements with the appropriate and duly authorized agencies of other states or of the federal government (1) whereby remuneration and services, upon the basis of which an individual may become entitled to benefits under the unemployment compensation law of another state or of the federal government, shall be deemed to be wages and employment for the purposes of sections 27 and 46 of this act, provided such other state agency or agency of the federal government has agreed to reimburse the fund for such portion of benefits paid under this act upon the basis of such remuneration and services as the commission finds will be fair and reasonable as to all affected interests, and wages and employment on the basis of which an individual may become entitled to benefits under this act shall be deemed to be wages or services on the basis of which unemployment compensation under such law of another state or of the federal government is payable, and (2) whereby services performed by an individual for a single employing unit for which services are customarily performed by such individual in more than one state shall be deemed to be services performed entirely within any one of the states (a) in which any part of such individual's service is performed or (b) in which such individual has his residence or (c) in which the employing unit maintains a place of business, provided there is in effect, as to such services, an election, approved by the agency charged with the administration of such state's unemployment compensation law, pursuant to which all the services performed by such individual for such employing unit are deemed to be performed entirely within such state, and (3) whereby the commission will reimburse other state or federal agencies charged with the administration of unemployment compensation laws with such reasonable portion of benefits, paid under the law of any such other states or of the federal government upon the basis of employment and wages, as the commission finds will be fair and reasonable as to all af-affected interests. Reimbursements so payable shall be deemed to be benefits for the purposes of limiting duration of benefits and for the purposes of section 26 of this act, but no reimbursements so payable shall be charged against any employer's rating account for the purposes of sections 17, 18, 19 and 20 of this act. The commission is authorized to make to other state or federal agencies and receive from such other state or federal agencies, reimbursements from or to the fund, in accordance with arrangements pursuant to this section.

Military service; benefits to discharged persons.

(h) The commission is authorized and directed to enter into any agreement necessary in order that it may cooperate with any agency of the United States charged with the administration of any program for the payment of primary or supplemental benefits to individuals recently discharged from the military services of the United States, and to assist in the establishing of eligibility and in the payments of benefits thereunder, and for such purposes may accept and administer funds made available by the federal government and may accept and exercise such delegated function as may be provided thereunder: Provided, That the commission shall not have power to enter into any agreement providing for, or exercise any function connected with, the disbursement of the state's unemployment trust fund for purposes not authorized by this act.

Agreements for manpower development, training programs; participation in joint financing programs; authorization.

(i) The commission may enter into agreements with the appropriate agency of the United States whereby, in accordance with the laws of the United States, the commission as agent of the United States or from funds provided by the United States shall provide for the payment of unemployment compensation or unemployment allowances of any kind, including the payment of such benefits and allowances as are made available for manpower development, training, retraining, readjustment and relocation. The commission may receive and disburse funds from the United States or any appropriate agency thereof in accordance with any such agreements.

If the federal enactment providing for unemployment compensation, training allowance or relocation payments requires joint federal-state financing of such payments, the commission may participate in such programs by using such funds as may be appropriated by the legislature and to the extent provided by the legislature for such programs.

Attorney general as legal counsel for commission.

(j) In a proceeding before any court the commission and the state shall be represented by the attorney general of this state or attorneys designated by him. Only the attorney general or other attorneys designated by him shall act as legal counsel for the commission.

421.12 Wagner-Peyser act; acceptance.

Sec. 12. This state hereby accepts the provisions of the act of congress entitled "An act to provide for the establishment of a national employment system and for cooperation with the states in the promotion of such system, and for other purposes," approved June 6, 1933, as amended, hereinafter referred to as the Wagner-Peyser act.

Free employment service.

The Michigan state employment service is hereby established in the Michigan employment security commission which shall be so administered as to cooperate with any federal agency charged with the administration of the Wagner-Peyser act and to conform with the requirements of the Wagner-Peyser act. Free public employment offices which shall be designated as the Michigan state employment service offices shall be established and maintained by the commission in such number and such places as may be necessary for the proper administration of this act and for the purpose of performing such functions as are within the purview of the Wagner-Peyser act. The commission is hereby designated and constituted the agency of this state for the purpose of the Wagner-Peyser act.

Employment service for persons over 45 years of age.

The commission is hereby authorized and empowered, subject to the approval of any federal agency charged with the administration of the Wagner-Peyser act, to establish and operate in each employment service office established in the state of Michigan, a department or division, the sole function and purpose of which shall be to secure and make available, insofar as is possible, suitable employment for persons over 45 years of age.

Administration fund, appropriation.

All moneys made available by, or received by this state under said act of congress, shall be paid into the administration fund created by this act, and said moneys are hereby appropriated and made available to the Michigan state employment service to be expended only for the uses and purposes for which same are received, as provided by this act and by said Wagner-Peyser act.

Agreements as to free public employment offices.

For the purpose of establishing and maintaining free public employment offices, the commission is authorized to enter into agreements with any political subdivision of this state, or with any private, nonprofit organization, and as a part of any such agreement the commission may accept moneys, services, or quarters as a contribution to the administration fund.

421.13 Employers' contributions; rates, computation and payments; reports and records.

Sec. 13. Each employer subject to this act shall pay to the commission contributions, equal to 2.7 per centum of wages for employment, subject to an adjustment in rate of contribution as provided in section 19 of this act. Such contributions shall become due and be paid to the commission, for the unemployment compensation fund, by each employer semi-annually or for such shorter periods of not less than 28 days, as the commission may by regulation prescribe. An employer's contribution shall not be deducted directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, from the wages of individuals in his employ. In the payment of any contributions, a fractional part of a cent shall be disregarded unless it amounts to 1/2 cent or more, in which case it shall be increased to 1 cent. The commission may prescribe by regulations the details of the computation and payment of such contributions. Every employing unit shall file with the commission periodic reports on such forms and at such times as the commission shall prescribe to disclose his liability for contributions under the provisions of this act. Each employing unit shall keep such records, including wage and employment records, and shall, within prescribed time limits, submit or provide such reports, including wage and employment reports, to the commission or to the employing unit's employees or former employees as the commission may by regulation prescribe as necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

421.14 Determination of coverage; appeal; notice, service; limitation of action.

Sec. 14. The commission, after affording reasonable opportunity for the submission of relevant information in writing or in person, may make determinations with respect to whether an employing unit constitutes an employer and whether services performed for or in connection with the business of an employing unit constitute employment for such employing unit subject to the provisions of this act. The employing unit, or other interested parties, which may include an individual who is or was employed by such employing unit, on his request, shall be promptly notified of such determination and the reasons therefor. Such determination shall be final as to such parties unless the employing unit or other interested parties files an application for a review and redetermination in accordance with the provisions of section 32a or, within 15 days after the mailing or personal service of the notice of determination, pays under protest the amount charged or found to be due as contributions. If evidence is presented indicating that an employing unit which has been determined not to be an employer is or was actually an employer, or that services which have been held not to constitute employment are or were actually employment, such previous determination shall be reopened and reconsidered by the commission in accordance with section 32a and a redetermination made as the facts and law require; but in the absence of fraud, if such employing unit is finally found to constitute an employer or to be liable for contributions with respect to services previously held non-subject, no contributions with respect to such services shall be collectible for any period prior to the first day of the last completed calendar year preceding the reopening of such determination. In the absence of fraud, no individual, legal entity or employing unit shall be retroactively determined to be an employer for any period prior to the 3 calendar years preceding the issuance of the determination.

Final determination or redetermination, conclusiveness.

Any determination or redetermination of the commission, or any decision of a referee or the appeal board, or of the courts of this state, which has become final, together with the record thereof, may be introduced in any proceeding involving a claim for benefits and the facts therein found and the determination, redetermination or decision therein made shall be conclusive unless substantial evidence to the contrary is introduced by or on behalf of the claimant.

421.15 Contributions; delinquent, interest; cancellation of interest and penalties.

Sec. 15. (a) Contributions unpaid on the date on which they are due and payable, as prescribed by the commission, shall bear interest at the rate of $\frac{3}{4}$ of 1% per month, computed on a day to day basis for each day such delinquency is unpaid, from and after such date until payment plus accrued interest is received by the commission. Interest and penalties collected pursuant to this section shall be paid into the contingent fund: Provided, That the commission shall have the power and authority to cancel any interest and/or penalty when it is shown that the failure to pay on or before the last day on which the tax could have been paid without interest and/or penalty was not the result of negligence, intentional disregard of the regulations of the commission, or fraud.

Assessments, review, payment under protest; levy, warrant, sale.

(b) The commission shall have the right to make assessments against any employer who fails to pay contributions or interest as required by this act. The commission shall immediately notify the employer of the assessment in writing by certified or registered mail, return receipt demanded, and such assessment, which shall constitute a determination, shall be final unless the employer files with the commission an application for a redetermination of such assessment in accordance with the provisions of section 32a of this act: Provided, That a review by the commission or an appeal to a referee or the appeal board on such assessment shall not reopen any question concerning an employer's liability for contributions as determined under the provisions of section 14 unless the employer was not a party to the proceeding or decision wherein the basis for the assessment was determined: And provided further, That any employer may pay an assessment under protest and file suit to recover the amount so paid, as provided under section 15 (d) of this act. Unless an assessment is paid within 15 days after it becomes final the commission may issue a warrant under its official seal directed to the sheriff of any county of the state or to any state officer authorized to serve process commanding such sheriff or other officer to levy upon and sell the property of the employer used in connection with his business, found within his jurisdiction, for the payment of the amount of such contributions including penalties, interests and the cost of executing the warrant. No property of such employer used in connection with his business shall be exempt from levy under such warrant. Such warrant shall be returned to the commission together with the money collected by virtue thereof within the time therein specified which shall not be less than 20 nor more than 90 days from the date of such warrant. The sheriff or other officer to whom such warrants shall be directed shall proceed upon the same in all respects and with like effect and in the same manner as prescribed by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments by a court of record, and shall be entitled to the same fees for his services in executing the warrant to be collected in the same manner. The state of Michigan, through the commission or some other officer or agent designated by it, is hereby authorized to bid for and purchase any property sold under the provisions hereof.

Civil action to collect contribution, damages, costs.

(c) In addition to the mode of collection provided in subsection (b) above, if, after due notice, any employer defaults in any payment of contributions or interest thereon, the commission may bring an action at law in any court of competent jurisdiction to collect and recover the amount of any contribution, and any interest thereon, and in addition 10% of the amount of contributions found to be due, as damages. An employer adjudged in default shall pay costs of such action. Civil actions brought under this section shall be heard by the court at the earliest possible date.

Recovery of contribution paid under protest; jurisdiction of civil action; appeal; payment of judgment, interest.

(d) Any employer or employing unit improperly charged or assessed any contributions provided for under this act and who paid the same under protest within 15 days after the mailing of the notice of determination of assessment, may recover the amount improperly collected or paid, together with interest, in any proper action or suit against the commission; and the circuit court of the county in which such employer or employing unit resides, or in which is located the principal office or place of business of such employer or employing unit, shall have original jurisdiction of any action to recover any contributions improperly paid or collected whether or not such charge or assessment has been reviewed by the commission or heard or reviewed by a referee or the appeal board: Provided, however, That the court shall not have jurisdiction of such suit unless written notice of such claim has been given to the commission at least 30 days prior to the institution of such action. In any suit to recover contributions paid or collected, the court shall allow costs to such an extent and in such manner as it may deem proper. Either party to such suit shall have the right of appeal, as is now provided by law, in other civil actions. In the event a final judgment is rendered in favor of the plaintiff in a suit to recover the amount of contributions illegally collected or charged, then it shall be the duty of the treasurer of the commission, upon receipt of a certified copy of such final judgment, to pay the amount of contributions illegally collected or charged from the clearing account, and to pay any interest as may be allowed by the court (in an amount not to exceed the actual earnings of such contributions as may have been found to have been illegally collected or charged), from the contingent fund.

Lien for contributions, priority.

(e) Except for liens and encumbrances recorded prior to the filing of the notice herein provided for, and the enforcement of their collection, all contributions, interest and penalties required under the provisions of this act shall be a first and prior claim and lien against the property and assets of an employing unit. Such lien shall attach to the property from and after the date that any report upon which the specific tax is computed is required by this act to be filed. Notice of such lien shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the property subject to the lien is situated, and said register of deeds shall receive such notices for recording.

In the event of any distribution of an employer's assets pursuant to an order of any court under the laws of this state, including any receivership, assignment for benefit of creditors, adjudicated insolvency, composition, or similar proceedings, contributions then or thereafter due shall be paid in full prior to all other claims except for wages and compensation under the workmen's compensation act: Provided, That in the distribution of estates of decedents, claims for funeral expenses and expenses of last sickness shall also be entitled to priority. In the event of an employer's adjudication in bankruptcy, judicially confirmed extension proposal, or composition, under the federal bankruptcy act of 1898, as amended, contributions then or thereafter due shall be entitled to such priority as is provided in that act for taxes due any state of the United States.

Injunction.

(f) No injunction shall issue to stay proceedings for assessment or collection of any contributions, or interest or penalty thereon, levied and required by the provisions of this act.

Liability for contributions and interest on sale of business.

(g) Any person, group of individuals, or employing unit, which acquires the organization, trade, business or 75% or more of the assets thereof from an employing unit, as a successor as defined in section 41 (2), shall be liable for any contributions and interest due to the commission at the time of such acquisition in an amount not to exceed the reasonable value of the organization, trade, business or assets acquired; and the commission shall have the right to proceed for such debt against such purchaser either in personam, or in rem. Such seller or purchaser who has, not less than 10 days prior to such acquisition, requested from the commission in writing a statement certifying the status of contribution liability of the previous employing unit shall be provided with such statement and such purchaser shall not be liable for any amount due from the previous or former employing unit in excess of the amount of liability certified by the commission. The foregoing provisions are in addition to the remedies the commission has against the seller.

Deficiency due to negligence without fraud, penalty.

(h) If any part of any deficiency in payment of the employer's contribution to the fund is due to negligence or intentional disregard of the rules and regulations of the commission, but without intention to defraud, 5% of the total amount of the deficiency, in addition to such deficiency and in addition to all other interest charges and penalties provided herein, shall be assessed, collected and paid in the same manner as if it were a deficiency.

Deficiency due to fraud, penalty.

If any part of any deficiency is determined in an action at law therefor to be due to fraud with intent to avoid payment of contributions to the fund, then the judgment rendered shall include an amount equal to 50% of the total amount of the deficiency, in addition to such deficiency and in addition to all other interest charges and penalties provided herein.

Failure to file report, estimate of liability.

(i) If any employing unit shall fail to make any report as reasonably required by the rules and regulations of the commission pursuant to the provisions of this act, the commission may make an estimate of the liability of such employing unit from any information it may obtain and, according to such estimate so made, assess such employing unit for the contributions, penalties and interest due: Provided, however, That this commission shall have the said power only after such default has been continued for a period of 30 days and after the commission has determined that the default of such employing unit is wilful.

Limitation of assessment period.

(j) An assessment or penalty with respect to contributions unpaid shall not be effective for any period prior to the 3 calendar years preceding the date of the assessment.

Additional collection remedy.

(k) All rights respecting the collection of contributions and the levy of interest and penalties and damages made available to the commission by the provisions of this section shall be deemed as additional to all other powers and rights vested in the commission in pursuance of the other provisions of this act. The commission shall not be precluded from exercising any of the collection remedies provided for by this act even though an application for a redetermination or an appeal is pending final disposition.

Fees for registering or discharging liens.

(l) Any person recording any lien provided for in section 15 of this act shall pay the same fees for recording lien and discharge as are provided by law for the recording of a real estate mortgage.

421.16 Contributions; adjustment or refund.

Sec. 16. If not later than 3 years after the date of payment of any amount as contributions or interest thereon, an employing unit which has paid such amount shall make application for an adjustment or refund thereof the commission shall determine whether such contributions or interest or any portion thereof was erroneously collected; and the employing unit shall be promptly notified of such determination, which shall become final unless the employing unit files with the commission an application for redetermination thereof in accordance with the provisions of section 32a of this act. In the event it is finally determined, redetermined or otherwise decided that any amount thus at issue was erroneously collected, the commission shall allow such employing unit to make an adjustment thereof, without interest, in connection with subsequent contribution payments by him: Provided, That if such adjustment cannot be made within the ensuing 3 months the commission shall refund said amount, without interest, from the appropriate fund or funds. 421.17 Solvency account; employer's rating account; definitions; pooling contributions.

Sec. 17. (a) The commission shall maintain in the fund a solvency account, and a separate rating account for each employer as provided in this section. As used in this act, "rating account" means an account in the fund showing an employer's experience with respect to contribution payments and benefit charges under this act, determined and recorded in the manner hereinafter provided. "Solvency account" means the account in the fund maintained as provided in subsection (c) of this section. Any reference in this act to an employer's "experience record" shall be construed to include a reference to his rating account. But nothing in this act shall be construed to grant any employer or individuals in his service prior claims or rights to the amount paid by him to the unemployment compensation fund and credited to his rating account, or to any other account, either on his own behalf or on behalf of such individuals. All contributions to the said fund shall be pooled and available to pay benefits to any individual entitled thereto under this act, irrespective of the source of such contributions.

Rating account, continuation.

(b) The balance of each employer's rating account established as of June 30, 1962, under the provisions of this subsection then in effect, shall be carried over and continued under this section as modified by this 1963 amendatory act.

Solvency account, credits and charges; annual report.

(c) The balance of the solvency account established as of June 30, 1962, under the provisions of this subsection then in effect, shall be carried over and continued under this section as modified by this 1963 amendatory act. Thereafter, the solvency account shall be credited: (1) With all net earnings received on moneys, property or securities in the fund, (2) with any positive balance remaining in an employer's rating account as of the second June 30 computation date occurring after he has ceased to be subject to this act, (3) with the proceeds of the emergency contributions provided in paragraph (4) of subsection (a) of section 19, (4) with all reimbursements received under subsection (c) of section 11, (5) with all amounts which may be paid or advanced by the federal government under section 903 or section 1201 of the federal social security act to the account of the state of Michigan in the federal unemployment trust fund, (6) with all benefits improperly paid to claimants which have been recovered, (7) with the amount of any benefits forfeited by an individual pursuant to application of subsection 62 (b), (8) with the amount of any benefit check, any employer refund check or any claimant restitution refund check duly issued which has not been presented for payment within 1 year after the date of issue, and (9) with any other unemployment fund income not creditable to the rating account of any employer. This account shall be charged: (i) With any negative balance remaining in an employer's rating account as of the second June 30 computation date occurring after he has ceased to be subject to this act, (ii) with refunds of amounts erroneously collected as emergency contributions, (iii) with all reimbursements and benefits paid under subsection (c) of section 11 of this act, (iv) with all training benefits paid under subsection (k) of section 27, (v) with amounts transferred to employer accounts as provided in paragraph (5) of subsection (a) of section 19, (vi) with the amount credited to an employer's new rating account pursuant to subsection (e) of this section, (vii) with repayments to the federal government of amounts advanced by it under section 1201 of the federal social security act to the unemployment compensation fund established by this act, (viii) with such of the amounts received by the fund under section 903 of the federal social security act as may be appropriated to the commission in accordance with subsection (f) of this section, (ix) with all benefits determined to have been improperly paid to claimants which have been credited to employers' rating accounts in accordance with section 20 (a) of this act, (x) with the amount of any substitute check issued to replace an uncashed benefit check previously credited to this account, (xi) with the amount of any benefit check issued which would be chargeable to the rating account of an employer who has ceased to be subject to this act, and who has had a balance transferred from his rating account to the solvency account, and (xii) with all extended benefits paid under section 64 which are not reimbursable by the federal government.

The commission shall include in each of its annual reports a statement of the condition of the solvency account, its classified transactions and its contingent liabilities as specified in section 18 (b) of this act. The statement shall also show, as of the most recent June 30, the number of the employer rating accounts showing negative balances, and the amount of such balances, classified by the industry, by the annual total and annual taxable payroll, by amount of negative balance, and by the duration of coverage under this act of the employers involved.

Employer contributions, crediting.

(d) All contributions paid by an employer shall be credited to the unemployment compensation fund, and (except as otherwise provided with respect to emergency contributions by paragraph (4) of subsection (a) of section 19) to his rating account, as of the date when paid. However, any such contributions paid during any July shall be credited as of the immediately preceding June 30.

Employer again becoming subject to act; transfer to new rating account.

(e) If an employer who has ceased to be subject to this act, and who has had a positive balance transferred from his rating account to the solvency account as of a computation date thereafter, shall again become subject to this act within 6 years after the computation date, the employer may apply, within 60 days after the commission's determination that he is again subject to this act to the commission to have the positive balance, adjusted by such debits and credits as have been made subsequent to such date of transfer, credited to his new rating account. If the application is timely, the commission shall credit the positive balance to the employer's new rating account. If a positive balance is thus transferred to an employer's new account, notwithstanding any contrary provision of section 19 (a) (1), the employer shall not be deemed a "qualified employer" for the purposes of section 19 until he has again been subject to this act without having been terminated for a period of not less than 36 consecutive calendar months ending on a given computation date throughout which an individual, if unemployed and eligible, could have received benefits based on wages from such employer. This special limitation shall not apply if the commission finds that it is not necessary to assure continued certification of this act under the additional credit provisions of the federal unemployment tax act.

Solvency account; credits; appropriation for administration.

(f) (1) All moneys credited under section 903 of the federal social security act to the account of the state of Michigan in the federal unemployment trust fund shall immediately be credited by the commission to the fund's solvency account.

(2) There is authorized to be appropriated to the commission from the moneys credited to the solvency account under paragraph (1) of this subsection, sums found necessary for the proper and efficient administration by the commission of the provisions of this act and for purposes for which federal grants under Title III of the social security act and the Wagner-Peyser act are not available or are insufficient. Any such appropriation shall expire not more than 2 years from the date of enactment thereof and shall provide that any unexpended balance thereof shall then be credited to the solvency account.

(3) No appropriation shall be made under this subsection for an amount which exceeds the "adjusted balance" of the solvency account on the most recent computation date.

(4) Appropriations made under this subsection shall limit the total amount which may be obligated by the commission during a fiscal year to an amount which does not exceed the amount by which the aggregate of the amounts credited to the solvency account under paragraph (1) of this subsection during such fiscal year and the 14 preceding fiscal years, exceeds the aggregate of: (a) The amounts obligated by the commission pursuant to appropriation under this subsection and charged against the amounts thus credited to the solvency account during any of such 15 fiscal years and (b) any amounts credited to the solvency account which have been used for the payment of benefits.

421.18 Unemployment compensation; definition.

Sec. 18. As used in this act:

(a) "Computation date" means June 30 of each year. Until January 1, 1969, in an employer's second, third and fourth consecutive years of coverage as an employer subject to this act, "computation date" with respect to such employer's rating account means December 31 of such year.

(b) As applied to an employer's rating account or to the solvency account, the term "balance" means the initial balance of such account plus the credits thereto and minus the charges thereto which are made in accordance with this act. A "negative balance" in a rating account exists when its balance is a minus quantity. As applied to the fund, the term "balance" means the total moneys received by the fund, including contributions credited in accordance with subsection (d) of section 17 but excluding any advances made to the fund by the federal government under section 1201 of the federal social security act which have not been repaid to or recovered by the federal government and excluding any appropriation made by the legislature in accordance with section 903 (c) (2) of the federal social security act, as amended, minus all disbursements from the fund. As applied to the solvency account, the term "adjusted balance" means the balance of such account minus its contingent liabilities, namely, the amount of any advances made to the fund by the federal government under section 1201 of the social security act which have not been repaid to or recovered by the federal government and the total amount of all negative balances in employer rating accounts as of the most recent June 30.

(c) "Employer's rating account percentage" means the percentage figure arrived at by dividing the balance in his rating account as of a computation date by the total amount of wages (subject to contributions under this act) paid by him within the 12 months' period ending on such computation date. If all of the quarterly reports of wages and contributions due with respect to such period have not been filed by an employer, his contribution rate for the calendar year affected shall be not less than the highest contribution rate in the column of rates applicable to the particular calendar year. However, for his first 4 consecutive calendar years of liability such employer shall be assigned a rate of 2.7% for the calendar year affected, and his contribution rate shall include no emergency contribution, except that an employer whose contribution rate would otherwise be determined under the provisions of subsections 19 (a) (1) (I) or (II) shall be assigned a rate in accordance with the provisions of those subsections. An employer whose contribution rate has been determined under the provisions of this subsection is entitled to have his contribution rate redetermined if he files such reports not later than 15 days after the date of mailing of the notice of determination of contribution rate.

421.19 Employer's contribution rate; determination.

Sec. 19. (a) The commission shall determine the contribution rate of each employer for each calendar year after 1968 as follows:

Unqualified employer rate; construction industry; seasonal employers.

(1) Each employer's rate shall be 2.7% of the wages paid by him with respect to employment in each calendar year for purposes of this section, unless and until such employer becomes a "qualified employer" except that a qualified employer's contribution rate for the fourth consecutive calendar year of liability shall be determined under column (g) of the table contained in subsection (2) of this section and shall not be more than 2.7%. An employer shall become a "qualified employer" on the computation date which occurs during the third consecutive calendar year of liability, except as otherwise provided in section 17 (e). Consecutive calendar years of liability shall be deemed to exist if there has been no termination of liability in such years.

(I) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this act, and in view of the high risk of loss to the fund in such cases, any employing unit which becomes newly liable for contributions under this act in a calendar year in which it employs (not necessarily simultaneously) in any one week 25 or more individuals in the performance of a contract or subcontract for construction in the state of Michigan of roads, bridges, highways, public buildings, factories, housing developments, or similar construction projects, shall, unless such employing unit would have been required to pay contributions under subsection (1) of section 41 because of employment not directly and exclusively connected with any such project, be liable for contributions at the rate provided in the first line of the currently applicable column in the table of contribution rates in paragraph (2) of this subsection during his first 4 consecutive calendar years of liability.

(II) Notwithstanding any other provision of this act, an employer who immediately prior to the effective date of this 1965 amendatory act had seasonal status under section 21a, shall, for the sole purpose of computing contribution rates under the provisions of sections 17 to 20, be considered a newly liable employer as of January 1, 1966 with his rating account beginning on that date, except that such employer shall not be assigned a contribution rate for any of the years 1966, 1967 or 1968, lower than the rate provided on the first line of that column in the table of contribution rates in subsection (a) (2) of this section applicable to those employers who are qualified employers under subparagraph (I) of subsection (a) (1) of this section. Any employer's rating account established under this subparagraph (II) as beginning on January 1, 1966 shall be charged with all benefits otherwise chargeable to such employer under this act which are paid on and after January 1, 1966 irrespective of whether such benefits are based on wages paid prior to or on or after January 1, 1966. These provisions do not apply if, within 30 days of mailing by the commission of notification to the employer of the balance in his rating account as of June 30, 1965 and of the contribution rate that would be applicable to the calendar year 1966 on the basis of such balance and in accordance with the other provisions of this section, written application not to be considered a newly liable employer under this subsection is received from such employer. In such case he shall then be assigned a contribution rate for the year 1966 and subsequent years as determined under the provisions of section 17 to 20.

Qualified employer, rate.

(2) Each qualified employer's contribution rate for each calendar year shall be determined on the basis of his rating account percentage as of his applicable computation date and the adjusted balance of the solvency account as of June 30 of the calendar year containing such computation date. Each such employer's contribution rate shall be determined from the following table:

[This table is referred to in § 421.19(2)]

Employer subject to act for 84 months; rate.

(3) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, in the case of each employer who has been subject to this act throughout the 84 consecutive months ending on his applicable computation date and whose rating account percentage as of his applicable computation date was 6.5% or more and whose rating account balance as of such date was an amount equal to at least 20 times the largest amount of benefits charged to his account within any 12-month period ending on an applicable computation date within such 84-month period, such employer's contribution rate for the immediately following calendar year shall be the rate on the last line of the applicable column of the table in paragraph (2) of this subsection. This paragraph shall not apply to any employer as of a computation date if his wages subject to contributions paid within the 12 months ending on such computation date have increased by 25% or more over his wages subject to contributions paid within the 12 months ending on the next preceding computation date.

Contributions, account credited.

(4) With respect to any calendar year for which an employer's contribution rate is determined by column (g) of the table in paragraph (2) of this subsection, all contributions paid by the employer for such year shall be credited to his rating account. With respect to any calendar year for which an employer's contribution rate is determined by any other column of said table, that part of the employer's contribution payments for such year that would have been payable if his contribution rate had been determined under column (g) of said table shall be credited to his rating account; and the remainder is emergency contributions and shall be credited to the solvency account, and to the employer's memorandum account as provided in paragraph (5) of this subsection, but any such emergency contributions paid during July shall be credited to the solvency account and to the employer's memorandum account as of the immediately preceding June 30.

Memorandum account; charges, credits, transfers.

(5) The commission shall maintain a memorandum account, for each employer subject to this act who has paid any emergency contributions under this section. The commission shall credit to each employer's memorandum account all emergency contributions paid by him and shall charge to his memorandum account amounts equal to any amounts transferred to his rating account under this paragraph.

If, as the result of a transfer of business, the balance in an employer's rating account is transferred in whole or in part under section 22 of this act, the balance in such employer's memorandum account under this paragraph shall be transferred in the same manner and in the same proportion as his rating account.

If, as of June 30 of any calendar year after 1958, the adjusted balance of the solvency account exceeds $20,000,000.00 and there are some positive balances in memorandum accounts of employers currently subject to this act, part of such adjusted balance shall be applied, in the form of transfers from the solvency account to employer rating accounts, as reimbursement to employers currently subject to this act, of emergency contributions previously paid by them. The amount and method of making such transfers shall be as provided in the following subparagraphs of this paragraph:

(I) If the total of the positive balances in all memorandum accounts under this paragraph is $5,000,000.00 or less, the commission shall transfer from the solvency account to each employer's rating account an amount equal to the current positive balance in the employer's memorandum account.

(II) If the total of the positive balances in all such memorandum accounts is more than $5,000,000.00, the commission shall first transfer from the solvency account to the rating account of each employer whose memorandum account shows a positive balance of $50.00 or less an amount equal to such balance. The commission shall then subtract the amount thus transferred from $5,000,000.00. The remainder thus determined shall be transferred from the solvency account to the rating accounts of the remaining employers whose memorandum accounts have positive balances in amounts determined by applying to each such employer's memorandum account balance the same ratio (computed to hundredths of a percentum, with any remainder disregarded) as the remainder thus determined bears to the total of all remaining positive balances in employer's memorandum accounts.

(III) All transfers under this paragraph shall be reflected in employers' rating accounts as of December 31.

Deficiency contributions; liability, rate.

(6) If an employer's rating account shows a negative balance on any computation date after 1964 and his account has also shown a negative balance on 1 or more of the immediately preceding computation dates after 1963, such employer shall be liable to pay deficiency contributions on his wages paid subject to contributions within the next following calendar year: Provided, however, That an employer shall not be liable for a deficiency contribution for any of the first 4 years in which he is liable for contributions under this act. Such deficiency contributions, which shall be in addition to all other contributions required under the preceding provisions of this subsection, shall be credited to the employer's rating account and shall be at a rate determined in accordance with the following table.

If on the most recent computation date, the employer's rating account percentage is negative by:		And if the number of successive computation dates after 1963, including the most recent computation date, on which the employer's rating account has shown a negative balance is:

Excess payments to rating account.

(b) Any employer may at any time make payments to his rating account in the fund in excess of the requirements of this section; but such payments, when accepted by the commission, shall be irrevocable. Any such payment made by an employer within 30 days after mailing to him by the commission of a notice of his adjusted contribution rate shall be credited to his account as of the computation date for which such rate was computed, and his contribution rate shall be further adjusted accordingly: Provided, That any such payment made more than 120 days after the beginning of any calendar year shall not affect the employer's contribution rate for that year.

421.19a Employment security act; application to state and political subdivisions.

Sec. 19a. Notwithstanding any contrary provision of this act, the following provisions of this section shall apply to the state of Michigan and the political subdivisions thereof.

Any political subdivision of this state may by ordinance elect as provided in subsections (1) and (2) of section 25.

Service performed by an individual in the classified civil service of this state shall be employment subject to this act.

In lieu of the contributions required of employers by section 19, the state of Michigan and such of its political subdivisions as may elect to be subject to this act shall pay into the fund an amount equivalent to the amount of benefits paid and charged to their respective accounts.

The amount of payments required under this section into the fund shall be ascertained by the commission as soon as practicable after the end of each calendar quarter. The payments by the state and such of its political subdivisions as may elect to become subject to this act shall be made at such times and in such manner as the commission may prescribe.

The commission shall maintain a separate account in the fund for each department, commission or other budgetary unit of the government of this state. Payments made by the state to the unemployment fund under this section shall be charged to funds available for the payment of wages and salaries in each such department, commission or other budgetary unit, according to the amount of benefits charged to the rating account of each such budgetary unit.

HISTORY: Add. 1956, 1st Ex. Sess., p. 13, Act 9, Imd. Eff. Oct. 2;—Am. 1965, p. 494, Act 281, Eff. Sep. 5.

421.20 Benefits charged; multiemployer credit weeks.

Sec. 20. (a) Benefits paid shall be charged against the employer's rating account as of the quarter in which such payments are made. If the commission determines that any benefits paid and charged against an employer's rating account were improperly paid, an amount equal to the charge based on such benefits shall be credited to the employer's rating account and correspondingly charged to the solvency account as of the current period or, in the discretion of the commission, the credit to the employer's rating account may be made as of the date of the charge. Any such benefits paid to an individual as a result of an employer's failure to provide the commission with separation, employment and wage data as required by section 32 shall be considered as benefits properly paid to the extent that such benefits are chargeable to such noncomplying employer.

(b) Benefits paid to an individual shall be based upon the credit weeks earned during his base period and shall be charged against the rating accounts of the employers from whom he earned his credit weeks. If he earned credit weeks from more than 1 employer, a separate determination shall be made of the amount and duration of benefits based upon the total credit weeks and wages earned with each employer. Benefits paid in accordance with said determinations shall be charged against the rating account of the most recent employer first and thereafter as necessary against the rating accounts of other base period employers in inverse order to that in which the claimant earned his last credit week with such employers. If there is any disqualifying act or discharge under subsection 29 (1) with an employer, benefits based upon credit weeks earned from such employer prior to such disqualifying act or discharge shall be charged only after the exhaustion of charges as provided above. Benefits based upon such credit weeks shall be charged first against the rating account of the employer involved in the most recent such disqualifying act or discharge and thereafter as necessary in similar inverse order against the rating accounts of other base period employers involved in disqualifying acts or discharges. The order of charges determined as of the beginning date of a benefit year shall remain fixed during the benefit year.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (d), the charges to any employer's rating account shall not exceed the weekly benefit rate multiplied by $\frac{3}{4}$ the number of credit weeks earned by the individual during his base period from such employer. If the resultant product is not an even multiple of $\frac{1}{2}$ the weekly benefit rate, such amount shall be raised to an amount equal to the next higher multiple of $\frac{1}{2}$ the weekly benefit rate, and in the case of an individual who was employed by only 1 employer in his base period and who earned 34 credit weeks with such employer, such product shall be raised to the next higher multiple of the weekly benefit rate.

(d) (1) When an individual has multiemployer credit weeks in his base period, and when it becomes necessary to use such credit weeks as a basis for benefit payments, a single determination shall be made of the individual's weekly benefit rate and maximum amount of benefits based on his multiemployer credit weeks and his wages earned therein. Each employer involved in the individual's multiemployer credit weeks shall be an interested party to such determination. The proviso in subsection 29 (2) shall not be applicable to multiemployer credit weeks, nor shall the reduction provision of subsection 29 (4) apply to benefit entitlement based upon such credit weeks.

(2) The charge for benefits based on multiemployer credit weeks shall be allocated to each employer involved on the basis of the ratio that the total wages earned during the total multiemployer credit weeks counted under subsection 50 (b) with any such employer bears to the total amount of wages earned during the total multiemployer credit weeks counted under subsection 50 (b) with all such employers, computed to the nearest cent: Provided, That, if an adjusted weekly benefit rate is determined in accordance with subsection 27 (g), the charge to the employer who has contributed to the financing of the retirement plan shall be reduced by the same amount by which the weekly benefit rate was adjusted under subsection 27 (g).

(3) Benefits paid in accordance with the determination based on multiemployer credit weeks shall be allocated to each employer involved and charged as of the quarter in which such payments are made. Quarterly notice of charges made under this subsection shall specify the weeks for which benefits were paid based on multiemployer credit weeks, the amount of benefits paid for each such week, and the allocation of charges as provided in this subsection. Such notice shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of subsections 21 (a) and 32 (d) that notification be given each employer of benefits charged against his rating account by means of a copy of the benefit check, and all protest and appeal rights applicable to benefit check copies shall also be applicable to such notice of charges.

421.21 Benefits charged against rating account; notice, determination of charge.

Sec. 21. (a) The commission shall currently provide each employer with copies of the benefit checks charged against his rating account. Such copies shall show the name and social security account number of the payee, the amount paid, the date of issuance, the week of unemployment for which the check was issued, the name or account number of the chargeable employer, upon request a code designation of the place of employment by the chargeable employer, and such additional information as may be deemed pertinent, and such copies shall constitute a determination of the charge to the rating account. Such determination shall be final unless further proceedings are taken in accordance with section 32a of this act.

Quarterly statement summarizing total benefits.

The commission shall also furnish at least quarterly, to each employer a statement summarizing the total of such benefits charged against his rating account during the period. If the employer so requests, such summary shall be broken down by places of employment.

Notice of contribution rate, review, extension.

The commission shall also notify each employer, not later than 6 months following the computation date, of his rate of contributions as determined for any calendar year pursuant to section 19 of this act and any such statement or determination shall be final unless further proceedings are taken in accordance with the provisions of section 32a of this act: Provided, That on request an employer shall be given an extension of 15 days' additional time in which to apply for such review and redetermination.

Redetermination, appeal to referee.

(b) Any employer who is not in agreement with a redetermination of the amount of insured payrolls used in computing his rating account percentage, or the computation of the amount of benefits charged or contributions credited to his rating account, or the computation of his adjusted contribution rate issued under section 32a may, within 15 days after mailing of such notice of redetermination file an appeal and request a hearing on any such issue before a referee.

Adjustment of contribution rate.

(c) Any contribution becoming due and payable while a rate determination is under review or protest may be paid at the rate assessed by the commission for the previous year, but it shall be adjusted by the commission when the proper rate is determined: Provided, That where any such adjustment requires an additional payment from an employer, such additional payment shall be considered as a delinquent contribution as provided by subsection (a) of section 15 of this act.

421.21b Seamen on American vessel on Great Lakes; benefits; seamen, definition.

Sec. 21b. A seaman employed on an American vessel operating on the great lakes shall be entitled to benefits under this act. An offer of employment to a seaman need not be the individual's customary occupation under conditions of employment and remuneration substantially equivalent to those under which the individual has been customarily employed in such occupation.

The term "seaman" as used in this section shall mean an individual who is employed as an officer or member of a crew on an American vessel.

421.22 Transfer of business; effect on rating account.

Sec. 22. (a) If an employer subject to this act transfers subsequent to June 30, 1954, any of the assets of his business by any means otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade, such transfer shall be deemed a "transfer of business" for the purposes of this section if the commission determines:

(1) That the transferee is an employer subject to this act on the transfer date or has become so subject as of the transfer date under section 41 (2); or elects to become subject as of the transfer date under section 25, if the commission has been notified of the transfer of assets by the transferor or transferee within 30 days after the end of the quarter in which the transfer occurred, and provided the transferee makes such election within 15 days after the mailing of a notice of his right to elect; and

(2) That the transferee has acquired and used the transferor's trade name or good will, or that the transferee has continued or within 12 months after the transfer resumed all or part of the business of the transferor either in the same establishment or elsewhere.

(b) (1) In the case of a transfer of business as defined in subsection (a) of this section, the commission shall assign the transferor's rating account, or a pro rata part thereof, to the transferee. The commission shall make such assignment as of the date on which the business was transferred or as of June 30 of the year in which the business was transferred, whichever date is earlier. The pro rata part of the transferor's rating account to be assigned to the transferee shall be determined on the basis of the percentage relationship (to the nearest 1/2 of 1%) of the insured payroll for the 4 completed calendar quarters immediately prior to the date of transfer properly allocable to the transferred portion of the business, to the insured payroll for the same period allocable to the entire business of the transferor immediately prior to the date of the transfer.

(2) When the commission transfers an employer's rating account in whole or in part under this section, it shall also transfer a proportionate share of the amount of the wages (subject to contributions under this act) paid by the transferor and properly allocable to the transferred business; and such transferred account shall be liable to be charged for all benefit payments based on employment in the business or portion thereof transferred.

(3) In determining whether the transferee is a "qualified employer" under section 19 of this act, the experience of the transferred account shall be deemed to be part of the experience of the transferee's rating account. If on the date of the transfer the transferee was a "qualified employer" and the transferor was not a "qualified employer" because of the provisions of section 19 (a) (1) of this act, the transferee shall not thereby lose his status as a "qualified employer".

(c) In the case of a transfer of business as defined in subsection (a) of this section:

(1) The rates of contributions applicable to the transferor and transferee for calendar year subsequent to the calendar year containing transfer date shall be respectively determined in accordance with section 19. In case of a transfer of part of an employer's rating account under subsection (b) of this section, the rate of contributions applicable to the transferor and transferee shall not be changed for the portion of the current calendar year remaining on the transfer date. In case of a transfer of an employer's entire rating account under subsection (b) of this section: (a) the transferor shall have no further interest in the rating account, his coverage shall be terminated as of the effective date of the transfer under section 24 (b), and if he again becomes an employer as defined in section 41 in the same calendar year in which his coverage has been thus terminated his contribution rate for the remainder of the calendar year shall be 2.7% as provided in section 19; and (b) the rate of contributions applicable to the transferee shall not be changed for the portion of the current calendar year remaining on the transfer date.

(2) A transferee or transferees, having no rate of contributions applicable immediately prior to the transfer date, shall, beginning with the first day of the quarter in which the transfer occurs, be assigned the same rate of contributions which was applicable to the transferor on the date of the transfer and a contribution rate of 2.7% for any portion of the calendar year prior to the first day of the quarter in which the transfer occurs.

(3) Where transfers of businesses simultaneously involve 2 or more transferors and a single transferee who has no rate of contributions applicable immediately prior to the transfer date, such transferee shall be assigned a contribution rate beginning with the first day of the quarter in which the transfers occur based upon the rating account percentage determined by the transferred rating account balances and the insured payrolls properly allocable to the transferee as of the date on which the businesses were transferred, or as of June 30 of the year in which the businesses were transferred, whichever is earlier, and a contribution rate of 2.7% for any portion of the calendar year prior to the first day of the quarter in which the transfers occur. If none of the transferors was an employer entitled to an adjusted contribution rate, then a contribution rate of 2.7% shall apply to the transferee for the calendar year in which the transfers occur.

421.22a Interstate transfer of operations.

Sec. 22a. (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this act, an employer who transfers all or a segregable part of his operations from another state to this state for the purposes of this section shall be deemed to be a qualified employer within the meaning of subsection 19 (a) (1), as of the computation date applicable to the calendar year within which the transfer occurs, if

(a) He has paid wages subject to the federal unemployment tax act for 18 consecutive completed calendar quarters immediately preceding the computation date specified in the first paragraph of this section;

(b) Within 90 days of the transfer of operations, he notifies the commission thereof and requests a contribution rate under the provisions of subsection 19 (a) (1); and

(c) He certifies to the commission all information with respect to wages, contributions and benefit charges in connection with the transferred operations and any other information which the commission determines to be necessary.

(2) The employer has 15 days after receipt of notice of determination of contribution rate computed under subsection 19 (a) (1) within which to withdraw his request for application of the provisions of this section.

(3) The employer shall furnish to the commission at such times as the commission prescribes all information which the commission determines to be necessary with respect to those benefits paid, subsequent to the transfer and prior to each succeeding computation date, which were based on wages, applicable to the transferred operations, paid in such other state.

(4) Wages, contributions and benefits resulting in rating account charges in connection with the transferred operations shall be deemed to have been paid in this state for the purpose of computing rates under section 19. The employer's rating account balance applicable to the transferred operations prior to the transfer date shall be debited to the solvency account; and benefits subsequently paid based on wages, applicable to the transferred operations, which were paid in such other state shall be charged to the employer's rating account and credited to the solvency account.

421.23 Coverage of employer; period.

421.24 Employing unit ceasing to be employer.

Sec. 24. Except as otherwise provided in section 25, an employing unit shall cease to be an employer subject to this act as provided in this section:

Application for termination of coverage.

(a) If an employing unit which became liable under subsections (1), (2) or (3) of section 41 makes written application for termination of its coverage under this act, the commission shall issue a determination granting or denying such application. The commission shall grant such application terminating coverage effective as of the last day of the calendar quarter in which the application was received by the commission if it finds that such employing unit did not have 20 different weeks in which it had 1 or more individuals in employment and did not have total remuneration of $1,000.00 or more for employment during the preceding calendar year and during the current calendar year, up to the last day of the calendar quarter in which the application was received. If the employing unit requesting termination became an employer under the provisions of subsection (2) of section 41 in the preceding calendar year, then the individuals in the employ of any predecessor or predecessors in a chain of successorship shall be considered as if they were employees of the requesting employing unit for the purpose of determining the number of weeks during which 1 or more individuals performed services in employment and in determining total remuneration for employment during such preceding calendar year. If an employing unit liable solely under subsection (5) of section 41 makes written application for termination of its coverage under this act, the commission shall grant such application terminating coverage effective as of the last day of the calendar quarter in which the application was received by the commission if it finds that such employing unit ceased to have employment in Michigan during the calendar year preceding the receipt of the application for termination and had no employment in Michigan during the current calendar year, up to the last day of the calendar quarter in which the application was received. Any employer whose application for termination of coverage is denied may request a redetermination in accordance with the provisions of section 32a.

Termination of coverage, date.

(b) The commission shall terminate the coverage of any employing unit as of the effective date on which such employing unit's entire rating account is transferred to another employer under section 22.

Termination by commission; rescission.

(c) (1) The commission may issue a determination terminating the coverage of any employing unit as of January 1 of any calendar year if it finds that such employing unit ceased to exist during the preceding calendar year or met the requirements for termination as specified in subsection (a). The determination shall be mailed by certified or registered mail to the last known address of the employing unit involved.

(2) The commission may so terminate the coverage of an employing unit as of January first of any previous calendar year with respect to which it makes the foregoing findings, provided the employing unit has not been previously determined to have been an employer with respect to that specific year.

(3) The commission shall rescind its determination terminating the coverage of any employing unit under this subsection if it has received written objection to such determination from the employing unit within 15 days after the date of mailing by the commission.

421.25 Election under act; liability for contributions; termination of election by commission.

Sec. 25. (1) Any employing unit for which services that do not constitute employment as defined in this act are performed may file with the commission a written election that all such services performed by individuals in its employ in 1 or more distinct establishments or places of business shall be deemed to constitute employment for all the purposes of this act for not less than 2 calendar years. Upon the written approval of such election by the commission, such services shall be deemed to constitute employment subject to this act from and after the date stated in such approval. Such services shall cease to be deemed employment subject hereto as of the last day of any calendar quarter subsequent to such 2 calendar years, if, during such calendar quarter such employing unit has filed with the commission a written request for termination of coverage.

(2) Any employing unit for which services that constitute employment are performed, not otherwise subject to this act, which files with the commission its written election to become an employer subject hereto for not less than 2 calendar years, shall, with the written approval of such election by the commission, become an employer subject hereto to the same extent as all other employers, as of the date stated in such approval, and shall cease to be subject hereto as of the last day of any calendar quarter subsequent to such 2 calendar years, if, during such calendar quarter, it has filed with the commission a written request for termination of coverage.

(3) If on any "computation date" as defined in section 18 of this act, the cumulated total contributions paid by an employer who is or has been subject to this act solely by voluntary election under any section hereof are exceeded by the cumulated total of the benefits charged to his rating account, he shall not be liable for any contribution in excess of the maximum contribution provided under section 19 of this act. The provision of this paragraph shall include and apply to all employers who have heretofore become liable for contributions in excess of said maximum amount under the provisions of section 25 of Act No. 197 of the Public Acts of 1954.

(4) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (1), (2) and (3) of this section, the commission may at any time terminate an election by giving written notification to the employing unit involved.

421.26 Unemployment compensation fund; establishment.

Sec. 26. (a) There is hereby established as a special fund, separate and apart from all public moneys or funds of this state, an unemployment compensation fund, herein referred to as the fund, which shall be administered by the commission exclusively for the purposes of this act. Such fund shall consist of (1) all contributions collected under the provisions of this act; (2) interest earned upon any moneys in the fund; (3) any property or securities acquired through the use of moneys belonging to the fund; (4) all earnings of such property or securities; and (5) any other moneys received by the commission for unemployment compensation, except interest, penalties and damages collected under the provisions of this act. All moneys in the fund shall be mingled and undivided.

Treasurer; clearing account, unemployment trust fund account, benefit account.

(b) The commission shall designate a treasurer and custodian of the fund who shall administer such fund in accordance with the directions of the commission and shall issue his vouchers upon it in accordance with such regulations as the commission shall prescribe. He shall maintain within the fund 3 separate accounts: (1) a clearing account, (2) an unemployment trust fund account, and (3) a benefit account. All moneys payable to the fund, upon receipt thereof by the commission, shall be forwarded to the treasurer who shall immediately deposit them in the clearing account. Refunds payable pursuant to section 16 of this act may be paid from the clearing account upon vouchers issued by the treasurer under the direction of the commission. After clearance thereof, all other moneys in the clearing account, except amounts needed for refunds and judgments, shall be immediately deposited with the secretary of the treasury of the United States of America to the credit of the account of this state in the unemployment trust fund, established and maintained pursuant to section 904 of the social security act, as amended. The benefit account shall consist of all moneys requisitioned from this state's account in the unemployment trust fund. Except as herein otherwise provided, moneys in the clearing and benefit accounts may be deposited by the treasurer, under the direction of the commission, in any depository designated by the commission.

Unemployment trust fund, requisitions for benefit account, administration fund.

(c) (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) of this subsection, money shall be requisitioned from this state's account in the unemployment trust fund solely for the payment of benefits and in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commission.

The commission shall from time to time requisition from the unemployment trust fund such amounts, not exceeding the amounts standing to its account therein, as it deems necessary for the payment of benefits for a reasonable future period. Upon receipt thereof the treasurer shall deposit such moneys in the benefit account and shall issue his vouchers for the payment of benefits solely from such benefit account. All vouchers issued by the treasurer for the payment of benefits and refunds shall bear the signature of the treasurer and the counter-signature of a member of the commission or its duly authorized agent for that purpose. Any balance of moneys requisitioned from the unemployment trust fund which remains unclaimed or unpaid in the benefit account after the expiration of the period for which such sums were requisitioned shall either be deducted from estimates for, and may be utilized for the payment of, benefits during succeeding periods, or, in the discretion of the commission, shall be redeposited with the secretary of the treasury of the United States of America, to the credit of this state's account in the unemployment trust fund, as provided in subsection (b) of this section.

(2) The commission may requisition from this state's account in the unemployment trust fund such amounts, or portions thereof, as have been specifically appropriated by the legislature for the administration of this act in accordance with the provisions of section 903 (c) (2) of the federal social security act, as amended. Upon receipt of such moneys, the treasurer shall deposit them in the administration fund, but such moneys shall remain a part of the unemployment compensation fund until expended.

Management of funds upon discontinuance of unemployment trust fund.

(d) The provisions of subsections (a), (b), and (c) to the extent that they relate to the unemployment trust fund, shall be operative only so long as such unemployment trust fund continues to exist and so long as the secretary of the treasury of the United States of America continues to maintain for this state a separate account of all funds deposited therein by this state for benefit purposes, together with this state's proportionate share of the earnings of such unemployment trust fund, from which no other state is permitted to make withdrawals. If and when such unemployment trust fund ceases to exist, or such separate account is no longer maintained, all moneys, properties, or securities therein, belonging to the unemployment compensation fund of this state shall be transferred to the treasurer of the unemployment compensation fund, who shall hold, invest, transfer, sell, deposit, and release such moneys, properties, or securities in a manner approved by the commission, in bonds or other interest-bearing obligations of the United States of America or of the state of Michigan. Such investment shall be so made that all the assets of the fund shall be readily convertible into cash when needed for the payment of benefits. The treasurer shall dispose of securities or other properties belonging to the unemployment compensation fund only under the direction of the commission.

Audit.

(e) The unemployment compensation fund shall be audited by the auditor general at such times as shall be requested by the state administrative board.

Assistant treasurer, duties.

(f) The commission may designate an assistant treasurer who, in the absence of the treasurer and custodian as designated by the commission under the authority conferred upon it under section 26(b), shall be authorized to perform such duties as are conferred upon the treasurer and custodian under the provisions of this act.

Advance or grant of funds, agreement; repayment.

(g) The commission is hereby authorized to enter into such agreement as may be necessary to secure any advance or grant of funds by the secretary of the treasury of the United States in accordance with the authority extended under section 1201 of the social security act as amended, or under any other act of congress extending such authority.

Any amount transferred to the unemployment trust fund by the secretary of the treasury of the United States under the terms of any agreement entered into in accordance with the authority extended in this subsection, shall be repaid to the secretary of the treasury of the United States for the unemployment trust fund.

(1a) Subject to the provisions of subsection (g) of this section, the weekly benefit rate for each individual whose average weekly wage, determined in accordance with the provisions of section 51, is more than the largest amount in the applicable column of the table in paragraph (1) of this subsection shall be 55% of such average weekly wage, adjusted to the next higher multiple of $1.00, except that such an individual's weekly benefit rate shall not exceed the maximum weekly benefit rate for the individual's family class shown in the following table:

If the individual is assigned to:	His weekly benefit rate shall not exceed:
Family Class "A"	$53.00
Family Class "B"	57.00
Family Class "C"	63.00
Family Class "D"	73.00
Family Class "E"	81.00
Family Class "F"	87.00

Family class, determination.

(2) The family class to which an individual is assigned shall be determined with respect to the individual's status as of the first day on which such individual files an application for benefits with respect to any benefit year in accordance with the following schedule:

Family Class "A"—An individual who has no dependents.

Family Class "B"—An individual who has 1 dependent other than a child.

Family Class "C"—An individual who has 1 child, or 2 dependents other than a child.

Family Class "D"—An individual who has 2 children, or 1 child and 1 dependent other than a child, or 3 dependents other than a child.

Family Class "E"—An individual who has 3 children, or 2 children and 1 dependent other than a child, or 1 child and 2 dependents other than a child, or 4 dependents other than a child.

Family Class "F"—An individual who has 4 or more children, or 3 children and 1 or more dependents other than a child, or 2 children and 2 or more dependents other than a child, or 1 child and 3 or more dependents other than a child, or 5 or more dependents other than a child.

Dependents.

(3) A dependent means any of the following persons who, as of the beginning date of the current benefit year of an individual claiming benefits under this act, is receiving and for at least 90 consecutive days immediately preceding (or, in the case of a dependent husband, wife or child, for the duration of the marital or parental relationship, if the relationship has existed less than such 90 days) has received more than half the cost of his or her support from the individual claiming benefits.

(a) A child (including stepchild, adopted child or grandchild) of such individual who is as of the beginning date of the individual's current benefit year, under 18 years of age (or 18 years of age and over if, because of physical or mental infirmity, such child is unable to engage in any gainful occupation);

(b) The husband or wife of such individual: Provided, That such husband or wife earned less than $21.00 remuneration during the week prior to the beginning date of the current benefit year of the individual claiming benefits;

(c) The legal father or mother of such individual if as of the beginning date of such individual's current benefit year such parent is either more than 65 years of age or is permanently disabled from engaging in any gainful occupation;

(d) A brother or sister of such individual if as of the beginning date of such individual's current benefit year (1) such brother or sister is orphaned or the living parents are dependent parents of an individual, and (2) such brother or sister is under 18 years of age (or 18 years of age and over if, because of physical or mental infirmity, such brother or sister is unable to engage in any gainful occupation).

Family class, dependent applying for benefits.

(4) If an individual is assigned for a benefit year to a family class by reason of having 1 or more dependents, and any of such dependents files application for benefits prior to the expiration of the benefit year, such dependent shall be assigned to family class "A".

Family class, redetermination; dependency status nontransferable.

(5) An individual shall be assigned to a family class only as of the first day on which such individual files an application for benefits with respect to any benefit year; and once determined, his family class shall remain fixed during the benefit year: Provided, however, That failure on the part of an individual, due to misinformation or lack of information, to furnish all information material for determination of his family class when he first files an application with respect to any benefit year, shall be deemed good cause for the issuance of a redetermination, effective as of the benefit year beginning date, as to the amount of benefits based on his family class as of the benefit year beginning date. Dependency status of any dependent, child or otherwise, once having been established or fixed in favor of one person, shall not be transferable to or used by any other person during a benefit year.

Consumer's price index changes, report.

(b-1) A basic purpose of this act is to lighten the burden of involuntary unemployment on the unemployed worker and his family. In view of this, the maximum weekly benefit rates under subsection (b) of this section are related to the cost of the necessities of life for the various family classes recognized in said subsection. At the same time, the legislature has concluded that the maximum weekly benefit rates established in said subsection by this amendatory act will finance the most favorable standard of living consistent with maintaining for unemployed individuals generally a proper incentive to seek and accept new work. In order to maintain this optimum relationship between maximum weekly benefit rates and the standard of living of the unemployed individual, the maximum weekly benefit rates established by this amendatory act shall be reviewed annually. The commission shall annually, not later than February 28, compare the United States department of labor's consumers' price index for the preceding December with the corresponding United States department of labor's consumers' price index for the base month. The base month, as used in this paragraph, means the month of December preceding the most recent calendar year in which an adjustment of maximum weekly benefit rates is made. If in any calendar year the United States department of labor's consumers' price index for the preceding December has increased or decreased as compared to the base month, the commission shall determine the percentage of such increase or such decrease. The commission shall then multiply the maximum weekly benefit rate for each family class by this percentage. If the product thus obtained is $1.00, or more, the commission shall forthwith report such fact to the governor, the legislature and the Michigan employment security advisory council.

Benefits; waiting period; night shifts; after period of unemployment.

(c) (1) Subject to the provisions of subsection (g) of this section, and of paragraph (2) of this subsection, each eligible individual shall be paid his weekly benefit rate with respect to the week for which he earns or receives no remuneration or remuneration equal to less than $\frac{1}{2}$ his weekly benefit rate, or shall be paid $\frac{1}{2}$ his weekly benefit rate with respect to the week for which he earns or receives remuneration equal to at least $\frac{1}{2}$ but less than his weekly benefit rate. Notwithstanding the definition of week as contained in section 50, if within 2 consecutive weeks in which an individual was not unemployed within the meaning of section 48 there was a period of 7 or more consecutive days for which he earned or received no remuneration, such period shall be considered a week for waiting period or benefit purposes under this act, if a claim for benefits for such period is filed not later than 30 days subsequent to the end of the period. All remuneration for work performed during a shift which terminates on 1 day but which began on the day preceding, shall be deemed to have been earned on such preceding day.

(2) When an individual has had a period of unemployment: (i) For which he has been paid benefits for 1 or more weeks or has received credit for a waiting week, (ii) which commenced with a layoff by an employing unit that continued with such employing unit for more than 3 weeks, and (iii) which has been terminated by his accepting and engaging in full-time work with any employing unit within the 13 weeks immediately following his last week of employment with such employing unit, such individual shall be paid, for the most recent week in such period for which benefits are payable or were paid to him or for which he was entitled to credit for a waiting week, an amount equal to his currently applicable weekly benefit rate in addition to any benefits otherwise payable or paid to him for such week. Benefits shall be payable under this paragraph only for 1 week in an individual's benefit year and only to the extent that the individual is otherwise entitled to benefits under subsection (d) of this section. An individual shall be deemed to be engaged in full-time work for an employing unit if he has earned with such employing unit within any period of 7 consecutive days commencing within such 13 week period an amount equal to his currently applicable weekly benefit rate. To be eligible for benefits under this subsection, an individual shall file therefor within 13 calendar weeks after the end of the week for which benefits are payable in accordance with this subsection.

Benefits, amount, maximum.

(d) (1) Subject to the provisions of subsection (g) of this section and paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subsection, the amount of benefits to which an individual who is otherwise eligible shall be entitled during any one benefit year from an employer with respect to employment during the base period, is the amount obtained by multiplying the weekly benefit rate with respect to such employment by $\frac{3}{4}$ of the number of credit weeks earned in such employment. (2) For the purpose of this subsection and subsection 20 (c), should the resultant product not be an even multiple of $\frac{1}{2}$ the weekly benefit rate, such product shall be raised to an amount equal to the next higher multiple of $\frac{1}{2}$ the weekly benefit rate, and, in the case of an individual who was employed by only 1 employer in his base period and who earned 34 credit weeks with such employer, such product shall be raised to the next higher multiple of the weekly benefit rate. The maximum amount of benefits payable to an individual, within a benefit year, with respect to employment by an employer shall not exceed 26 times the weekly benefit rate with respect to such employment. (3) The maximum amount of benefits payable to an individual within a benefit year shall not exceed the amount to which he would be entitled for 26 weeks of unemployment for each of which he earned or received no remuneration. The limitation of total benefits set forth in this paragraph shall not apply to claimants declared eligible for training benefits in accordance with subsection (k) of this section.

Death or mental incompetency of claimant, disposition of benefits.

(e) Whenever a claimant shall die, or be judicially declared insane, or mentally incompetent, any unemployment compensation benefits accrued and payable to such person for weeks of unemployment prior to his death, insanity or incompetency, but not paid him, shall by operation of this section become due and payable to such person as appears to the commission after investigation to be the legal heir or guardian of such person, or to any other person found by the commission to be equitably entitled to the benefits by reason of having incurred expense in behalf of said claimant for his burial or other necessary expenses.

Veterans.

(f) (1) Notwithstanding any inconsistent provisions of this act the benefit rights of veterans shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of this subsection for the period and with respect to the matters specified herein. Except as herein otherwise provided, all the other provisions of this act shall continue to be applicable in connection with such benefits.

(2) The term "military service" as used in this subsection means active service in the land or naval or air forces of the United States.

(3) The term "veteran" as used in this subsection means an individual who completed a period of military service after June 24, 1950, who continued in service for not less than 90 consecutive days and whose military service was terminated with a discharge, other than dishonorable.

(4) With respect to any veteran, the first benefit year following the termination of his military service shall be the 52 consecutive calendar weeks immediately following the calendar week in which such termination occurred: Provided, That such benefit year shall be cancelled as soon as the veteran is able to establish a benefit year with respect to which he would be entitled to not less than 26 weeks of benefits without assistance of this subsection.

(5) With respect to a veteran's benefit year established as provided in paragraph (4) of this subsection, the base period shall be the period of 52 consecutive calendar weeks immediately preceding the calendar week in which the veteran entered military service. A veteran shall be eligible for benefits during such benefit year only if he has had 14 or more weeks of employment in the base period applicable thereto, in each of which he earned in excess of $25.00 in wages from employers. The weekly benefit rate and the maximum limitation on total benefits shall otherwise be computed in accordance with the provisions of subsections (b) and (d) of this section; and benefits paid during such a benefit year shall be charged to employers' rating accounts in accordance with section 20 of this act.

(6) The veteran shall be subject to the provisions of sections 28 and 29 of this act. In addition, no veteran shall be eligible to receive benefits based on employment by an employer with respect to which he has reemployment rights under the federal selective service act unless and until he has made application for reemployment by such employer in accordance with the provisions of said act.

Retired persons.

(g) (1) Notwithstanding any inconsistent provisions of this act, the weekly benefit rate of each individual who is receiving or will receive a "retirement benefit" (as defined in paragraph (4) of this subsection) shall be adjusted as provided below in subparagraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this paragraph. Except as herein otherwise provided, all the other provisions of this act shall continue to be applicable in connection with the benefit claims of such retired persons.

(a) If and to the extent that unemployment benefits payable to him under this act would be chargeable to an employer who has contributed to the financing of a retirement plan under which the claimant is receiving or will receive a retirement benefit yielding a pro rata weekly amount equal to or larger than his weekly benefit rate as otherwise established under this act, the claimant shall not receive any unemployment benefits which would be chargeable to said employer under this act.

(b) If and to the extent that unemployment benefits payable to him under this act would be chargeable to an employer who has contributed to the financing of a retirement plan under which the claimant is receiving or will receive a retirement benefit yielding a pro rata weekly amount less than his weekly benefit rate as otherwise established under this act, then the weekly benefit rate otherwise payable to the claimant and chargeable to said employer under this act shall be reduced by an amount equal to the pro rata weekly amount (adjusted to the next lower multiple of $1.00) which he is receiving or will receive as such retirement benefit.

(c) If the unemployment benefit payable to him under this act would be chargeable to an employer who has not contributed to the financing of a retirement plan under which the claimant is receiving or will receive a retirement benefit, then the weekly benefit rate of such claimant as otherwise established under this act shall not be reduced because of the receipt by him of such retirement benefit.

(d) If the unemployment benefit payable to him under this act is computed on the basis of multiemployer credit weeks and a portion of such benefit is allocable under subsection 20 (d) to an employer who has contributed to the financing of a retirement plan under which the claimant is receiving or will receive a retirement benefit, the adjustments required by subsections (a) or (b) above shall be applied only to that portion of the weekly benefit rate which would otherwise be allocable and chargeable to such employer.

(2) If an individual's weekly benefit rate under this act had been established before the period for which he first receives a retirement benefit, any benefits he may receive after a retirement benefit becomes payable shall be determined in accordance with the formula above stated.

(3) Whenever necessary to assure prompt payment of benefits, the commission shall determine the pro rata weekly amount yielded by an individual's retirement benefit based on the best information currently available to it. In the absence of fraud, such determination shall not be reconsidered unless it is established that the individual's actual retirement benefit in fact differs from the amount determined by $2.00 or more per week; and such reconsideration shall apply only to such benefits as may be claimed after the information on which such reconsideration is based was received by the commission.

(4) As used in this subsection, the term "retirement benefit" means a benefit (or annuity or pension of any type) which is:

(a) Provided as an incident of employment under an established retirement plan (or policy or agreement), except federal social security; and

(b) Payable to an individual because he has qualified on the basis of attained age or length of service or disability, whether or not the individual has retired or has been retired from his employment: Provided, That amounts paid to individuals in the course of liquidation of a private pension or retirement fund because of termination of the business or of a plant or department of the business of the employer involved shall not be deemed to be retirement benefits.

Minor students below college level, credit week.

(h) Notwithstanding section 50 of this act, no week shall be a credit week for an individual if he is or was a minor student regularly attending either a public or a private school below the college level and such individual's employment during such week was: (a) less than the scheduled hours he would have worked in the department or establishment in which the employment occurred if he were not a student, or (b) within the customary vacation days or vacation periods of his school following which he actually returns to school, or (c) with an employer as a formal and accredited part of the regular curriculum of his school.

College level students.

(i) The denial of credit weeks to minor students provided in subsection (h) shall also apply to students of any age at the college level, but only when the student's employment is a formal and accredited part of the regular curriculum of his school.

Band and orchestra members.

(j) Notwithstanding section 50 of this act, no week shall be a credit week for an individual based on earnings for service performed as a member of a band or orchestra if such service does not represent the principal occupation of such individual.

Vocational students, benefits; account to be charged.

(k) Notwithstanding any other provision of this act, an individual pursuing vocational training or retraining pursuant to subsection 28 (2) who has exhausted all benefits available to him under subsection 27 (d) may be paid, for each week of approved vocational training pursued beyond the date of exhaustion, a benefit amount in accordance with subsection 27 (c), but not in excess of his most recent weekly benefit rate. However, in no case may an individual be paid training benefits totaling more than 18 times his most recent weekly benefit rate. The expiration or termination of a benefit year shall not stop or interrupt payment of training benefits if the training for which such benefits were granted was begun prior to expiration or termination of such benefit year. No employer's rating account shall be charged with training benefits paid under the provisions of this subsection.

Accrued benefits, maximum period of payment.

(l) A payment of accrued unemployment benefits shall not be made to any eligible individual, or in behalf of such individual as provided in subsection (e) of this section, more than 6 years after the ending date of the benefit year covering such payment or 2 calendar years after the calendar year in which there is final disposition of a contested case, whichever is later.

Section provided for offset of amounts collected under workmen's compensation act.

421.28 Eligibility for benefits.

Sec. 28. (1) An unemployed individual shall be eligible to receive benefits with respect to any week only if the commission finds that:

Registration for work; report at unemployment office; waiver.

(a) He has registered for work at and thereafter has continued to report at an employment office in accordance with such regulations as the commission may prescribe and is seeking work. (1) The requirements that the individual must register for work and must seek work may be waived by the commission if the individual is laid off and the employer who laid him off notifies the commission in writing that the layoff is temporary and that work is expected to be available for the individual within a declared number of days, not to exceed 45 calendar days following the last day the individual worked. Such waiver shall not be effective unless the notification from the employer has been received by the commission before the individual has completed his waiting week or first compensable week following his layoff. If the individual is not recalled within the specified period, such waiver shall cease to be operative with respect to such layoff. (2) Except for period of disqualification, the requirement that the individual shall seek work may be waived by the commission where it finds that suitable work is unavailable both in the locality where the individual resides and in those localities in which the individual has earned base period credit weeks.

Claim for benefits.

(b) He has made a claim for benefits in accordance with the provisions of section 32.

Ability and availability to perform full-time work; ineligibility due to pregnancy.

(c) He is able and available to perform full-time work of a character which he is qualified to perform by past experience or training, and of a character generally similar to work for which he has previously received wages, and he is available for such work, full time, either at a locality at which he earned wages for insured work during his base period or at a locality where it is found by the commission that such work is available. However, a pregnant woman shall be ineligible to receive benefits for any week within the period beginning with the tenth calendar week before expected confinement, as determined by a physician, and extending through the sixth calendar week following the termination of pregnancy.

Waiting period, payment of benefit.

(d) Within each benefit year and prior to the first period with respect to which he claims benefits for unemployment in such benefit year, he must have served a waiting period of 1 week of unemployment in which he was eligible for, and entitled to, benefits in all other respects: Provided, That this requirement shall not interrupt the payment of benefits for consecutive weeks of unemployment nor prevent the payment of benefits as provided in subsection 27 (c) (2).

Vocational training, authorization; waiver.

(2) The commission may authorize an individual with an unexpired benefit year to pursue vocational training or retraining only if the commission finds that:

(a) Reasonable opportunities for employment, in occupations for which the individual is fitted by training and experience, do not exist in the locality in which he is claiming benefits.

(b) The vocational training course relates to an occupation or skill for which there are, or are expected to be in the immediate future, reasonable employment opportunities.

(c) The training course has been approved by a local advisory council on which both management and labor are represented, or if there is no local advisory council, by the commission.

(d) The individual has the required qualifications and aptitudes to complete the course successfully.

(e) The vocational training course has been approved by the state board of education and is maintained by a public or private school or by the commission.

For each week that the commission finds that an individual who is claiming benefits under this act is satisfactorily pursuing an approved course of vocational training, it may waive the requirements that he be available for work and be seeking work as prescribed in subsections (1) (a) and (1) (c) of this section, and it may find good cause for his failure to apply for suitable work, report to a former employer for an interview concerning suitable work, or accept suitable work as required in subsections 29 (1) (c), 29 (1) (d) and 29 (1) (e).

421.29 Disqualification for benefits.

Sec. 29. (1) An individual shall be disqualified for benefits in all cases in which he:

(a) Has left his work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the employer or employing unit, or

(b) Has been discharged for misconduct connected with his work, whether or not such discharge has subsequently been reduced to a disciplinary lay off or suspension, or for intoxication while at work, or

(c) Has failed without good cause to apply for available suitable work of which he has been notified by the employment office or the commission, or

(d) Being unemployed has failed without good cause to report to his former employer or employing unit within a reasonable time after notice from said employer or employing unit for an interview concerning available suitable work with said former employer or employing unit, or

(e) Has failed without good cause to accept suitable work when offered him, or to return to his customary self employment, if any, when so directed by the employment office or the commission, or

(f) Has lost his job by reason of being absent from work as a result of a violation of law for which he has been convicted, and sentenced to jail or prison: Provided, however, That this paragraph (f) shall not apply if such conviction of any person results in a sentence to a county jail under conditions of day parole as provided in Act No. 60 of the Public Acts of 1962, being sections 801.251 to 801.258 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, or when the conviction has been for a traffic violation that has resulted in an absence of less than 10 consecutive work days from his place of employment, or

(g) Is discharged, whether or not such discharge is subsequently reduced to a disciplinary lay off or suspension, for:

(I) Participation in a strike or other concerted action resulting in any curtailment of work or restriction of or interference with production, contrary to the provisions of an applicable collective bargaining agreement, or

(II) Participation in a wildcat strike or other concerted action not authorized by the individual's recognized bargaining representative, or

(h) Has been discharged for an act of assault, theft or sabotage connected with his work.

Start of disqualification period; waiting week credit; payments, exceptions.

(2) Any disqualification provided in subsection 29 (1) shall begin with the week in which the act or discharge occurred which caused the disqualification and shall continue until the disqualified individual requalifies under subsection 29 (3): Provided, That, except with respect to multiemployer credit weeks, the disqualification shall not prevent the granting of waiting week credit nor the payment of benefits if there are credit weeks subsequent to the most recent disqualifying act or discharge.

Requalifying weeks.

(3) An individual who is disqualified under subsection 29 (1) shall, subsequent to the week in which the disqualifying act or discharge occurred, complete 6 requalifying weeks (12 if disqualified under paragraph 29 (1) (h)) for each of which he either

(a) Earns or receives remuneration in excess of $25.00, or

(b) Would otherwise meet all of the requirements of this act to receive a waiting period credit or a benefit payment if he were not disqualified under subsection 29 (1), or

(c) Receives waiting week credit or a benefit payment based on credit weeks subsequent to the disqualifying act or discharge.

Individual's maximum benefits; reduction.

(4) Subject to the conditions hereinafter provided in this subsection, an individual's maximum amount of benefits otherwise available to him, under subsection 27 (d) of this act, based on wages earned prior to an act or discharge with the employer involved therein as the result of which the individual has been disqualified under subsection 29 (1), except those benefits based upon multiemployer credit weeks, shall be reduced by an amount equal to the individual's weekly benefit rate as to such employer multiplied by the number of requalifying weeks required of him under this subsection or multiplied by the number of weeks of benefit entitlement remaining with such employer, whichever is less, subject, however, to the following conditions: If the individual has no potential benefit entitlement remaining with such employer in the benefit year in existence on the date of the disqualifying determination, such reduction shall be applicable in a succeeding benefit year with respect to any benefit entitlement based upon credit weeks earned with the employer involved in the disqualification prior to the disqualifying act or discharge.

Permanent full-time work with another employer.

(5) If an individual leaves his work to accept permanent full-time work with another employer, and performs services for such employer, or to accept a recall from a former employer, the disqualification provisions of subsection 29 (1) shall not apply to said leaving; but the wages earned with the employer that he last left, including wages previously transferred under this provision to such last employer, shall, for the purpose of computing and charging benefits, be deemed wages earned from the employer with whom the individual accepted such work or recall, and any benefits paid based upon such wages, shall be charged to such employer. When issuing any determination covering said period of employment, the commission shall advise the chargeable employer of the name and address of the other employer, the period covered by said employment, and the extent of the benefits which may be charged to the rating account of the chargeable employer.

Suitable work.

(6) In determining whether or not any work is suitable for an individual, the commission shall consider the degree of risk involved to his health, safety and morals, his physical fitness and prior training, his experience and prior earnings, his length of unemployment and prospects for securing local work in his customary occupation, and the distance of the available work from his residence.

Unsuitable work.

(7) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this act, no work shall be deemed suitable and benefits shall not be denied under this act to any otherwise eligible individual for refusing to accept new work under any of the following conditions: (a) If the position offered is vacant due directly to a strike, lockout or other labor dispute; (b) if the remuneration, hours or other conditions of the work offered are substantially less favorable to the individual than those prevailing for similar work in the locality; (c) if as a condition of being employed the individual would be required to join a company union or to resign from or refrain from joining any bona fide labor organization.

Labor disputes.

(8) An individual shall be disqualified for benefits for any week with respect to which his total or partial unemployment is due to a labor dispute in active progress, or to shut-down or start-up operations caused by such labor dispute, in the establishment in which he is or was last employed, or to a labor dispute (other than a lockout) in active progress, or to shut-down or start-up operations caused by such labor dispute, in any other establishment within the United States which is functionally integrated with such establishment and is operated by the same employing unit. No individual shall be disqualified under this subsection 29 (8) if he is not directly involved in such dispute.

Criteria of determining involvement.

(a) For the purposes of this subsection 29 (8), no individual shall be deemed to be directly involved in a labor dispute unless it is established that:

(I) At the time or in the course of a labor dispute in the establishment in which he was then employed, he shall in concert with 1 or more other employees have voluntarily stopped working other than at the direction of his employing unit, or

(II) He is participating in or financing or directly interested in the labor dispute which causes his total or partial unemployment. The payment of regular union dues (in amounts and for purposes established prior to the inception of such labor dispute) shall not be construed as financing a labor dispute within the meaning of this subparagraph, or

(III) At any time, there being no labor dispute in the establishment or department in which he was employed, he shall have voluntarily stopped working, other than at the direction of his employing unit, in sympathy with employees in some other establishment or department in which a labor dispute was then in progress, or

(IV) His total or partial unemployment is due to a labor dispute which was or is in progress in any department or unit or group of workers in the same establishment.

Directly interested, reasonable expectation, defined.

(b) The term "directly interested" as used in this subsection 29 (8) shall be construed and applied so as not to disqualify individuals unemployed as a result of a labor dispute the resolution of which may not reasonably be expected to affect their wages, hours or other conditions of employment, and to disqualify individuals whose wages, hours or other conditions of employment may reasonably be expected to be affected by the resolution of such labor dispute. A "reasonable expectation" of an effect on an individual's wages, hours or other conditions of employment shall be deemed to exist, in the absence of substantial and preponderating evidence to the contrary:

(I) If it is established that there is in the particular establishment or employing unit a practice or custom or contractual obligation to extend within a reasonable period to members of the individual's grade or class of workers in the establishment in which the individual is or was last employed changes in terms and conditions of employment which are substantially similar or related to some or all of the changes in terms and conditions of employment which are made for the workers among whom there exists the labor dispute which has caused the individual's total or partial unemployment; or

(II) If it is established that one of the issues in or purposes of such labor dispute is to obtain a change in the terms and conditions of employment for members of the individual's grade or class of workers in the establishment in which the individual is or was last employed; or

(III) If such labor dispute exists at a time when the collective bargaining agreement (which covers the individual's grade or class of workers in the establishment in which the individual is or was last employed and the workers in another establishment of the same employing unit who are actively participating in such labor dispute) has expired, has been opened by mutual consent or may by its terms be modified, supplemented or replaced.

Grade or class of workers, evidence.

(c) In determining the scope of the grade or class of workers any evidence submitted to show the following shall be relevant:

(I) Representation of the workers by the same national or international labor organization or by local affiliates thereof, and

(II) Whether such workers are included in a single, legally designated or negotiated bargaining unit, and

(III) Whether such workers are (or have within the past 6 months been) covered by a common master collective bargaining agreement which sets forth all or any part of their terms and conditions of employment, or by separate agreements which are or have been bargained as a part of the same negotiations, and

(IV) Any functional integration of the work performed by such workers, and

(V) Whether the resolution of issues of the type involved in the labor dispute, as to some of such workers, could directly or indirectly affect the advancement, negotiation or settlement of the same or similar issues in respect to the remaining workers, and

(VI) Whether such workers are currently, or have been, covered by the same or similar demands by their recognized or certified bargaining agent or agents for changes in their wages, hours or other conditions of employment, and

(VII) Whether issues on the same subject matter as those involved in the labor dispute have been the subject of proposals or demands made upon the employing unit which would by their terms have applied to all such workers.

Disciplinary layoff or suspension.

(9) An individual shall be disqualified for benefits for the duration of his disciplinary lay off or suspension in all cases where the individual becomes unemployed because of a disciplinary lay off or suspension based upon misconduct directly or indirectly connected with his work or for

(a) Participation in a strike or other concerted action resulting in a curtailment of work or restriction of or interference with production contrary to the provisions of an applicable collective bargaining agreement, or

(b) Participation in a wildcat strike or other concerted action not authorized by the individual's recognized bargaining representative, but subsection (9) applies only if the individual is not subject to disqualification under the provisions of paragraphs (b) or (g) of subsection 29 (1).

Notice by employing unit of ineligibility.

(10) Notwithstanding any of the above provisions of this section, if the employing unit submits notice to the commission of possible ineligibility or disqualification beyond the time limits prescribed by commission regulation, such notice shall not form the basis of a determination of ineligibility or disqualification for any claim period compensated prior to the receipt of the notice by the commission.

Benefits from another state or the United States.

(11) An individual shall be disqualified for benefits for any week with respect to which or a part of which he has received or is receiving or is seeking unemployment benefits under an unemployment compensation law of another state or of the United States: Provided, That if the appropriate agency of such other state or of the United States finally determines that he is not entitled to such unemployment benefits, this disqualification shall not apply.

Sections provided for disqualification for benefits by reason of a jail sentence and by reason of a disciplinary layoff or suspension.

421.30 Benefits inalienable.

Sec. 30. Benefits inalienable. All rights to benefits shall be absolutely inalienable by any assignment, sale, garnishment, execution or otherwise, and, in case of bankruptcy, the benefits shall not pass to or through any trustees or other persons acting on behalf of creditors: Provided, That this section shall not prohibit the use of any remedy provided by law insofar as the collection of obligations incurred for necessities furnished to the recipient of such benefits or his dependents during the time when such individual was unemployed is concerned.

HISTORY: CL 1948, 421.30.

421.31 Waiver of rights; limitation of fees.

Sec. 31. No agreement by an individual to wave, [sic] release, or commute his rights to benefits or any other rights under this act from an employer shall be valid. No agreements by an individual in the employ of any person or concern to pay all or any portion of the contributions of an employer, required under this act from such employer, shall be valid. No employer shall directly or indirectly make or require or accept any deduction from the remuneration of any individual in his employ to finance the contributions of the employer required from him, or require or accept any waiver of any right hereunder by any individual in his employ.

No individual claiming benefits shall be charged fees of any kind in any proceeding under this act by the commission or its representatives or by any court or any officer thereof. Any individual claiming benefits in any proceeding before the commission or a court may be represented by counsel or other duly authorized agent; but no such counsel or agents shall either charge or receive for such services more than an amount approved by the commission.

Any employer may be represented in any proceeding before the commission by counsel or other duly authorized agent.

HISTORY: CL 1948, 421.31;—Am. 1968, p. 639, Act 338, Imd. Eff. Jul. 19.

421.32 Claims for benefits; examination of claims, determination of facts, notice.

Sec. 32. (a) Claims for benefits shall be made in accordance with such regulations as the commission may prescribe. The commission shall designate representatives who shall promptly examine claims and make a determination on the facts. The commission may establish regulations providing for the examination of claims, the determination of their validity, and the amount and duration of benefits to be paid. The claimant and other interested parties shall be promptly notified of such determination and the reasons therefor.

Notice of claim to employer; request for information.

(b) The commission may also prescribe regulations for notifying and shall notify the employer whose rating account may be charged and the employing unit where the claimant last worked that he has filed an application for benefits. The notice shall also require the employer and employing unit to furnish such information to the commission as may be necessary to determine the claimant's benefit rights.

Notice of determination; contents.

Upon receipt of the foregoing information the commission shall promptly make a determination based upon the available information. The claimant and the employer whose rating account may be charged pursuant to said determination shall be promptly notified thereof. Such notice shall at least show (1) the name and account number of the employer whose rating account may be charged pursuant to said determination; (2) the weekly benefit amount and the maximum number of credit weeks against which the individual may draw benefits; and (3) whether or not the claimant is eligible and qualified to draw benefits.

Failure of employer to file information.

If any employer or employing unit fails to respond, within 7 days after mailing of the request for information, the commission shall make a determination upon the available information. In the absence of a showing by the employer satisfying the commission that he could not reasonably comply with the foregoing requirements, such determination shall be final, as to the noncomplying employer, as to any benefits paid prior to the week following the receipt of his reply and chargeable against his rating account as a result of his late reply. The commission may require any employer who consistently fails to meet the commission's requirements as to submission of reports covering employment of individuals, to provide such reports automatically upon the separation of individuals from employment, in such manner and within such time limits as the commission may prescribe by regulation as necessary to carry out the provisions of this section: Provided, That any employer may be permitted to provide such reports automatically upon separation of individuals from employment, in the manner and within the time limits prescribed by the commission.

Other determinations as to other base period employers.

After an application for benefits is filed, the commission's determination shall include only the most recent employer and thereafter, as necessary, the commission shall issue other determinations covering other base period employers individually in inverse order to that in which the claimant earned his last credit week with such employers.

Application for redetermination; withholding payment of benefits.

(c) The claimant or any other interested party may file an application with an office of the commission for a redetermination in accordance with the provisions of section 32a. In the event that such an application for redetermination is filed, the payment of benefits with respect to any week of possible ineligibility or disqualification or week of entitlement subject to possible reduction under subsection 29 (4) or to forfeiture under subsection 62 (b) shall be withheld pending the final disposition of such matter on redetermination or on appeal therefrom.

Redetermination of eligibility; investigation as to error or fraud.

(d) The issuance of each benefit check shall be considered a determination by the commission that the claimant receiving the check was, during the compensable period, covered thereby, eligible and qualified for benefits, and any employer upon receipt of a copy of the check as provided in subsection 21(a) may protest by requesting a redetermination as to such eligibility or qualification as to such period and a determination as to later weeks and benefits still unpaid as are affected by such protest. Upon receipt of such protest or request, the commission shall investigate and redetermine whether the claimant is eligible and qualified as to such period. If, upon such redetermination, the claimant is found ineligible or not qualified, the commission shall investigate and determine whether the claimant obtained benefits (for 1 or more preceding weeks within the series of consecutive weeks which includes the week covered by such redetermination) improperly as the result of administrative error, false statement, misrepresentation, or non-disclosure of a material fact. If the commission finds that the claimant has obtained such benefits through administrative error, false statement, misrepresentation, or non-disclosure of a material fact, the commission shall proceed under the appropriate provisions of section 62 of this act. Subsection (c) of this section shall apply to protests made under this subsection.

Filing of claims through different state claim office, notice to employer.

(e) Whenever a claimant commences to file his continued claims through a different state claim office in this state or elsewhere, the commission shall promptly issue written notice of that fact to the chargeable employer.

Refusal of offer of work, failure to apply for work; notice of determination.

(f) In any case where a claimant refuses an offer of work, or where a claimant fails to apply for work of which he has been notified as provided in subsection 29 (1) (c) or (d), the commission shall promptly make a written determination as to whether or not such refusal or failure requires disqualification under section 29. Notice of such determination (specifying the name and address of the employing unit offering or giving notice of the work and of the chargeable employer) shall be sent to the claimant, the employing unit offering or giving notice of the work, and the chargeable employer.

421.32a Claim for benefits; redetermination; appeal; reconsideration; failure to file protest; benefits through clerical error or fraud.

Sec. 32a. The commission shall upon application by an interested party filed with the commission within 15 days after the mailing or personal service of a notice of determination, or may upon its own motion within said period, review any determination and thereafter issue a redetermination affirming, modifying or reversing the prior determination and stating the reasons therefor. The commission shall promptly notify the interested parties of such redetermination which shall become final unless within 15 days after the mailing or personal service of a notice thereof an appeal is filed with the commission for a hearing on such redetermination before a referee in accordance with the provisions of section 33 of this act: Provided, That the commission may, for good cause, including any administrative clerical error, reconsider any prior determination or redetermination after the 15-day period has expired and issue a redetermination affirming, modifying or reversing the prior determination or redetermination, but no such reconsideration shall be made unless the request therefor is filed with the commission, or reconsideration is initiated by the commission with notice to the interested parties, within 1 year from the date of mailing or personal service of the original determination on the disputed issue. If, in the event of failure on the part of an interested party to file a protest within the 15-day period, the commission for good cause reconsiders any prior determination or redetermination and issues a redetermination, no disqualification or ineligibility imposed thereunder, except ineligibility imposed by reason of receipt of retroactive pay, shall apply to any waiting period for which credit has been granted or compensable period for which benefits have been paid or are payable unless such credit or benefits have been obtained by reason of an administrative clerical error or a false statement or non-disclosure or misrepresentation of a material fact by the claimant: Provided further, That such redetermination shall become final unless within 15 days after the date of mailing or personal service of such notice of redetermination an appeal is filed for a hearing on such redetermination before a referee in accordance with the provisions of section 33 of this act.

421.33 Hearing on appeal; denial of redetermination; rehearing.

Sec. 33. The commission shall appoint an adequate number of impartial referees to hear and decide appeals from any redetermination issued by the commission in accordance with section 32a. If any interested party requests a hearing before a referee on any redetermination, all matters pertinent to the claimant's benefit rights or to the liability of the employing unit under this act shall be referred to a referee; and the referee shall afford all interested parties a reasonable opportunity for a fair hearing and, unless such appeal is withdrawn, the referee shall decide the rights of the interested parties and shall notify the interested parties of his decision within 60 days, setting forth the findings of fact upon which such decision is based, together with the reasons therefor: Provided, That with respect to an appeal from a denial of redetermination, if the referee finds that there was good cause for the issuance of a redetermination, such denial shall be a redetermination affirming the determination and the appeal from such denial shall be an appeal from such affirmance: Provided further, That when the same or substantially similar evidence is material to the matter in issue with respect to more than 1 interested party, the same time and place for considering all such cases may be fixed, hearing thereon jointly conducted, a single record of the proceedings made, and evidence introduced with respect to 1 proceeding considered as introduced in the others, provided no interested party is prejudiced thereby. If the appellant fails to appear or prosecute the appeal the referee may dismiss the proceedings or take such other action as he may deem advisable. A referee may, either upon application for rehearing by an interested party or on his own motion, proceed to rehear, affirm, modify, set aside or reverse any prior decision on the basis of the evidence previously submitted in such case, or on the basis of additional evidence: Provided, That such application or motion be made within 15 days after the date of mailing of such decision. The referee may, for good cause, reopen and review any prior decision of a referee and issue a new decision after the 15-day appeal period has expired: Provided, That a request for such review be made within 1 year from the date of mailing of the prior decision. No referee shall participate in any case in which he has a direct or indirect interest.

Appeal to appeal board.

Any interested party within 15 days after the mailing of a copy of a decision of the referee or of a denial of a motion for rehearing may file an appeal therefrom to the appeal board, and unless such an appeal is filed the decision or denial shall be final.

HISTORY: Am. 1939, p. 810, Act 324, Imd. Eff. Jun. 22;—Am. 1941, p. 669, Act 364, Imd. Eff. Jul. 1;—Am. 1947, p. 717, Act 300, Imd. Eff. Jul. 6;—CL 1948, 421.33;—Am. 1951, p. 400, Act 251, Imd. Eff. Jun. 17;—Am. 1963, p. 279, Act 190, Eff. Sep. 6;—Am. 1965, p. 512, Act 281, Eff. Sep. 5.

421.34 Hearing and rehearing on appeal.

Sec. 34. The appeal board, on the basis of evidence previously submitted and such additional evidence as it may require, shall affirm, modify, set aside or reverse the findings of fact and decision of the referee or a denial by the referee of a motion for rehearing. The parties shall be promptly notified of the decision of the appeal board and its reasons therefor. But said board, in its discretion may omit the giving of any reasons in cases where the decision of a referee is affirmed without any alteration or modification. If the appellant fails to appear or prosecute the appeal, the appeal board may dismiss the proceedings or take such other action as it may deem advisable. The appeal board may, either upon application by an interested party for rehearing or on its own motion, proceed to rehear, affirm, modify, set aside or reverse any prior decision on the basis of the evidence previously submitted in such case, or on the basis of additional evidence: Provided, That such application or motion be made within 15 days after the date of mailing of such prior decision. The appeal board may, for good cause, reopen and review any prior decision of the appeal board and issue a new decision after the 15-day appeal period has expired, but no such review shall be made unless the request therefor is filed with the appeal board, or review is initiated by the appeal board with notice to the interested parties, within 1 year from the date of mailing of the prior decision. Unless an interested party, within 15 days after mailing of a copy of a decision of the appeal board or of a denial of a motion for a rehearing, files an appeal from any such decision or denial, or seeks judicial review thereof as provided in section 38, such decision shall be final.

421.35 Appeal board; powers and duties; appointment, term, compensation.

Sec. 35. The appeal board may on its own motion affirm, modify, set aside or reverse any decision or order of a referee on the basis of the evidence previously submitted in such case, or direct the taking of additional evidence, or may permit any of the parties to such decision or order to initiate further appeals before it. The appeal board shall permit such further appeal by any of the parties interested in a decision or order of a referee or by the commission if its initial ruling has been overruled or modified by a referee. (c) Third, if the credit weeks counted under paragraphs (a) and (b) total less than 35, all multiemployer credit weeks shall be counted, in inverse chronological order of their occurrence, to the extent necessary to count all available credit weeks, or a total of 35 credit weeks, whichever is less.

(4) There shall not be counted toward the wages required to establish a credit week under this subsection payments in the form of termination, separation, severance or dismissal allowances; nor shall there be so counted any payments for a vacation or a holiday unless such payment has been made, or the right to receive it has irrevocably vested, within 14 days following such vacation or holiday.

421.64 Extended benefits; rate; eligibility.

Sec. 64. (1) (a) Payment of extended benefits under this section shall be made at the individual's weekly benefit rate as defined in subsection (6) (d), for any week of unemployment which begins in the individual's eligibility period, to each individual who is fully eligible and not disqualified under this act, who has exhausted all rights to regular benefits under this act and who has no rights to regular benefits with respect to such week under any unemployment compensation law of another state or the United States or to compensation under any other federal law, such as readjustment allowances under the trade expansion act of 1962 or the automotive products trade act of 1965, and is not claiming or receiving unemployment benefits with respect to such week under the unemployment insurance law of Canada. For the purpose of the preceding sentence, an individual shall have exhausted his rights to regular benefits under this section with respect to any week of unemployment in his eligibility period:

(i) When no payments of regular benefits can be made to him for such week because such individual has received all regular benefits available to him based on his employment or wages during the base period for his current benefit year, or

(ii) When his rights to such benefits have terminated prior to such week by reason of the expiration of the benefit year with respect to which such rights existed; and he has no (or insufficient) wages or employment to establish a new benefit year: Provided, That for purposes of this subsection, an individual shall be deemed to have exhausted his rights to regular benefits with respect to any week of unemployment in his eligibility period, when he may become entitled to regular benefits with respect to such week, or future weeks, but such benefits are not payable at the time he claims extended benefits because final action has not yet been taken with respect to eligibility or qualification for such regular benefits.

(b) Except where inconsistent with the provisions of this section, the terms and conditions of this act which apply to claims for regular benefits, and to the payment thereof shall apply to claims for extended benefits and to the payment thereof.

Extended benefit account; amount.

(2) The commission will establish, for each eligible individual who files an application therefor, an extended benefit account with respect to such individual's benefit year. The amount established in such account shall be whichever of the following is the lesser:

(a) Fifty percent of the total amount of regular benefits payable to him under this act during such benefit year, or

(b) Thirteen times his weekly benefit rate.

In case any amount determined under paragraph (a) or (b) of this subsection is not an exact multiple of $\frac{1}{2}$ the individual's weekly extended benefit rate, the amount shall be increased to the next higher such multiple.

Extended benefit period, duration.

(3) An extended benefit period:

(a) Shall begin with the third week after whichever of the following weeks first occurs:

(i) A week for which there is a national "on" indicator, or

(c) Shall not last for a period of less than 13 consecutive weeks, and shall not begin by reason of a Michigan "on" indicator before the fourteenth week after the close of a prior extended benefit period under this section.

Eligibility period, determination.

(4) An individual shall have an eligibility period only if he has a benefit year current on the beginning date of an extended benefit period. In such case, the individual's eligibility period shall include all weeks which begin in such extended benefit period.

Indicators, defined.

(5) (a) There is a national "on" indicator for a week if for each of the 3 most recent calendar months ending before such week, the rate of insured unemployment, seasonally adjusted, for all states equaled or exceeded 4.5%, determined by reference to the average monthly covered employment for the first 4 of the most recent 6 calendar quarters ending before the month in question.

(b) There is a national "off" indicator for a week if for each of the 3 most recent calendar months ending before such week, the rate of insured unemployment, seasonally adjusted, for all states was less than 4.5%, determined by reference to the average monthly covered employment for the first 4 of the most recent 6 calendar quarters ending before the month in question.

(c) There is a Michigan "on" indicator for a week if the rate of insured unemployment under this act for the period consisting of such week and the immediately preceding 12 weeks:

(i) Equaled or exceeded 120% of the average of such rates for the corresponding 13-week period ending in each of the preceding 2 calendar years, and

(ii) Equaled or exceeded 4%.

(d) There is a Michigan "off" indicator for a week if, for the period consisting of such week and the immediately preceding 12 weeks, either subsection (5) (c) (i) or subsection (5) (c) (ii) was not satisfied.

(e) For purposes of subsections (5) (c) and (d), the rate of insured unemployment for any 13-week period shall be determined by reference to the average monthly covered employment under this act for the first 4 of the most recent 6 calendar quarters ending before the close of such period.

(f) For purposes of subsection (5), the term "rate of insured unemployment" means the percentage arrived at by dividing:

(i) The average weekly number of individuals filing claims for weeks of unemployment with respect to the specified period, as determined on the basis of the reports made by all state agencies, or in the case of subsections (5) (c) and (d), by the commission, to the federal government; by

(ii) In the case of subsections (5) (a) and (b), the average monthly covered employment under all state laws for the specified period; and, in the case of subsections (5) (c) and (d), the average monthly covered employment under this act for the specified period.

(g) Calculations under subsections (5) (c) and (d) shall be made by the commission and shall conform to regulations, if any, prescribed by the United States secretary of labor under authority of the federal-state extended unemployment compensation act of 1970.

Definitions.

(6) For purposes of this section:

(a) "Regular benefits" means benefits payable to an individual under this act and, unless otherwise expressly provided, under any other state unemployment compensation law, including unemployment benefits payable pursuant to 5 U.S.C. chapter 85, other than extended benefits, and additional benefits which includes training benefits under subsection 27 (k).

(d) "Weekly extended benefit rate" means an amount equal to the amount of regular benefits payable under this act to an individual within his benefit year for a week of total unemployment, unless the individual had more than 1 such weekly rate within such benefit year in which case his weekly extended benefit rate shall be computed by dividing the maximum amount of regular benefits payable under this act to him within his benefit year by the number of weeks for which such benefits were payable, adjusted to the next higher multiple of $1.00.

(e) "Benefits payable" includes all benefits computed in accordance with subsection 27 (d) of the act, irrespective of whether the individual was otherwise eligible for such benefits within his current benefit year and irrespective of any benefit reduction by reason of a disqualification which required such reduction.

Extended periods; beginning dates.

(7) (a) No extended benefit period on the basis of a national "on" indicator may begin with a calendar week starting before January 1, 1972.

(b) With respect to calendar weeks beginning before January 1, 1972, an extended benefit period under this section shall be determined solely by reference to the Michigan "on" indicator and the Michigan "off" indicator, however no extended benefit period established on the basis of a Michigan "on" indicator may begin with a week earlier than 60 days after the date of the enactment of the federal-state extended unemployment compensation act of 1970.

1. In the event the parties thereto are unable to settle any labor dispute, the employees or their representatives, in the case of impending strike, or the employer or his agent, in the case of an impending lockout, shall serve notice of such dispute together with a statement of the issues involved upon the board and the other party to the dispute. Said notice may be served personally on any member of the board and a copy thereof personally served upon the other party, or sent by registered mail to the board at a regularly established office thereof and to the employer or the representative of his employees at his regular address not less than 10 days before the strike or lockout is to become effective, or in the case of an industry rendering a hospital or public utility service, said notice shall be so served not less than 30 days before the strike or lockout is to become effective.

423.9a Election to strike; board, notice, holding election, time, place; rules and regulations; eligibility of voters; disputes involving hospital or public utility service.

Sec. 9a. (1). In the event that it becomes apparent to the board that there is no reasonable probability of settlement of a labor dispute by mediation and that further efforts to that end would be without avail, there shall be held in the case of an impending strike, an election upon such issue which election shall be conducted and supervised by the board, or by its duly authorized representative. In the event either party to said dispute notifies the board in writing, a copy of which shall at the same time be served on the other party, that, in the opinion of such party, further efforts to settle said dispute by mediation would be without avail, it shall be the duty of the board to cause an election to be held within 10 days of the receipt of such notice unless it is not practicable to hold such election within said period, in which event said election shall be held within 20 days of receipt of such notice. Every employee in the bargaining unit, which is involved in such dispute, as such bargaining unit is determined under section 9e of this act or as recognized by the employer or as identified by contract or past practice, shall be entitled to vote in such election and in order to authorize a strike under the provisions of this act, a majority of all employees casting valid ballots must vote in favor of such action. Said election shall be by secret ballot, and shall be held on the premises where those voting are employed unless the board shall determine that the election cannot be fairly held there, in which case it shall be held at such place as the board shall determine. The board shall have the power and authority to promulgate such rules and regulations as shall be necessary to effectively conduct any election, including provisions for absentee voting. Such provisions shall facilitate voting by all employees, but shall also insure secrecy of the ballot. The wilful violation of any such rules and regulations shall be a violation of the provisions of this act. The board shall also have the power and authority to determine, after proper hearing (which may be held either before or after an election and may be conducted by a duly authorized representative of the board) any disputed issue concerning the eligibility of a person or persons to vote in such election. Any such determination with respect to eligibility shall be applicable in the administration of this section, but shall have no force and effect for any other purpose under this act.

(2) Anything in this section to the contrary notwithstanding, if a dispute involves a hospital or public utility service, and said dispute is certified to the governor as provided in section 13a of this act, an election under this section 9a shall not be conducted until the expiration of at least 10 days following the filing with the governor of the report of such special commission.

If the evidence is presented before a member of the board, or before examiners thereof, the member, or examiners shall issue and cause to be served on the parties to the proceeding a proposed report, together with a recommended order, which shall be filed with the board, and if no exceptions are filed within 20 days after service thereof upon the parties, or within such further period as the board may authorize, the recommended order shall become the order of the board and become effective as prescribed in the order.

Modification or setting aside finding or order.

(d) Until the record in a case has been filed in a court, the board at any time, upon reasonable notice and in such manner as it deems proper, may modify or set aside, in whole or in part, any finding or order made or issued by it.

Petition to enforce order or for injunction; filing record; notice; hearing; procedure; jurisdiction; review by supreme court.

(e) The board may petition the court of appeals for the enforcement of the order and for appropriate temporary relief or restraining order, and shall file in the court the record in the proceedings. Upon the filing of the petition, the court shall cause notice thereof to be served upon the person, and thereupon shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding and shall grant such temporary or permanent relief or restraining order as it deems just and proper, enforcing, modifying, enforcing as so modified, or setting aside in whole or in part the order of the board. No objection that has not been urged before the board, its member or agent, shall be considered by the court, unless the failure or neglect to urge the objection is excused because of extraordinary circumstances. The findings of the board with respect to questions of fact if supported by competent, material and substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole shall be conclusive. If either party applies to the court for leave to present additional evidence and shows to the satisfaction of the court that the additional evidence is material and that there were reasonable grounds for the failure to present it in the hearing before the board, its member or agent, the court may order the additional evidence to be taken before the board, its member or agent, and to be made a part of the record. The board may modify its findings as to the facts, or make new findings, by reason of additional evidence so taken and filed, and it shall file the modifying or new findings, which findings with respect to questions of fact if supported by competent, material and substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole shall be conclusive, and shall file its recommendations, if any, for the modification or setting aside of its original order. Upon the filing of the record with it the jurisdiction of the court shall be exclusive and its judgment and decree shall be final, except that the same shall be subject to review by the supreme court in accordance with the general court rules.

Judicial review of final order of board; filing complaint; procedure.

(f) Any person aggrieved by a final order of the board granting or denying in whole or in part the relief sought may obtain a review of such order in the court of appeals by filing in the court a complaint praying that the order of the board be modified or set aside, with copy of the complaint filed on the board, and thereupon the aggrieved party shall file in the court the record in the proceeding, certified by the board. Upon the filing of the complaint, the court shall proceed in the same manner as in the case of an application by the board under subsection (e), and shall grant to the board such temporary relief or restraining order as it deems just and proper, enforcing, modifying, enforcing as so modified, or setting aside in whole or in part the order of the board. The findings of the board with respect to questions of fact if supported by competent, material and substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole shall be conclusive.

Commencement of court action as stay of board's order.

(g) The commencement of proceedings under subsection (e) or (f) shall not, unless specifically ordered by the court, operate as a stay of the board's order.

Expeditious hearing by courts.

(h) Complaints filed under this act shall be heard expeditiously by the courts to which presented, and for good cause shown shall take precedence over all other civil matters except earlier matters of the same character.

Temporary relief or restraining order, petition; granting relief.

(i) The board shall have power, upon issuance of a complaint as provided in subsection (b) charging that any person has engaged in or is engaging in an unfair labor practice, to petition any circuit court within any circuit where the unfair labor practice in question is alleged to have occurred or where such person resides or transacts business, for appropriate temporary relief or restraining order, in accordance with the general court rules, and the court shall have jurisdiction to grant to the board such temporary relief or restraining order as it deems just and proper.

Hearings and investigations, applicable act; subpoenas.

(j) For the purpose of all hearings and investigations, which, in the opinion of the board, are necessary and proper for the exercise of the powers vested in it under this section, the provisions of section 11 shall be applicable, except that subpoenas may issue as provided in section 11 without regard to whether mediation shall have been undertaken.

Labor relations and mediation functions to be separate.

(k) The labor relations and mediation functions of this act shall be separately administered by the board.

423.25 Mediation of labor disputes; public employees; findings made public; delegates, mediation panel, procedure.

Sec. 25. Whenever in the course of mediation under section 7 of Act No. 336 of the Public Acts of 1947, being section 423.207 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, it shall become apparent to the board that matters in disagreement between the parties might be more readily settled if the facts involved in the disagreement were determined and publicly known, the board may make written findings with respect to the matters in disagreement. Such findings shall not be binding upon the parties but shall be made public: Provided, That if prior to the commencement of mediation upon the matters in dispute, the public employer party to such dispute shall have, by resolution of its governing body, spread upon their minutes, voted to adopt the following procedures set forth in this section, which resolution remains unrescinded at the time such procedures are instituted, then the board may, after mediation has been resumed as in this section above provided, if it is apparent to them that no progress in the mediation is being made, direct the parties to proceed as follows:

(a) Within 10 days the public employer shall choose a member of its governing body as a delegate and the petitioners referred to in section 7 of Act No. 336 of the Public Acts of 1947, being section 423.207 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, shall choose 1 of their number as a delegate to discuss, consider and recommend a settlement of the question or questions at issue. The said petitioners shall make their choice by a majority vote of their number present at a meeting of which reasonable notice has been given to all petitioners.

(b) The said 2 delegates shall then enter upon a discussion to reach a recommended settlement of the matters in dispute. In considering the said matters the said 2 delegates may hold hearings if they deem the same to be helpful or advisable, and consider testimony, affidavits and documents which may be submitted to them at their invitation and in an effort to reach a recommended settlement on all points of controversy. The interested parties shall be required to submit all documents and information within their knowledge and control. If the said delegates reach a recommended settlement on all points at issue, they shall reduce the same to writing and file the same with the parties but the same shall not be binding upon the parties. During such discussions, each delegate shall continue on the payroll of the public employer at his usual rate of pay. Each delegate shall have the right to have legal counsel and/or a representative of his group present at all times.

(c) Upon the failure of the said 2 delegates to reach a recommended settlement on all questions at issue within 20 days of the date when the said delegates shall have been appointed, the said delegates shall within 5 days thereafter designate an impartial, competent and reputable person to act as a mediator and with them to constitute a mediation panel to further consider and recommend a settlement of all said matters. Upon their failure to agree upon and appoint the said mediator within said time, they shall promptly request the chairman of the state labor mediation board to appoint the said mediator, who shall be a citizen and a resident of the county in which the dispute arose.

(d) Upon the appointment of the said mediator, he shall proceed to act as chairman of said panel of mediation, and shall promptly call a hearing to be held within 10 days from the date of his appointment and acceptance, and shall give at least 7 days' notice of the time and place of said hearing. The said chairman shall conduct the said hearing and shall take testimony, and any interested person may appear and be heard both in person and by counsel or by other representative chosen by him appearing at the said hearing. The said hearing shall be informal and the rules of evidence prevailing in judicial proceedings shall not be binding. Any or all documentary evidence and other data deemed relevant by the mediation panel may be received in evidence. A transcript of the proceedings shall be taken. One-half of the expense of the proceedings, including a fee of $50.00 per day to the mediator for the time actually spent as a member of the said mediation panel, shall be borne by each of the parties to the dispute. The delegates shall continue on the payroll of the public employer at their usual rate of pay. The hearing or hearings conducted by the mediation panel shall be concluded within 20 days of the time of the commencement of said hearing, and within 10 days from the conclusion of the hearing the mediation panel shall make written findings and promulgate a written opinion upon the issues presented, and shall mail or otherwise deliver a true copy thereof to the governing body of the public employer and to the attorney or other designated representatives of the employees of the said municipality. A majority decision by the mediation panel shall not constitute a controlling decision but shall represent to the public employer and to the petitioners the considered recommendations of the panel. In disputes arising in a transportation utility the governing body shall be the commission in charge of such utility.

Sec. 27. Whenever a petition shall have been filed, in accordance with such regulations as may be prescribed by the board:

(a) By an employee or group of employees, or an individual or labor organization acting in their behalf, alleging that 30% or more of the employees within a unit claimed to be appropriate for such purpose wish to be represented for collective bargaining and that their employer declines to recognize their representative as the representative defined in section 26, or assert that the individual or labor organization, which has been certified or is being currently recognized by their employer as the bargaining representative, is no longer a representative as defined in section 26; or

(b) By an employer or his representative alleging that 1 or more individuals or labor organizations have presented to him a claim to be recognized as the representative defined in section 26;

the board shall investigate the petition and, if it has reasonable cause to believe that a question of representation exists, shall provide an appropriate hearing after due notice. If the board finds upon the record of the hearing that a question of representation exists, it shall direct an election by secret ballot and shall certify the results thereof.

Sec. 29. An election shall not be directed in any bargaining unit or any subdivision within which, in the preceding 12-month period, a valid election has been held. The board shall determine who is eligible to vote in the election and shall establish rules governing the election. A rerun election may be conducted in the event of conduct improperly affecting a prior election. In an election involving more than 2 choices, where none of the choices on the ballot receives a majority vote, a runoff election shall be conducted between the 2 choices receiving the 2 largest numbers of valid votes cast in the election. No election shall be directed in any bargaining unit or subdivision thereof where there is in force and effect a valid collective bargaining agreement which was not prematurely extended and which is of fixed duration: Provided, however, No collective bargaining agreement shall bar an election upon the petition of persons not parties thereto where more than 3 years have elapsed since the agreement's execution or last timely renewal, whichever was later.

423.216 Unfair labor practices; remedies and procedures.

Sec. 16. Violations of the provisions of section 10 shall be deemed to be unfair labor practices remediable by the labor mediation board in the following manner:

(a) Whenever it is charged that any person has engaged in or is engaging in any such unfair labor practice, the board, or any agent designated by the board for such purposes, may issue and cause to be served upon the person a complaint stating the charges in that respect, and containing a notice of hearing before the board or a member thereof, or before a designated agent, at a place therein fixed, not less than 5 days after the serving of the complaint. No complaint shall issue based upon any unfair labor practice occurring more than 6 months prior to the filing of the charge with the board and the service of a copy thereof upon the person against whom the charge is made, unless the person aggrieved thereby was prevented from filing the charge by reason of service in the armed forces, in which event the 6-month period shall be computed from the day of his discharge. Any complaint may be amended by the member or agent conducting the hearing or the board, at any time prior to the issuance of an order based thereon. The person upon whom the complaint is served may file an answer to the original or amended complaint and appear in person or otherwise and give testimony at the place and time fixed in the complaint. In the discretion of the member or agent conducting the hearing or the board, any other person may be allowed to intervene in the proceeding and to present testimony. Any proceeding shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of section 5 of Act No. 197 of the Public Acts of 1952, as amended, being section 24.105 of the Compiled Laws of 1948.

(b) The testimony taken by the member, agent or the board shall be reduced to writing and filed with the board. Thereafter the board upon notice may take further testimony or hear argument. If upon the preponderance of the testimony taken the board is of the opinion that any person named in the complaint has engaged in or is engaging in the unfair labor practice, then it shall state its findings of fact and shall issue and cause to be served on the person an order requiring him to cease and desist from the unfair labor practice, and to take such affirmative action including reinstatement of employees with or without back pay, as will effectuate the policies of this act. The order may further require the person to make reports from time to time showing the extent to which he has complied with the order. If upon the preponderance of the testimony taken the board is not of the opinion that the person named in the complaint has engaged in or is engaging in the unfair labor practice, then the board shall state its findings of fact and shall issue an order dismissing the complaint. No order of the board shall require the reinstatement of any individual as an employee who has been suspended or discharged, or the payment to him of any back pay, if the individual was suspended or discharged for cause. If the evidence is presented before a member of the board, or before examiners thereof, the member, or examiners shall issue and cause to be served on the parties to the proceeding a proposed report, together with a recommended order, which shall be filed with the board, and if no exceptions are filed within 20 days after service thereof upon the parties, or within such further period as the board may authorize, the recommended order shall become the order of the board and become effective as prescribed in the order.

(c) Until the record in a case has been filed in a court, the board at any time, upon reasonable notice and in such manner as it deems proper, may modify or set aside, in whole or in part, any finding or order made or issued by it.

(d) The board may petition the court of appeals for the enforcement of the order and for appropriate temporary relief or restraining order, and shall file in the court the record in the proceedings. Upon the filing of the petition, the court shall cause notice thereof to be served upon the person, and thereupon shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding and shall grant such temporary or permanent relief or restraining order as it deems just and proper, enforcing, modifying, enforcing as so modified, or setting aside in whole or in part the order of the board. No objection that has not been urged before the board, its member or agent, shall be considered by the court, unless the failure or neglect to urge the objection is excused because of extraordinary circumstances. The findings of the board with respect to questions of fact if supported by competent, material and substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole shall be conclusive. If either party applies to the court for leave to present additional evidence and shows to the satisfaction of the court that the additional evidence is material and that there were reasonable grounds for the failure to present it in the hearing before the board, its member or agent, the court may order the additional evidence to be taken before the board, its member or agent, and to be made a part of the record. The board may modify its findings as to the facts, or make new findings, by reason of additional evidence so taken and filed, and it shall file the modifying or new findings, which findings with respect to questions of fact if supported by competent, material and substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole shall be conclusive, and shall file its recommendations, if any, for the modification or setting aside of its original order. Upon the filing of the record with it the jurisdiction of the court shall be exclusive and its judgment and decree shall be final, except that the same shall be subject to review by the supreme court in accordance with the general court rules.

(e) Any person aggrieved by a final order of the board granting or denying in whole or in part the relief sought may obtain a review of such order in the court of appeals by filing in the court a complaint praying that the order of the board be modified or set aside, with copy of the complaint filed on the board, and thereupon the aggrieved party shall file in the court the record in the proceeding, certified by the board. Upon the filing of the complaint, the court shall proceed in the same manner as in the case of an application by the board under subsection (d), and shall grant to the board such temporary relief or restraining order as it deems just and proper, enforcing, modifying, enforcing as so modified, or setting aside in whole or in part the order of the board. The findings of the board with respect to questions of fact if supported by competent, material and substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole shall be conclusive.

(f) The commencement of proceedings under subsections (d) or (e) shall not, unless specifically ordered by the court, operate as a stay of the board's order.

(g) Complaints filed under this act shall be heard expeditiously by the court to which presented, and for good cause shown shall take precedence over all other civil matters except earlier matters of the same character.

(h) The board shall have power, upon issuance of a complaint as provided in subsection (a) charging that any person has engaged in or is engaging in an unfair labor practice, to petition any circuit court within any circuit where the unfair labor practice in question is alleged to have occurred or where such person resides or exercises or may exercise its governmental authority, for appropriate temporary relief or restraining order, in accordance with the general court rules, and the court shall have jurisdiction to grant to the board such temporary relief or restraining order as it deems just and proper.

(i) For the purpose of all hearings and investigations, which in the opinion of the board are necessary and proper for the exercise of the powers vested in it under this section, the provisions of section 11 of Act No. 176 of the Public Acts of 1939, being section 423.11 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, shall be applicable, except that subpoenas may issue as provided in section 11 without regard to whether mediation shall have been undertaken.

(j) The labor relations and mediation functions of this act shall be separately administered by the board.

AN ACT to provide for compulsory arbitration of labor disputes in municipal police and fire departments; to define such public departments; to provide for the selection of members of arbitration panels; to prescribe the procedures and authority thereof; and to provide for the enforcement and review of awards thereof.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

423.231 Compulsory arbitration in police and fire departments; policy.

Sec. 1. It is the public policy of this state that in public police and fire departments, where the right of employees to strike is by law prohibited, it is requisite to the high morale of such employees and the efficient operation of such departments to afford an alternate, expeditious, effective and binding procedure for the resolution of disputes, and to that end the provisions of this act, providing for compulsory arbitration, shall be liberally construed.

Upon their failure to agree upon and appoint the arbitrator within such time, or mutually extended time, either of them may request the chairman of the state labor mediation board to appoint the arbitrator, and the chairman of the state mediation board shall appoint, in not more than 7 days, an impartial, competent and reputable citizen as the arbitrator.

Technical rules of evidence shall not apply and the competency of the evidence shall not thereby be deemed impaired. A verbatim record of the proceedings shall be made and the arbitrator shall arrange for the necessary recording service. Transcripts may be ordered at the expense of the party ordering them but the transcripts shall not be necessary for a decision by the arbitration panel. The expense of the proceedings, including a fee to the chairman, established in advance by the labor mediation board shall be borne equally by each of the parties to the dispute and the state. The delegates, if public officers or employees, shall continue on the payroll of the public employer at their usual rate of pay. Where there is no agreement between the parties, or where there is an agreement but the parties have begun negotiations or discussions looking to a new agreement or amendment of the existing agreement, and wage rates or other conditions of employment under the proposed new or amended agreement are in dispute, the arbitration panel shall base its findings, opinions and order upon the following factors, as applicable:

- (a) The lawful authority of the employer.
- (b) Stipulations of the parties.
- (c) The interests and welfare of the public and the financial ability of the unit of government to meet those costs.
- (d) Comparison of the wages, hours and conditions of employment of the employees involved in the arbitration proceeding with the wages, hours and conditions of employment of other employees performing similar services and with other employees generally:

The commencement of a new municipal fiscal year after the initiation of arbitration procedures under this act, but before the arbitration decision, or its enforcement, shall not be deemed to render a dispute moot, or to otherwise impair the jurisdiction or authority of the arbitration panel or its decision. Increases in rates of compensation awarded by the arbitration panel under section 10 may be effective only at the start of the fiscal year next commencing after the date of the arbitration award. If a new fiscal year has commenced since the initiation of arbitration procedures under this act, the foregoing limitation shall be inapplicable, and such awarded increases may be retroactive to the commencement of such fiscal year any other statute or charter provisions to the contrary notwithstanding. 423.243 Existing conditions; continuance, change.

Same; finding of commission, order to cease, declaratory order.

(h) If, upon the preponderance of the evidence on the record considered as a whole, the commission shall determine that the respondent has engaged in or is engaging in any unfair employment practice, the commission shall state its findings of fact and shall issue and cause to be served on such respondent an order requiring such respondent to cease and desist from such unfair employment practice and to take such further affirmative or other action as will effectuate the purposes of this act, including, but not limited to, hiring, reinstatement or upgrading of employees with or without back pay, or admission or restoration to union membership, including a requirement for reports of the manner of compliance. Upon the submission of such reports of compliance, the commission may issue a declaratory order stating that respondent has ceased to engage in unfair employment practices.

Same; order of dismissal; copies.

(i) If the commission shall find that no probable cause exists for crediting the charges or if, upon all the evidence, the commission shall find that a respondent has not engaged in any unfair employment practice, it shall state its findings of fact and shall issue and cause to be served on the complainant an order dismissing the said complaint as to such respondent. A copy of the order shall be delivered in all cases to the attorney general and such other public officers as the commission deems proper.

Same; modification of orders.

(j) Until a transcript of the record in a case shall be filed in a court as hereinafter provided, the commission may at any time, upon reasonable notice and in such man-

MAP OF MINES. COPIES FURNISHED MINE INSPECTOR. SURVEYS ORDERED. WHEN.

425.9 Map of mines; copies furnished mine inspector; surveys ordered; time; entry; abandoned mines; expenses.

Sec. 9. The owner, operator, lessee or person in charge of any coal mine, shall make or cause to be made an accurate map or plan of such mine, drawn to a scale of not more than 200 feet to the inch, on which shall appear the name of the state, county and township in which the mine is located, the designation of the mine, the name of the company or owner, operator, lessee or person in charge, the certificate of the mining engineer or surveyor as to the accuracy and date of the survey, the north point and the scale to which the drawing is made. Every such map or plan shall correctly show the surface, boundary lines of the coal rights pertaining to each mine, and all sections or quarter section lines or corners within the same; the lines of town lots and streets; the tracks and sidetracks of all railroads, the location of all wagon roads, rivers, streams, ponds. For the underground workings said map shall show all shafts, slopes, tunnels, or other openings to the surface or to the workings of a contiguous mine, all excavations, entries, rooms and crosscuts; the location of the escape ways, and of the fan or other means of ventilation, and the direction of air currents and the location of permanent pumps, hauling engines, engine plans, abandoned work, fire walls and standing water. A separate and similar map drawn to the same scale in all cases, shall be made of each and every seam of coal operated in any mine in this state. A separate map shall also be made of the surface whenever the surface buildings, lines or objects are so numerous as to obscure the details of the mine workings, if drawn upon the same sheet with them, and in such case the surface map shall be drawn upon transparent cloth or paper, so that it can be laid upon the map of the underground workings and thus truly indicate the local relations of lines and objects on the surface to the excavations of the mine, together with any other principal workings of the mine. The original or true copies of all such maps shall be kept at the office of the mine, and true copies thereof shall also be furnished the state inspector of coal mines within 30 days after the completion of the same. The maps so delivered to the inspector shall be the property of the state, and shall remain in the custody of the commissioner of labor during his term of office, and be delivered to his successor in office. They shall be kept at the office of the commissioner of labor, and be open to examination of all persons interested in the same, but such examination shall be made only in the presence of the inspector, commissioner of labor, or his office assistant; no copies of the same to be made without the written consent of the operator or owner of the property, except as herein otherwise provided. An accurate extension of the last preceding survey of every mine in active operation shall be made in every 12 months prior to July first of every year, and the result of such survey, with the date thereof, shall be promptly and accurately entered upon the original map; and a true, correct and accurate copy of said extended map shall be forwarded to the inspector of coal mines so as to show all changes in plan of new work in the mine, and all extensions of old workings to the most advanced face or boundary of said workings which have been made since the last preceding survey; and the parts of the mine abandoned or worked out after the last preceding survey shall be clearly indicated and shown by colorings, which copy must be delivered to such inspector of coal mines within 30 days after the last survey is made. When any coal mine is worked out or is about to be abandoned, or indefinitely closed, the owner, operator, lessee or person in charge of the same shall make or cause to be made a complete and extended map of said mine, and the result of the same shall be duly extended on all maps of the mine and copies thereof so as to show all excavations and the most advanced workings of the mine and their exact relations to the boundary or section lines on the surface, and deliver to the inspector a copy of the completed map. The state coal mine inspector shall order a survey to be made of the workings of any mine and the result to be extended on the maps of the same, and the copies thereof, whenever in his judgment the safety of the working men, or the safety of an adjoining mine requires it; and if not made by the owner, operator, lessee or person in charge when ordered by the inspector, it shall be made or caused to be made by the inspector and paid for by the state, and the amount collected from the owner, operator, lessee or person in charge, as other debts are collected.

HISTORY: CL 1915, 5524;—CL 1929, 8544;—CL 1948, 425.9.

COMMISSIONER OF LABOR: Office abolished; powers and duties transferred to the department of labor, see Compilers' § 16.477.

ABANDONED MINES.

425.10 Abandoned mines; excavations; bore hole; sealing or ventilating; removal of timber.

Sec. 10. When approaching abandoned workings and when within not less than 60 feet of the same, the excavations in approaching the said workings shall not exceed 8 feet in width, and there shall be constantly kept 1 bore hole near the center not less than 20 feet in advance, and 1 flank bore hole on each side, of not less than 15 feet in length.

Abandoned workings shall be sealed or ventilated. The sealing or ventilating of abandoned workings shall be governed by the law or practice where the mine is operated. Where practice is to seal abandoned workings, the sealing shall be done in a substantial manner with incombustible material. In every sealed area, 1 or more of the seals shall be fitted with a pipe and cap or valve to permit the gases behind the seals to be sampled and also to provide a means of determining any existing hydrostatic pressure.

In worked-out places where timbers are being removed, persons engaged in drawing timber shall not be permitted to work alone.

Sec. 10. Whenever any logs, timber, boards, planks, spars, boomsticks, spiles, shinglebolts, railroad ties, or fence posts, in rafts or otherwise shall be drifted or float upon any island in any of the waters or streams in this state, or upon the banks or shores of such waters or lands adjacent thereto, the owner of such logs, timber, boards, planks, spars, boomsticks, spiles, shinglebolts, railroad ties, or fence posts, or any person or corporation entitled to the possession thereof, may at any time within 18 months remove the same upon paying or tendering to the owner or occupant of such bank, shore, or lands, such reasonable damages as may have been caused by such occupancy and removal, but if the amount of such damages can not be agreed upon by the owner or occupant of such bank, shore or land, and such owner, person or corporation entitled to such logs, timber, boards, planks, spars, boomsticks, spiles, shinglebolts, railroad ties, or fence posts, either of them may elect to have the amount of said damages left to arbitration in the manner following: The party or parties so electing, or their authorized agent or attorney, shall serve a written notice by mail or otherwise, upon such other party or parties, reciting the fact that they elect to have such damages left to arbitration, and that they will meet such persons, their agents or attorneys, at the office of some 1 of the justices of the peace of the township, where such island, bank, shore, or land is situated, at a time in said notice mentioned, not less than 6 days nor more than 20 days from the time of the service of said notice, at which time and place such parties or their authorized agents or attorneys shall meet to choose such arbitrators as aforesaid; in the manner following: The party giving notice, or his, her, or their authorized agent or attorney shall select 1 person to act as 1 of said arbitrators, and the party so notified, his, her, or their authorized agent or attorney, shall choose another, and these 2 thus chosen shall select a third. Provided, That all persons chosen under the provisions of this act, shall be chosen from among the freeholders residing in the township, or an adjoining township where such island, bank, shore, or land is situated. And if said parties, his, her, or their authorized agents or attorneys cannot agree upon the selection of said persons as arbitrators, then either or any of such parties may certify such fact or facts, to 1 of the justices of the peace of such township as aforesaid who shall upon the receipt of such certificate proceed at once to make a list of the names of 18 freeholders who shall be, either residents of such township, or of such township and adjoining townships, and the parties aforesaid shall strike out, alternately, the plaintiff first striking out, 1 name from the said list, until only 3 names remain, and the freeholders whose names so remain upon the list shall act as such arbitrators. Said justice of the peace shall notify said persons so selected, who shall appear before such justice at a day set by him, at a time not less than 3 nor more than 10 days from the service of said notice. At such time so set for the meeting of said arbitrators, they shall appear and be sworn or affirmed to justly and equitably try all matters in relation to such damages, and shall proceed to hear testimony and decide the amount of said damages. The said arbitrators shall have the right to view the said island, bank, shore, or land, the occupancy of which is in controversy. The said arbitrators shall have all the powers usual to arbitrators. When the said arbitrators shall have determined the amount of damages, they shall, if chosen by the interested parties as first provided in this section, certify the same to 1 of the justices of the peace in the township where the said island, bank, shore, or land is situated, who shall thereupon enter a judgment in his docket for such award against such owner, person, or corporation entitled to such logs, timber, boards, planks or floatables, and execution shall issue thereon, as in other cases in justices courts. But if the arbitrators shall have been designated from any list of names as provided in this section, they shall certify the amount of damages to the justice of the peace making such list, and he shall in like manner enter judgment, and execution shall issue thereon the same as in other cases in justices courts. Should either party complain of such award such party may appeal to the circuit court of the county where such island, bank, shore, or land is situated, by giving bonds for the amount of such award and costs, but such appeal shall not be allowed except for reasons as set forth in sections 9 and 10, chapter 292 of Howells annotated statutes. If such logs, timber, boards, planks, spars, boomsticks, spiles, shinglebolts, railroad ties or fence posts shall not be removed within said 18 months under the provisions of this section, the owner thereof shall be deemed to have forfeited all right thereto, and such owner or occupant of said lands may make out a sworn statement containing a description of the lands on which said logs, timber, boards, planks, or floatables are lying, the number of logs, and the amount of timber, boards, plank, spars, boomsticks, spiles, shinglebolts, railroad ties or fence posts as nearly as may be, and the marks thereon if any, and the length of time the same have remained on said land, and upon delivering such statement to any sheriff, deputy sheriff, or constable, such officer shall proceed and make sale of such logs, timber, boards, planks, spars, boomsticks, spiles, shinglebolts, railroad ties or fence posts, at public auction, at some convenient and public place in the vicinity thereof. Immediately on making such sale, such officer shall pay over to the owner or occupant of such lands, the proceeds of such sale, less his fees for making the same, which fee shall be the same as upon levy and sale upon execution: Provided, That no sale shall be made without giving 10 days' notice to the owner of such logs, if known; and if not known, then such officer shall give like notice as he would be required to give on sale of personal property on execution, and when such sale shall have been made he shall thereupon make his certificate, stating the time and place of sale the number or amount of logs, timber, boards, planks, spars, boomsticks, spiles, shinglebolts, railroad ties, or fence posts, sold and the marks thereon, if any, and the name of the purchaser or purchasers, the amount paid and the disposition of the same. He shall at once annex such sworn statement to said certificate and file the same in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the sale was made. Provided, further, That when the property mentioned in section 1 of this act, shall be or lie upon any improved farming lands of this state, adjoining any of the waters mentioned in said section 1, if the owner or occupant of such lands shall make the affidavit hereinbefore required, and shall cause a copy of said affidavit to be personally served on the owner or agent of the owner of the property mentioned in said affidavit, if said agent or owner be known to the owner or occupant of said lands, but if not known to said owner or occupant, then he shall cause a copy of said affidavit to be published in 1 or more newspapers in said county in which said land is situated for 3 successive weeks, if there be one, but if not, in 1 of an adjoining county, and a copy of the same shall be sent to the office of the booming or log-running company having such property in charge or doing business on such streams if known by said owner or occupant, said notice to be sent by mail or otherwise, which said notice shall require said owner or agent to remove said property mentioned in the said affidavit, within 30 days after the receipt of said notice. If said owner shall neglect or refuse to remove the said property, and pay all reasonable damages and charges thereon then said owner or occupant may remove the same to the adjoining stream, or to the banks thereof, and if the same is not claimed by the owner thereof within 6 months thereafter, and all reasonable charges and damages are not paid, the owner or occupant of said land is empowered to sell the same at public auction to the highest bidder by giving the same notice as required by law in sales of personal property by sheriffs and constables; said sale to be conducted as hereinbefore provided for the sale of logs, timber, boards, planks, spars, boomsticks, spiles, shinglebolts, railroad ties or fence posts, having lain for 18 months upon such land and the proceeds applied in the same way as provided in case of the sale of such logs, timber, boards, planks, spars, boomsticks, spiles, shinglebolts, railroad ties or fence posts; And provided further, That all reasonable damages and expenses incurred and suffered by the owner or occupant of such lands shall be a lien upon such logs, timber, boards, plank spars boomsticks, spiles, shinglebolts, railroad ties, or fence posts until paid.

AN ACT to provide for the registration of trademarks and service marks; to prescribe the powers and duties of the secretary of state; to prescribe remedies; and to repeal certain acts and parts of acts.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

429.31 Registration of trademarks and service marks; definitions.

Sec. 1. As used in this act:

(a) "Trademark" means any word, name, symbol or device, or any combination thereof, other than a trade name in its entirety, adopted and used by a person to identify goods made or sold by him and to distinguish them from similar goods made or sold by others.

(b) "Person" means any individual, firm, partnership, corporation, association, union or other organization.

(c) "Applicant" means the person filing an application for registration of a trademark or service mark under this act, his legal representatives, successors or assigns.

(d) "Registrant" means the person to whom the registration of a trademark or service mark under this act is issued, his legal representatives, successors or assigns.

(e) "Service mark" means any word, name, symbol or device, or any combination thereof, other than a trade name in its entirety, adopted and used by a person in the sale or advertising of services to identify his services and distinguish them from the similar services of others.

(f) "Mark" includes any trademark or service mark.

(g) "Trade name" means a word or group of words used by any person to identify a sole proprietorship, firm, partnership, corporation, association, union or other organization.

(h) A mark is "used" in this state on goods when it is placed in any manner on the goods or their containers or on the tags or labels affixed thereto and such goods are sold or otherwise distributed in this state, and on services when it is used or displayed in this state in the sale or advertising of services and the services are rendered in this state.

(i) A mark is "abandoned" when its use has been discontinued with intent not to resume. Intent not to resume may be inferred from circumstances. Nonuse for 2 consecutive years shall be prima facie abandonment.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 466, Act 242, Eff. Jan. 1, 1970.

429.32 Nonregisterable marks.

Sec. 2. A mark by which the goods or services of any applicant for registration may be distinguished from the goods or services of others shall not be registered if it:

(a) Consists of or comprises immoral, deceptive or scandalous matter.

(b) Consists of or comprises matter which may disparage or falsely suggest a connection with persons, living or dead, institutions, beliefs or national symbols, or bring them into contempt or disrepute.

(c) Consists of or comprises the flag or coat of arms or other insignia of the United States, or of any state or municipality, or of any foreign nation, or any simulation thereof.

(d) Consists of or comprises the name, signature or portrait of any living individual, except with his written consent.

(e) Consists of a mark which, when applied to the goods or services of the applicant, is merely descriptive or deceptively misdescriptive of them, or when applied to the goods or services of the applicant is primarily geographically descriptive or deceptively misdescriptive of them, or is primarily merely a surname. Nothing in this subsection shall prevent the registration of a mark used in this state by the applicant which has become distinctive of the applicant's goods or services. The secretary of state may accept as evidence that the mark has become distinctive, as applied to the applicant's goods or services, proof of continuous use thereof as a mark by the applicant in this state or elsewhere for the 5 years next preceding the date of the filing of the application for registration.

(f) Consists of or comprises a mark which so resembles a mark registered in this state or a mark or trade name previously used in this state by another and not abandoned as to be likely, when applied to the goods or services of the applicant, to cause confusion or mistake or to deceive.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 468, Act 242, Eff. Jan. 1, 1970.

(d) A statement that the applicant is the owner of the mark and that no other person has the right to use such mark in this state either in the identical form thereof or in such near resemblance thereto as might be calculated to deceive or to be mistaken therefor.

(2) The application shall be signed, verified and sworn to by the applicant if an individual, or by a member of the firm or an officer of the corporation, association or union, or by a member of the copartnership applying.

(3) The application shall be accompanied by 2 specimens or facsimiles of the mark as used at the time of applying for registration of the mark.

(4) An application for renewal shall include a statement by the applicant setting forth the goods or services on or in connection with which the mark is still in use in this state, or if not still in use sufficient facts must be recited to show that nonuse is due to special circumstances which excuse such nonuse and is not due to any intention to abandon the mark.

HISTORY: New 1969, p. 469, Act 242, Eff. Jan. 1, 1970.

429.36 Assignment of marks; fee; recording.

There shall be levied and collected by the commission on all beer manufactured or sold in this state a tax at the rate of $6.30 per barrel if sold in bulk, and in like ratio if sold in different quantities, the payment of which shall be evidenced by excise tax beer stamps, caps, lids or crowns as prescribed by the commission, affixed to the barrel, keg, case or other container, by the brewer if manufactured in this state, unless otherwise provided by the commission with respect to beer manufactured within this state, or by the wholesaler or the person from whom purchased if manufactured outside this state, whichever shall be designated by the commission, before sale thereof within this state by said wholesaler. The tax imposed by this act upon beer manufactured in or imported into this state shall be rebated to such manufacturer or wholesaler upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the commission by affidavit or otherwise, as the commission may determine, that such beer was shipped out of the state for sale and consumption outside the state. Upon application to the commission on or before March 15, 1970, with respect to taxes paid under this section on beer sold during the calendar year 1969, and on or before March 15, 1971, with respect to taxes paid under this section on beer sold during the calendar year 1970, by a brewer or importing wholesaler of beer which application establishes satisfactory proof that he has paid tax at the rate of $6.30 per barrel on sales of 50,000 barrels of beer or less during the preceding calendar year, said brewer or importing wholesaler may make application for a refund of tax paid on beer sold in Michigan during the preceding year, which refund shall be an amount determined by multiplying the number of barrels in excess of 10,000 barrels but not in excess of 25,000 barrels by $2.00. In determining the number of barrels, all brands or labels of a manufacturer shall be combined. In the case of a wholesaler of imported beer the rebate shall be determined by the ratio that the wholesaler's Michigan sales of the imported beer of an out-of-state manufacturer bears to the total Michigan sales of the beer of that out-of-state manufacturer. If the tax imposed by this section is repealed or reduced, every licensee who on the effective date of the repeal or reduction has on hand any beer shall file a complete inventory thereof with the commission within 20 days thereafter and shall receive from the commission a refund equal to the amount of tax or the difference between the old tax and the new tax. For the purposes of taxation, a barrel shall be construed to contain 31 gallons.

Retaliatory rule.

The commission shall forthwith adopt a regulation designating the states, the laws, or the rules or regulations of which are found to require a licensed wholesaler of beer therein to pay an additional fee for the right to purchase, import or sell beer manufactured in this state; or which deny the issuance of a license authorizing the importation of beer to any duly licensed wholesaler of beer therein who may make application for such license; or which prohibit licensed wholesalers of beer therein from possessing or selling beer purchased in this state, unless the one from whom purchased has secured a license and paid a fee therein, when such seller neither transports the beer into said state nor sells the same therein; or which impose any higher taxes or inspection fees upon beer manufactured in this state when transporting into or sold therein, than is imposed upon beer manufactured and sold within said state, the regulation adopted shall prohibit all licensees from purchasing, receiving, possessing or selling any beer manufactured in any state therein designated, said regulation to become effective 90 days after its adoption. Any licensee or person adversely affected shall be entitled to review by certiorari to the proper court the question as to whether the commission has acted illegally or in excess of authority in making its finding with respect to any state.

(2) Underlying purposes and policies of this act are

- (b) to permit the continued expansion of commercial practices through custom, usage and agreement of the parties;

(c) to make uniform the law among the various jurisdictions.

(3) The effect of provisions of this act may be varied by agreement, except as otherwise provided in this act and except that the obligations of good faith, diligence, reasonableness and care prescribed by this act may not be disclaimed by agreement but the parties may by agreement determine the standards by which the performance of such obligations is to be measured if such standards are not manifestly unreasonable.

(4) The presence in certain provisions of this act of the words "unless otherwise agreed" or words of similar import does not imply that the effect of other provisions may not be varied by agreement under subsection (3).

(5) In this act unless the context otherwise requires

PART 2

GENERAL DEFINITIONS AND PRINCIPLES OF INTERPRETATION

440.1201 Uniform commercial code; definitions.

Sec. 1201. Subject to additional definitions contained in the subsequent articles of this act which are applicable to specific articles or parts thereof, and unless the context otherwise requires, in this act:

(1) "Action" in the sense of a judicial proceeding includes recoupment, counterclaim, setoff, suit in equity and any other proceedings in which rights are determined.

(2) "Aggrieved party" means a party entitled to resort to a remedy.

(3) "Agreement" means the bargain of the parties in fact as found in their language or by implication from other circumstances including course of dealing or usage of trade or course of performance as provided in this act (sections 1205 and 2208). Whether an agreement has legal consequences is determined by the provisions of this act, if applicable; otherwise by the law of contracts (section 1103). (Compare "Contract".)

(4) "Bank" means any person engaged in the business of banking.

(5) "Bearer" means the person in possession of an instrument, document of title, or security payable to bearer or indorsed in blank.

(6) "Bill of lading" means a document evidencing the receipt of goods for shipment issued by a person engaged in the business of transporting or forwarding goods, and includes an airbill. "Airbill" means a document serving for air transportation as a bill of lading does for marine or rail transportation, and includes an air consignment note or air waybill.

(7) "Branch" includes a separately incorporated foreign branch of a bank.

(8) "Burden of establishing a fact" means the burden of persuading the triers of fact that the existence of the fact is more probable than its nonexistence.

(9) "Buyer in ordinary course of business" means a person who in good faith and without knowledge that the sale to him is in violation of the ownership rights or security interest of a third party in the goods buys in ordinary course from a person in the business of selling goods of that kind but does not include a pawnbroker. "Buying" may be for cash or by exchange of other property or on secured or unsecured credit and includes receiving goods or documents of title under a pre-existing contract for sale but does not include a transfer in bulk or as security for or in total or partial satisfaction of a money debt.

(10) "Conspicuous": A term or clause is conspicuous when it is so written that a reasonable person against whom it is to operate ought to have noticed it. A printed heading in capitals (as: non-negotiable bill of lading) is conspicuous. Language in the body of a form is "conspicuous" if it is in larger or other contrasting type or color. But in a telegram any stated term is "conspicuous". Whether a term or clause is "conspicuous" or not is for decision by the court.

(11) "Contract" means the total legal obligation which results from the parties' agreement as affected by this act and any other applicable rules of law. (Compare "agreement".)

(12) "Creditor" includes a general creditor, a secured creditor, a lien creditor and any representative of creditors, including an assignee for the benefit of creditors, a trustee in bankruptcy, a receiver in equity and an executor or administrator of an insolvent debtor's or assignor's estate.

(13) "Defendant" includes a person in the position of defendant in a cross-action or counterclaim.

(14) "Delivery" with respect to instruments, documents of title, chattel paper or securities means voluntary transfer of possession.

(15) "Document of title" includes bill of lading, dock warrant, dock receipt, warehouse receipt or order for the delivery of goods, and also any other document which in the regular course of business or financing is treated as adequately evidencing that the person in possession of it is entitled to receive, hold and dispose of the document and the goods it covers. To be a document of title a document must purport to be issued by or addressed to a bailee and purport to cover goods in the bailee's possession which are either identified or are fungible portions of an identified mass.

(16) "Fault" means wrongful act, omission or breach.

(17) "Fungible" with respect to goods or securities means goods or securities of which any unit is, by nature or usage of trade, the equivalent of any other like unit. Goods which are not fungible shall be deemed fungible for the purposes of this act to the extent that under a particular agreement or document unlike units are treated as equivalents.

(18) "Genuine" means free of forgery or counterfeiting.

(19) "Good faith" means honesty in fact in the conduct or transaction concerned.

(20) "Holder" means a person who is in possession of a document of title or an instrument or an investment security drawn, issued or indorsed to him or to his order or to bearer or in blank.

(21) To "honor" is to pay or to accept and pay, or where a credit so engages to purchase or discount a draft complying with the terms of the credit.

(22) "Insolvency proceedings" includes any assignment for the benefit of creditors or other proceedings intended to liquidate or rehabilitate the estate of the person involved.

(23) A person is "insolvent" who either has ceased to pay his debts in the ordinary course of business or cannot pay his debts as they become due or is insolvent within the meaning of the federal bankruptcy law.

(24) "Money" means a medium of exchange authorized or adopted by a domestic or foreign government as a part of its currency.

(25) A person has "notice" of a fact when

(a) he has actual knowledge of it; or

(b) he has received a notice or notification of it; or

(c) from all the facts and circumstances known to him at the time in question he has reason to know that it exists.

A person "knows" or has "knowledge" of a fact when he has actual knowledge of it. "Discover" or "learn" or a word or phrase of similar import refers to knowledge rather than to reason to know. The time and circumstances under which a notice or notification may cease to be effective are not determined by this act.

(26) A person "notifies" or "gives" a notice or notification to another by taking such steps as may be reasonably required to inform the other in ordinary course whether or not such other actually comes to know of it. A person "receives" a notice or notification when

(a) it comes to his attention; or
(b) it is duly delivered at the place of business through which the contract was made or at any other place held out by him as the place for receipt of such communications.

(27) Notice, knowledge or a notice or notification received by an organization is effective for a particular transaction from the time when it is brought to the attention of the individual conducting that transaction, and in any event from the time when it would have been brought to his attention if the organization had exercised due diligence. An organization exercises due diligence if it maintains reasonable routines for communicating significant information to the person conducting the transaction and there is reasonable compliance with the routines. Due diligence does not require an individual acting for the organization to communicate information unless such communication is part of his regular duties or unless he has reason to know of the transaction and that the transaction would be materially affected by the information.

(28) "Organization" includes a corporation, government or governmental subdivision or agency, business trust, estate, trust, partnership or association, 2 or more persons having a joint or common interest, or any other legal or commercial entity.

(29) "Party", as distinct from "third party", means a person who has engaged in a transaction or made an agreement within this act.

(30) "Person" includes an individual or an organization (see section 1102).

(31) "Presumption" or "presumed" means that the trier of fact must find the existence of the fact presumed unless and until evidence is introduced which would support a finding of its non-existence.

(32) "Purchase" includes taking by sale, discount, negotiation, mortgage, pledge, lien, issue or re-issue, gift or any other voluntary transaction creating an interest in property.

(33) "Purchaser" means a person who takes by purchase.

(34) "Remedy" means any remedial right to which an aggrieved party is entitled with or without resort to a tribunal.

(35) "Representative" includes an agent, an officer of a corporation or association, and a trustee, executor or administrator of an estate, or any other person empowered to act for another.

(37) "Security interest" means an interest in personal property or fixtures which secures payment or performance of an obligation. The retention or reservation of title by a seller of goods notwithstanding shipment or delivery to the buyer (section 2401) is limited in effect to a reservation of a "security interest". The term also includes any interest of a buyer of accounts, chattel paper, or contract rights which is subject to article 9. The special property interest of a buyer of goods on identification of such goods to a contract for sale under section 2401 is not a "security interest", but a buyer may also acquire a "security interest" by complying with article 9. Unless a lease or consignment is intended as security, reservation of title thereunder is not a "security interest" but a consignment is in any event subject to the provisions on consignment sales (section 2326). Whether a lease is intended as security is to be determined by the facts of each case; however, (a) the inclusion of an option to purchase does not of itself make the lease one intended for security, and (b) an agreement that upon compliance with the terms of the lease the lessee shall become or has the option to become the owner of the property for no additional consideration or for a nominal consideration does make the lease one intended for security.

(38) "Send" in connection with any writing or notice means to deposit in the mail or deliver for transmission by any other usual means of communication with postage or cost of transmission provided for and properly addressed and in the case of an instrument to an address specified thereon or otherwise agreed, or if there be none to any address reasonable under the circumstances. The receipt of any writing or notice within the time at which it would have arrived, if properly sent, has the effect of a proper sending.

(39) "Signed" includes any symbol executed or adopted by a party with present intention to authenticate a writing, including a carbon copy of his signature.

(40) "Surety" includes guarantor.

(41) "Telegram" includes a message transmitted by radio, teletype, cable, any mechanical method of transmission, or the like.

(42) "Term" means that portion of an agreement which relates to a particular matter.

(43) "Unauthorized" signature or indorsement means one made without actual, implied or apparent authority and includes a forgery.

(44) "Value". Except as otherwise provided with respect to negotiable instruments and bank collections (sections 3303, 4208 and 4209) a person gives "value" for rights if he acquires them

(a) in return for a binding commitment to extend credit or for the extension of immediately available credit whether or not drawn upon and whether or not a charge-back is provided for in the event of difficulties in collection; or

(b) as security for or in total or partial satisfaction of a pre-existing claim; or

(c) by accepting delivery pursuant to a pre-existing contract for purchase; or

(d) generally, in return for any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract.

(45) "Warehouse receipt" means a receipt issued by a person engaged in the business of storing goods for hire.

(46) "Written" or "writing" includes printing, typewriting or any other intentional reduction to tangible form.

440.1202 Prima facie evidence by third party documents.

Sec. 1202. A document in due form purporting to be a bill of lading, policy or certificate of insurance, official weigher's or inspector's certificate, consular invoice, or any other document authorized or required by the contract to be issued by a third party shall be prima facie evidence of its own authenticity and genuineness and of the fact stated in the document by the third party.

440.1204 Time; reasonable time; seasonably, definition.

Sec. 1204. (1) Whenever this act requires any action to be taken within a reasonable time, any time which is not manifestly unreasonable may be fixed by agreement.

(2) What is a reasonable time for taking any action depends on the nature, purpose and circumstances of such action.

(3) An action is taken "seasonably" when it is taken at or within the time agreed or if no time is agreed at or within a reasonable time.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 204, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.1205 Course of dealing; usage of trade, evidence.

Sec. 1205. (1) A course of dealing is a sequence of previous conduct between the parties to a particular transaction which is fairly to be regarded as establishing a common basis of understanding for interpreting their expressions and other conduct.

(2) A usage of trade is any practice or method of dealing having such regularity of observance in a place, vocation or trade as to justify an expectation that it will be observed with respect to the transaction in question. The existence and scope of such a usage are to be proved as facts. If it is established that such a usage is embodied in a written trade code or similar writing the interpretation of the writing is for the court.

(3) A course of dealing between parties and any usage of trade in the vocation or trade in which they are engaged or of which they are or should be aware give particular meaning to and supplement or qualify terms of an agreement.

(4) The express terms of an agreement and an applicable course of dealing or usage of trade shall be construed wherever reasonable as consistent with each other; but when such construction is unreasonable express terms control both course of dealing and usage of trade and course of dealing controls usage of trade.

(5) An applicable usage of trade in the place where any part of performance is to occur shall be used in interpreting the agreement as to that part of the performance.

(6) Evidence of a relevant usage of trade offered by one party is not admissible unless and until he has given the other party such notice as the court finds sufficient to prevent unfair surprise to the latter.

(1) Except in the cases described in subsection (2) of this section a contract for the sale of personal property is not enforceable by way of action or defense beyond $5,000.00 in amount or value of remedy unless there is some writing which indicates that a contract for sale has been made between the parties at a defined or stated price, reasonably identifies the subject matter, and is signed by the party against whom enforcement is sought or by his authorized agent.

(2) Subsection (1) of this section does not apply to contracts for the sale of goods (section 2201) nor of securities (section 8319) nor to security agreements (section 9203).

440.1207 Performance or acceptance with reservation of rights.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 205, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.1208 Right to accelerate or require collateral.

Sec. 1208. A term providing that one party or his successor in interest may accelerate payment or performance or require collateral or additional collateral "at will" or "when he deems himself insecure" or in words of similar import shall be construed to mean that he shall have power to do so only if he in good faith believes that the prospect of payment or performance is impaired. The burden of establishing lack of good faith is on the party against whom the power has been exercised.

440.2104 Merchant; definition.

Sec. 2104. (1) "Merchant" means a person who deals in goods of the kind or otherwise by his occupation holds himself out as having knowledge or skill peculiar to the practices or goods involved in the transaction or to whom such knowledge or skill may be attributed by his employment of an agent or broker or other intermediary who by his occupation holds himself out as having such knowledge or skill.

(2) "Financing agency" means a bank, finance company or other person who in the ordinary course of business makes advances against goods or documents of title or who by arrangement with either the seller or the buyer intervenes in ordinary course to make or collect payment due or claimed under the contract for sale, as by purchasing or paying the sellers draft or making advances against it or by merely taking it for collection whether or not documents of title accompany the draft. Between merchants.

(3) "Between merchants" means in any transaction with respect to which both parties are chargeable with the knowledge or skill of merchants.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 206, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2105 Goods, lot, commercial unit; definitions.

Sec. 2105. (1) "Goods" means all things (including specially manufactured goods) which are movable at the time of identification to the contract for sale other than the money in which the price is to be paid, investment securities (article 8) and things in action. "Goods" also includes the unborn young of animals and growing crops and other identified things attached to realty as described in the section on goods to be severed from realty (section 2107).

(2) Goods must be both existing and identified before any interest in them can pass. Goods which are not both existing and identified are "future" goods. A purported present sale of future goods or of any interest therein operates as a contract to sell.

(3) There may be a sale of a part interest in existing identified goods.

(4) An undivided share in an identified bulk of fungible goods is sufficiently identified to be sold although the quantity of the bulk is not determined. Any agreed proportion of such a bulk or any quantity thereof agreed upon by number, weight or other measure may to the extent of the seller's interest in the bulk be sold to the buyer who then becomes an owner in common.

(5) "Lot" means a parcel or a single article which is the subject matter of a separate sale or delivery, whether or not it is sufficient to perform the contract.

(6) "Commercial unit" means such a unit of goods as by commercial usage is a single whole for purposes of sale and division of which materially impairs its character or value on the market or in use. A commercial unit may be a single article (as a machine) or a set of articles (as a suite of furniture or an assortment of sizes) or a quantity (as a bale, gross, or carload) or any other unit treated in use or in the relevant market as a single whole.

440.2106 Contract, agreement, contract for sale, sale, present sale; definitions.

Sec. 2106. (1) In this article unless the context otherwise requires “contract” and “agreement” are limited to those relating to the present or future sale of goods. “Contract for sale” includes both a present sale of goods and a contract to sell goods at a future time. A “sale” consists in the passing of title from the seller to the buyer for a price (section 2401). A “present sale” means a sale which is accomplished by the making of the contract.

Conforming goods or conduct.

(2) Goods or conduct including any part of a performance are “conforming” or conform to the contract when they are in accordance with the obligations under the contract.

Termination.

(3) “Termination” occurs when either party pursuant to a power created by agreement or law puts an end to the contract otherwise than for its breach. On “termination” all obligations which are still executory on both sides are discharged but any right based on prior breach or performance survives.

Cancellation.

(4) “Cancellation” occurs when either party puts an end to the contract for breach by the other and its effect is the same as that of “termination” except that the cancelling party also retains any remedy for breach of the whole contract or any unperformed balance.

440.2107 Contract for sale of property removable from realty; severance, recording.

Sec. 2107. (1) A contract for the sale of timber, minerals or the like or a structure or its materials to be removed from realty is a contract for the sale of goods within this article if they are to be severed by the seller but until severance a purported present sale thereof which is not effective as a transfer of an interest in land is effective only as a contract to sell.

(2) A contract for the sale apart from the land of growing crops or other things attached to realty and capable of severance without material harm thereto but not described in subsection (1) is a contract for the sale of goods within this article whether the subject matter is to be severed by the buyer or by the seller even though it forms part of the realty at the time of contracting, and the parties can by identification effect a present sale before severance.

(3) The provisions of this section are subject to any third party rights provided by the law relating to realty records, and the contract for sale may be executed and recorded as a document transferring an interest in land and shall then constitute notice to third parties of the buyer's rights under the contract for sale.

PART 2

FORM, FORMATION AND READJUSTMENT OF CONTRACTS

440.2201 Formal requirements; statute of frauds.

Sec. 2201. (1) Except as otherwise provided in this section a contract for the sale of goods for the price of $500.00 or more is not enforceable by way of action or defense unless there is some writing sufficient to indicate that a contract for sale has been made between the parties and signed by the party against whom enforcement is sought or by his authorized agent or broker. A writing is not insufficient because it omits or incorrectly states a term agreed upon but the contract is not enforceable under this paragraph beyond the quantity of goods shown in such writing.

(2) Between merchants if within a reasonable time a writing in confirmation of the contract and sufficient against the sender is received and the party receiving it has reason to know its contents, it satisfies the requirements of subsection (1) against such party unless written notice of objection to its contents is given within 10 days after it is received.

(3) A contract which does not satisfy the requirements of subsection (1) but which is valid in other respects is enforceable

(a) if the goods are to be specially manufactured for the buyer and are not suitable for sale to others in the ordinary course of the seller's business and the seller, before notice of repudiation is received and under circumstances which reasonably indicate that the goods are for the buyer, has made either a substantial beginning of their manufacture or commitments for their procurement; or

(b) if the party against whom enforcement is sought admits in his pleading, testimony or otherwise in court that a contract for sale was made, but the contract is not enforceable under this provision beyond the quantity of goods admitted; or

(c) with respect to goods for which payment has been made and accepted or which have been received and accepted (section 2606).

CITED IN OTHER SECTIONS: The above section is cited in § 257.251.

440.2202 Final written expression of agreement; parol or extrinsic evidence.

Sec. 2202. Terms with respect to which the confirmatory memoranda of the parties agree or which are otherwise set forth in a writing intended by the parties as a final expression of their agreement with respect to such terms as are included therein may not be contradicted by evidence of any prior agreement or of a contemporaneous oral agreement but may be explained or supplemented

(a) by course of dealing or usage of trade (section 1205) or by course of performance (section 2208); and

(b) by evidence of consistent additional terms unless the court finds the writing to have been intended also as a complete and exclusive statement of the terms of the agreement.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 208, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2203 Seals.

Sec. 2203. The affixing of a seal to a writing evidencing a contract for sale or an offer to buy or sell goods does not constitute the writing a sealed instrument and the law with respect to sealed instruments does not apply to such a contract or offer.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 209, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2204 Contract for sale; formation, conduct, time, open terms.

Sec. 2204. (1) A contract for sale of goods may be made in any manner sufficient to show agreement, including conduct by both parties which recognizes the existence of such a contract.

(2) An agreement sufficient to constitute a contract for sale may be found even though the moment of its making is undetermined.

(3) Even though one or more terms are left open a contract for sale does not fail for indefiniteness if the parties have intended to make a contract and there is a reasonably certain basis for giving an appropriate remedy.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 209, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2205 Firm offers.

Sec. 2205. An offer by a merchant to buy or sell goods in a signed writing which by its terms gives assurance that it will be held open is not revocable, for lack of consideration, during the time stated or if no time is stated for a reasonable time, but in no event may such period of irrevocability exceed 3 months; but any such term of assurance on a form supplied by the offeree must be separately signed by the offeror.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 209, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2206 Offer and acceptance in formation of contract.

Sec. 2206. (1) Unless otherwise unambiguously indicated by the language or circumstances

(a) an offer to make a contract shall be construed as inviting acceptance in any manner and by any medium reasonable in the circumstances;

(b) an order or other offer to buy goods for prompt or current shipment shall be construed as inviting acceptance either by a prompt promise to ship or by the prompt or current shipment of conforming or nonconforming goods, but such a shipment of nonconforming goods does not constitute an acceptance if the seller seasonably notifies the buyer that the shipment is offered only as an accommodation to the buyer.

(2) Where the beginning of a requested performance is a reasonable mode of acceptance an offeror who is not notified of acceptance within a reasonable time may treat the offer as having lapsed before acceptance.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 209, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2207 Additional or different terms in acceptance; contract by conduct.

Sec. 2207. (1) A definite and seasonable expression of acceptance or a written confirmation which is sent within a reasonable time operates as an acceptance even though it states terms additional to or different from those offered or agreed upon, unless acceptance is expressly made conditional on assent to the additional or different terms.

(2) The additional terms are to be construed as proposals for addition to the contract. Between merchants such terms become part of the contract unless:

(a) the offer expressly limits acceptance to the terms of the offer;

(b) they materially alter it; or

(c) notification of objection to them has already been given or is given within a reasonable time after notice of them is received.

(3) Conduct by both parties which recognizes the existence of a contract is sufficient to establish a contract for sale although the writings of the parties do not otherwise establish a contract. In such case the terms of the particular contract consist of those terms on which the writings of the parties agree, together with any supplementary terms incorporated under any other provisions of this act.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 209, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2208 Course of performance; practical construction, waiver, modification.

Sec. 2208. (1) Where the contract for sale involves repeated occasions for performance by either party with knowledge of the nature of the performance and opportunity for objection to it by the other, any course of performance accepted or acquiesced in without objection shall be relevant to determine the meaning of the agreement.

(2) The express terms of the agreement and any such course of performance, as well as any course of dealing and usage of trade, shall be construed whenever reasonable as consistent with each other; but when such construction is unreasonable, express terms shall control course of performance and course of performance shall control both course of dealing and usage of trade (section 1205).

(3) Subject to the provisions of the next section on modification and waiver, such course of performance shall be relevant to show a waiver or modification of any term inconsistent with such course of performance.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 210, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2209 Modification; rescission; waiver, retraction.

Sec. 2209. (1) An agreement modifying a contract within this article needs no consideration to be binding.

(2) A signed agreement which excludes modification or rescission except by a signed writing cannot be otherwise modified or rescinded, but except as between merchants such a requirement on a form supplied by the merchant must be separately signed by the other party.

(3) The requirements of the statute of frauds section of this article (section 2201) must be satisfied if the contract as modified is within its provisions.

(4) Although an attempt at modification or rescission does not satisfy the requirements of subsection (2) or (3) it can operate as a waiver.

(5) A party who has made a waiver affecting an executory portion of the contract may retract the waiver by reasonable notification received by the other party that strict performance will be required of any term waived, unless the retraction would be unjust in view of a material change of position in reliance on the waiver.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 210, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2210 Delegation of performance; assignment of rights.

Sec. 2210. (1) A party may perform his duty through a delegate unless otherwise agreed or unless the other party has a substantial interest in having his original promisor perform or control the acts required by the contract. No delegation of performance relieves the party delegating of any duty to perform or any liability for breach.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed all rights of either seller or buyer can be assigned except where the assignment would materially change the duty of the other party, or increase materially the burden or risk imposed on him by his contract, or impair materially his chance of obtaining return performance. A right to damages for breach of the whole contract or a right arising out of the assignor's due performance of his entire obligation can be assigned despite agreement otherwise.

(3) Unless the circumstances indicate the contrary a prohibition of assignment of "the contract" is to be construed as barring only the delegation to the assignee of the assignor's performance.

(4) An assignment of "the contract" or of "all my rights under the contract" or an assignment in similar general terms is an assignment of rights and unless the language or the circumstances (as in an assignment for security) indicate the contrary, it is a delegation of performance of the duties of the assignor and its acceptance by the assignee constitutes a promise by him to perform those duties. This promise is enforceable by either the assignor or the other party to the original contract.

(5) The other party may treat any assignment which delegates performance as creating reasonable grounds for insecurity and may without prejudice to his rights against the assignor demand assurances from the assignee (section 2609).

PART 3

GENERAL OBLIGATION AND CONSTRUCTION OF CONTRACT

440.2301 Obligations of seller and buyer.

Sec. 2301. The obligation of the seller is to transfer and deliver and that of the buyer is to accept and pay in accordance with the contract.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 211, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2302 Unconscionable contract or clause.

Sec. 2302. (1) If the court as a matter of law finds the contract or any clause of the contract to have been unconscionable at the time it was made the court may refuse to enforce the contract, or it may enforce the remainder of the contract without the unconscionable clause, or it may so limit the application of any unconscionable clause as to avoid any unconscionable result.

(2) When it is claimed or appears to the court that the contract or any clause thereof may be unconscionable the parties shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity to present evidence as to its commercial setting, purpose and effect to aid the court in making the determination.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 211, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2303 Allocation or division of risk or burden.

Sec. 2303. Where this article allocates a risk or a burden as between the parties "unless otherwise agreed", the agreement may not only shift the allocation but may also divide the risk or burden.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 211, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2304 Price; payment in money, goods, realty, or otherwise.

Sec. 2304. (1) The price can be made payable in money or otherwise. If it is payable in whole or in part in goods each party is a seller of the goods which he is to transfer.

(2) Even though all or part of the price is payable in an interest in realty the transfer of the goods and the seller's obligations with reference to them are subject to this article, but not the transfer of the interest in realty or the transferor's obligations in connection therewith.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 211, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2305 Open price term; fixed price.

Sec. 2305. (1) The parties if they so intend can conclude a contract for sale even though the price is not settled. In such a case the price is a reasonable price at the time for delivery if

- (a) nothing is said as to price; or
- (b) the price is left to be agreed by the parties and they fail to agree; or
- (c) the price is to be fixed in terms of some agreed market or other standard as set or recorded by a third person or agency and it is not so set or recorded.

(2) A price to be fixed by the seller or by the buyer means a price for him to fix in good faith.

(3) When a price left to be fixed otherwise than by agreement of the parties fails to be fixed through fault of one party the other may at his option treat the contract as cancelled or himself fix a reasonable price.

(4) Where, however, the parties intend not to be bound unless the price be fixed or agreed and it is not fixed or agreed there is no contract. In such a case the buyer must return any goods already received or if unable so to do must pay their reasonable value at the time of delivery and the seller must return any portion of the price paid on account.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 211, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2306 Output of seller; requirement of buyer.

Sec. 2306. (1) A term which measures the quantity by the output of the seller or the requirements of the buyer means such actual output or requirements as may occur in good faith, except that no quantity unreasonably disproportionate to any stated estimate or in the absence of a stated estimate to any normal or otherwise comparable prior output or requirements may be tendered or demanded.

Exclusive dealing.

(2) A lawful agreement by either the seller or the buyer for exclusive dealing in the kind of goods concerned imposes unless otherwise agreed an obligation by the seller to use best efforts to supply the goods and by the buyer to use best efforts to promote their sale.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 211, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2307 Delivery in single lot or several lots; payment.

Sec. 2307. Unless otherwise agreed all goods called for by a contract for sale must be tendered in a single delivery and payment is due only on such tender but where the circumstances give either party the right to make or demand delivery in lots the price if it can be apportioned may be demanded for each lot.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 212, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2308 Place for delivery of goods and documents of title.

Sec. 2308. Unless otherwise agreed

(a) the place for delivery of goods is the seller's place of business or if he has none his residence; but

(b) in a contract for sale of identified goods which to the knowledge of the parties at the time of contracting are in some other place, that place is the place for their delivery; and

(c) documents of title may be delivered through customary banking channels.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 212, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2309 Time of performance; contract termination.

Sec. 2309. (1) The time for shipment or delivery or any other action under a contract if not provided in this article or agreed upon shall be a reasonable time.

(2) Where the contract provides for successive performances but is indefinite in duration it is valid for a reasonable time but unless otherwise agreed may be terminated at any time by either party.

(3) Termination of a contract by one party except on the happening of an agreed event requires that reasonable notification be received by the other party and an agreement dispensing with notification is invalid if its operation would be unconscionable.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 212, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2310 Open time and place for payment or running of credit; shipment under reservation; inspection.

Sec. 2310. Unless otherwise agreed

(a) payment is due at the time and place at which the buyer is to receive the goods even though the place of shipment is the place of delivery; and

(b) if the seller is authorized to send the goods he may ship them under reservation, and may tender the documents of title, but the buyer may inspect the goods after their arrival before payment is due unless such inspection is inconsistent with the terms of the contract (section 2513); and

(c) if delivery is authorized and made by way of documents of title otherwise than by subsection (b) then payment is due at the time and place at which the buyer is to receive the documents regardless of where the goods are to be received; and

(d) where the seller is required or authorized to ship the goods on credit the credit period runs from the time of shipment but postdating the invoice or delaying its dispatch will correspondingly delay the starting of the credit period.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 212, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2311 Specification of performance.

Sec. 2311. (1) An agreement for sale which is otherwise sufficiently definite (subsection (3) of section 2204) to be a contract is not made invalid by the fact that it leaves particulars of performance to be specified by one of the parties. Any such specification must be made in good faith and within limits set by commercial reasonableness.

Same; assortment and shipment of goods.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed specifications relating to assortment of the goods are at the buyer's option and except as otherwise provided in subsections (1)(c) and (3) of section 2319 specifications or arrangements relating to shipment are at the seller's option.

Same; remedies for failure to specify.

(3) Where such specification would materially affect the other party's performance but is not seasonably made or where one party's cooperation is necessary to the agreed performance of the other but is not seasonably forthcoming, the other party in addition to all other remedies

(a) is excused for any resulting delay in his own performance; and

(b) may also either proceed to perform in any reasonable manner or after the time for a material part of his own performance treat the failure to specify or to cooperate as a breach by failure to deliver or accept the goods.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 212, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2312 Warranties of title; freedom from liens.

Sec. 2312. (1) Subject to subsection (2) there is in a contract for sale a warranty by the seller that

(a) the title conveyed shall be good, and its transfer rightful; and

(b) the goods shall be delivered free from any security interest or other lien or encumbrance of which the buyer at the time of contracting has no knowledge.

(2) A warranty under subsection (1) will be excluded or modified only by specific language or by circumstances which give the buyer reason to know that the person selling does not claim title in himself or that he is purporting to sell only such right or title as he or a third person may have.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed a seller who is a merchant regularly dealing in goods of the kind warrants that the goods shall be delivered free of the rightful claim of any third person by way of infringement or the like but a buyer who furnishes specifications to the seller must hold the seller harmless against any such claim which arises out of compliance with the specifications.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 213, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2313 Express warranty; creation by affirmation, promise, description, sample; affirmation of value.

Sec. 2313. (1) Express warranties by the seller are created as follows:

(a) Any affirmation of fact or promise made by the seller to the buyer which relates to the goods and becomes part of the basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the goods shall conform to the affirmation or promise.

(b) Any description of the goods which is made part of the basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the goods shall conform to the description.

(c) Any sample or model which is made part of the basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the whole of the goods shall conform to the sample or model.

(2) It is not necessary to the creation of an express warranty that the seller use formal words such as "warrant" or "guarantee" or that he have a specific intention to make a warranty, but an affirmation merely of the value of the goods or a statement purporting to be merely the seller's opinion or commendation of the goods does not create a warranty.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 213, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2314 Implied warranty; merchantability, course of dealing, usage of trade.

Sec. 2314. (1) Unless excluded or modified (section 2316), a warranty that the goods shall be merchantable is implied in a contract for their sale if the seller is a merchant with respect to goods of that kind. Under this section the serving for value of food or drink to be consumed either on the premises or elsewhere is a sale.

(2) Goods to be merchantable must be at least such as

(a) pass without objection in the trade under the contract description; and

(b) in the case of fungible goods, are of fair average quality within the description; and

(c) are fit for the ordinary purposes for which such goods are used; and

(d) run, within the variations permitted by the agreement, of even kind, quality and quantity within each unit and among all units involved; and

(e) are adequately contained, packaged, and labeled as the agreement may require; and

(f) conform to the promises or affirmations of fact made on the container or label if any.

(3) Unless excluded or modified (section 2316) other implied warranties may arise from course of dealing or usage of trade.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 213, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2315 Implied warranty; fitness for particular purpose.

Sec. 2315. Where the seller at the time of contracting has reason to know any particular purpose for which the goods are required and that the buyer is relying on the seller's skill or judgment to select or furnish suitable goods, there is unless excluded or modified under the next section an implied warranty that the goods shall be fit for such purpose.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 214, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2316 Warranties; exclusion or modification.

Sec. 2316. (1) Words or conduct relevant to the creation of an express warranty and words or conduct tending to negate or limit warranty shall be construed wherever reasonable as consistent with each other; but subject to the provisions of this article on parol or extrinsic evidence (section 2202) negation or limitation is inoperative to the extent that such construction is unreasonable.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), to exclude or modify the implied warranty of merchantability or any part of it the language must mention merchantability and in case of a writing must be conspicuous, and to exclude or modify any implied warranty of fitness the exclusion must be by a writing and conspicuous. Language to exclude all implied warranties of fitness is sufficient if it states, for example, that "There are no warranties which extend beyond the description on the face hereof."

(3) Notwithstanding subsection (2)

(a) unless the circumstances indicate otherwise, all implied warranties are excluded by expressions like "as is", "with all faults" or other language which in common understanding calls the buyer's attention to the exclusion of warranties and makes plain that there is no implied warranty; and

(b) when the buyer before entering into the contract has examined the goods or the sample or model as fully as he desired or has refused to examine the goods there is no implied warranty with regard to defects which an examination ought in the circumstances to have revealed to him; and

(c) an implied warranty can also be excluded or modified by course of dealing or course of performance or usage of trade.

(4) Remedies for breach of warranty can be limited in accordance with the provisions of this article on liquidation or limitation of damages and on contractual modification of remedy (sections 2718 and 2719).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 214, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2317 Warranties; cumulation and conflict.

Sec. 2317. Warranties whether express or implied shall be construed as consistent with each other and as cumulative, but if such construction is unreasonable the intention of the parties shall determine which warranty is dominant. In ascertaining that intention the following rules apply:

(a) Exact or technical specifications displace an inconsistent sample or model or general language of description.

(b) A sample from an existing bulk displaces inconsistent general language of description.

(c) Express warranties displace inconsistent implied warranties other than an implied warranty of fitness for a particular purpose.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 214, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2318 Warranties; third party beneficiaries.

Sec. 2318. A seller's warranty whether express or implied extends to any natural person who is in the family or household of his buyer or who is a guest in his home if it is reasonable to expect that such person may use, consume or be affected by the goods and who is injured in person by breach of the warranty. A seller may not exclude or limit the operation of this section.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 214, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2319 F.O.B. and F.A.S. terms.

Sec. 2319. (1) Unless otherwise agreed the term F.O.B. (which means "free on board") at a named place, even though used only in connection with the stated price, is a delivery term under which

(a) when the term is F.O.B. the place of shipment, the seller must at that place ship the goods in the manner provided in this article (section 2504) and bear the expense and risk of putting them into the possession of the carrier; or

(b) when the term is F.O.B. the place of destination, the seller must at his own expense and risk transport the goods to that place and there tender delivery of them in the manner provided in this article (section 2503);

(c) when under either (a) or (b) the term is also F.O.B. vessel, car or other vehicle, the seller must in addition at his own expense and risk load the goods on board. If the term is F.O.B. vessel the buyer must name the vessel and in an appropriate case the seller must comply with the provisions of this article on the form of bill of lading (section 2323).

(2) Unless otherwise agreed the term F.A.S. vessel (which means "free alongside") at a named port, even though used only in connection with the stated price, is a delivery term under which the seller must

(a) at his own expense and risk deliver the goods alongside the vessel in the manner usual in that port or on a dock designated and provided by the buyer; and

(b) obtain and tender a receipt for the goods in exchange for which the carrier is under a duty to issue a bill of lading.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed in any case falling within subsection (1) (a) or (c) or subsection (2) the buyer must seasonably give any needed instructions for making delivery, including when the term is F.A.S. or F.O.B. the loading berth of the vessel and in an appropriate case its name and sailing date. The seller may treat the failure of needed instructions as a failure of cooperation under this article (section 2311). He may also at his option move the goods in any reasonable manner preparatory to delivery or shipment.

(4) Under the term F.O.B. vessel or F.A.S. unless otherwise agreed the buyer must make payment against tender of the required documents and the seller may not tender nor the buyer demand delivery of the goods in substitution for the documents.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 215, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2320 C.I.F. and C. & F. terms.

Sec. 2320. (1) The term C.I.F. means that the price includes in a lump sum the cost of the goods and the insurance and freight to the named destination. The term C.&F. or C.F. means that the price so includes cost and freight to the named destination.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed and even though used only in connection with the stated price and destination, the term C.I.F. destination or its equivalent requires the seller at his own expense and risk to

(a) put the goods into the possession of a carrier at the port for shipment and obtain a negotiable bill or bills of lading covering the entire transportation to the named destination; and

(b) load the goods and obtain a receipt from the carrier (which may be contained in the bill of lading) showing that the freight has been paid or provided for; and

(c) obtain a policy or certificate of insurance, including any war risk insurance, of a kind and on terms then current at the port of shipment in the usual amount, in the currency of the contract, shown to cover the same goods covered by the bill of lading and providing for payment of loss to the order of the buyer or for the account of whom it may concern; but the seller may add to the price the amount of the premium for any such war risk insurance; and

(d) prepare an invoice of the goods and procure any other documents required to effect shipment or to comply with the contract; and

(e) forward and tender with commercial promptness all the documents in due form and with any indorsement necessary to perfect the buyer's rights.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed the term C.&F. or its equivalent has the same effect and imposes upon the seller the same obligations and risks as a C.I.F. term except the obligation as to insurance.

(4) Under the term C.I.F. or C.&F. unless otherwise agreed the buyer must make payment against tender of the required documents and the seller may not tender nor the buyer demand delivery of the goods in substitution for the documents.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 215, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2321 C.I.F. and C. & F. terms, net landed weights, delivered weights, out turn; warranty of condition on arrival, inspection before payment.

Sec. 2321. Under a contract containing a term C.I.F. or C.&F.

(1) Where the price is based on or is to be adjusted according to "net landed weights", "delivered weights", "out turn" quantity or quality or the like, unless otherwise agreed the seller must reasonably estimate the price. The payment due on tender of the documents called for by the contract is the amount so estimated, but after final adjustment of the price a settlement must be made with commercial promptness.

(2) An agreement described in subsection (1) or any warranty of quality or condition of the goods on arrival places upon the seller the risk of ordinary deterioration, shrinkage and the like in transportation but has no effect on the place or time of identification to the contract for sale or delivery or on the passing of the risk of loss.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed where the contract provides for payment on or after arrival of the goods the seller must before payment allow such preliminary inspection as is feasible; but if the goods are lost delivery of the documents and payment are due when the goods should have arrived.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 216, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2322 Delivery exship.

Sec. 2322. (1) Unless otherwise agreed a term for delivery of goods "exship" (which means from the carrying vessel) or in equivalent language is not restricted to a particular ship and requires delivery from a ship which has reached a place at the named port of destination where goods of the kind are usually discharged.

(2) Under such a term unless otherwise agreed

(a) the seller must discharge all liens arising out of the carriage and furnish the buyer with a direction which puts the carrier under a duty to deliver the goods; and

(b) the risk of loss does not pass to the buyer until the goods leave the ship's tackle or are otherwise properly unloaded.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 216, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2323 Overseas shipment; bill of lading, form.

Sec. 2323. (1) Where the contract contemplates overseas shipment and contains a term C.I.F. or C.&F. or F.O.B. vessel, the seller unless otherwise agreed must obtain a negotiable bill of lading stating that the goods have been loaded on board or, in the case of a term C.I.F. or C.&F., received for shipment.

(2) Where in a case within subsection (1) a bill of lading has been issued in a set of parts, unless otherwise agreed if the documents are not to be sent from abroad the buyer may demand tender of the full set; otherwise only one part of the bill of lading need be tendered. Even if the agreement expressly requires a full set

(a) due tender of a single part is acceptable within the provisions of this article on cure of improper delivery (subsection (1) of section 2508); and

(b) even though the full set is demanded, if the documents are sent from abroad the person tendering an incomplete set may nevertheless require payment upon furnishing an indemnity which the buyer in good faith deems adequate.

(3) A shipment by water or by air or a contract contemplating such shipment is "overseas" insofar as by usage of trade or agreement it is subject to the commercial, financing or shipping practices characteristic of international deep water commerce.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 216, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2324 No arrival, no sale terms.

Sec. 2324. Under a term "no arrival, no sale" or terms of like meaning, unless otherwise agreed,

(a) the seller must properly ship conforming goods and if they arrive by any means he must tender them on arrival but he assumes no obligation that the goods will arrive unless he has caused the nonarrival; and

(b) where without fault of the seller the goods are in part lost or have so deteriorated as no longer to conform to the contract or arrive after the contract time, the buyer may proceed as if there had been casualty to identified goods (section 2613).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 217, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2325 Letter of credit or banker's credit; confirmed credit; definitions.

Sec. 2325. (1) Failure of the buyer seasonably to furnish an agreed letter of credit is a breach of the contract for sale.

(2) The delivery to seller of a proper letter of credit suspends the buyer's obligation to pay. If the letter of credit is dishonored, the seller may on seasonable notification to the buyer require payment directly from him.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed the term "letter of credit" or "banker's credit" in a contract for sale means an irrevocable credit issued by a financing agency of good repute and, where the shipment is overseas, of good international repute. The term "confirmed credit" means that the credit must also carry the direct obligation of such an agency which does business in the seller's financial market.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 217, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2326 Sale on approval; sale or return; consignment sales, rights of creditors.

Sec. 2326. (1) Unless otherwise agreed, if delivered goods may be returned by the buyer even though they conform to the contract, the transaction is

- (a) a "sale on approval" if the goods are delivered primarily for use, and
- (b) a "sale or return" if the goods are delivered primarily for resale.

(2) Except as provided in subsection (3), goods held on approval are not subject to the claims of the buyer's creditors until acceptance; goods held on sale or return are subject to such claims while in the buyer's possession.

(3) Where goods are delivered to a person for sale and such person maintains a place of business at which he deals in goods of the kind involved, under a name other than the name of the person making delivery, then with respect to claims of creditors of the person conducting the business the goods are deemed to be on sale or return. The provisions of this subsection are applicable even though an agreement purports to reserve title to the person making delivery until payment or resale or uses such words as "on consignment" or "on memorandum". However, this subsection is not applicable if the person making delivery

(a) complies with an applicable law providing for a consignor's interest or the like to be evidenced by a sign; or

(b) establishes that the person conducting the business is generally known by his creditors to be substantially engaged in selling the goods of others; or

(c) complies with the filing provisions of the article on secured transactions (article 9).

(4) Any "or return" term of a contract for sale is to be treated as a separate contract for sale within the statute of frauds section of this article (section 2201) and as contradicting the sale aspect of the contract within the provisions of this article on parol or extrinsic evidence (section 2202).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 217, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2327 Sale on approval; sale or return; special incidents.

Sec. 2327. (1) Under a sale on approval unless otherwise agreed

(a) although the goods are identified to the contract the risk of loss and the title do not pass to the buyer until acceptance; and

(b) use of the goods consistent with the purpose of trial is not acceptance but failure seasonably to notify the seller of election to return the goods is acceptance, and if the goods conform to the contract acceptance of any part is acceptance of the whole; and

(c) after due notification of election to return, the return is at the seller's risk and expense but a merchant buyer must follow any reasonable instructions.

(2) Under a sale or return unless otherwise agreed

(a) the option to return extends to the whole or any commercial unit of the goods while in substantially their original condition, but must be exercised seasonably; and

(b) the return is at the buyer's risk and expense.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 217, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2328 Sale by auction; sale with reserve; forced sale.

Sec. 2328. (1) In a sale by auction if goods are put up in lots each lot is the subject of a separate sale.

(2) A sale by auction is complete when the auctioneer so announces by the fall of the hammer or in other customary manner. Where a bid is made while the hammer is falling in acceptance of a prior bid the auctioneer may in his discretion reopen the bidding or declare the goods sold under the bid on which the hammer was falling.

(3) Such a sale is with reserve unless the goods are in explicit terms put up without reserve. In an auction with reserve the auctioneer may withdraw the goods at any time until he announces completion of the sale. In an auction without reserve, after the auctioneer calls for bids on an article or lot, that article or lot cannot be withdrawn unless no bid is made within a reasonable time. In either case a bidder may retract his bid until the auctioneer's announcement of completion of the sale, but a bidder's retraction does not revive any previous bid.

(4) If the auctioneer knowingly receives a bid on the seller's behalf or the seller makes or procures such a bid, and notice has not been given that liberty for such bidding is reserved, the buyer may at his option avoid the sale or take the goods at the price of the last good faith bid prior to the completion of the sale. This subsection shall not apply to any bid at a forced sale.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 218, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

PART 4

TITLE, CREDITORS AND GOOD FAITH PURCHASERS

440.2401 Passing of title; reservation for security; limited application of section; rejection.

Sec. 2401. Each provision of this article with regard to the rights, obligations and remedies of the seller, the buyer, purchasers or other third parties applies irrespective of title to the goods except where the provisions refers to such title. Insofar as situations are not covered by the other provisions of this article and matters concerning title become material the following rules apply:

(1) Title to goods cannot pass under a contract for sale prior to their identification to the contract (section 2501), and unless otherwise explicitly agreed the buyer acquires by their identification a special property as limited by this act. Any retention or reservation by the seller of the title (property) in goods shipped or delivered to the buyer is limited in effect to a reservation of a security interest. Subject to these provisions and to the provisions of the article on secured transactions (article 9), title to goods passes from the seller to the buyer in any manner and on any conditions explicitly agreed on by the parties.

(2) Unless otherwise explicitly agreed title passes to the buyer at the time and place at which the seller completes his performance with reference to the physical delivery of the goods, despite any reservation of a security interest and even though a document of title is to be delivered at a different time or place; and in particular and despite any reservation of a security interest by the bill of lading

(a) if the contract requires or authorizes the seller to send the goods to the buyer but does not require him to deliver them at destination, title passes to the buyer at the time and place of shipment; but

(b) if the contract requires delivery at destination, title passes on tender there.

(3) Unless otherwise explicitly agreed where delivery is to be made without moving the goods,

(a) if the seller is to deliver a document of title, title passes at the time when and the place where he delivers such documents; or

(b) if the goods are at the time of contracting already identified and no documents are to be delivered, title passes at the time and place of contracting.

(4) A rejection or other refusal by the buyer to receive or retain the goods, whether or not justified, or a justified revocation of acceptance revests title to the goods in the seller. Such revesting occurs by operation of law and is not a "sale".

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 218, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2402 Rights of seller's creditors against sold goods.

Sec. 2402. (1) Except as provided in subsections (2) and (3), rights of unsecured creditors of the seller with respect to goods which have been identified to a contract for sale are subject to the buyer's rights to recover the goods under this article (sections 2502 and 2716).

(2) A creditor of the seller may treat a sale or an identification of goods to a contract for sale as void if as against him a retention of possession by the seller is fraudulent under any rule of law of the state where the goods are situated, except that retention of possession in good faith and current course of trade by a merchant-seller for a commercially reasonable time after a sale or identification is not fraudulent.

(3) Nothing in this article shall be deemed to impair the rights of creditors of the seller

(a) under the provisions of the article on secured transactions (article 9); or

(b) where identification to the contract or delivery is made not in current course of trade but in satisfaction of or as security for a pre-existing claim for money, security or the like and is made under circumstances which under any rule of law of the state where the goods are situated would apart from this article constitute the transaction a fraudulent transfer or voidable preference.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 219, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2403 Purchasers and transferees; title, rights, and powers to transfer goods; entrusting.

Sec. 2403. (1) A purchaser of goods acquires all title which his transferor had or had power to transfer except that a purchaser of a limited interest acquires rights only to the extent of the interest purchased. A person with voidable title has power to transfer a good title to a good faith purchaser for value. When goods have been delivered under a transaction of purchase the purchaser has such power even though

(a) the transferor was deceived as to the identity of the purchaser; or

(b) the delivery was in exchange for a check which is later dishonored; or

(c) it was agreed that the transaction was to be a "cash sale"; or

(d) the delivery was procured through fraud punishable as larcenous under the criminal law.

(2) Any entrusting of possession of goods to a merchant who deals in goods of that kind gives him power to transfer all rights of the entruster to a buyer in ordinary course of business.

(3) "Entrusting" includes any delivery and any acquiescence in retention of possession regardless of any condition expressed between the parties to the delivery or acquiescence and regardless of whether the procurement of the entrusting or the possessor's disposition of the goods have been such as to be larcenous under the criminal law.

(4) The rights of other purchasers of goods and of lien creditors are governed by the articles on secured transactions (article 9), bulk transfers (article 6) and documents of title (article 7).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 219, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

PART 5 PERFORMANCE

440.2501 Special property and insurable interest in goods; identification of goods.

Sec. 2501. (1) The buyer obtains a special property and an insurable interest in goods by identification of existing goods as goods to which the contract refers even though the goods so identified are nonconforming and he has an option to return or reject them. Such identification can be made at any time and in any manner explicitly agreed to by the parties. In the absence of explicit agreement identification occurs

(a) when the contract is made if it is for the sale of goods already existing and identified;

(b) if the contract is for the sale of future goods other than those described in paragraph (c), when goods are shipped, marked or otherwise designated by the seller as goods to which the contract refers;

(c) when the crops are planted or otherwise becoming growing crops or the young are conceived if the contract is for the sale of unborn young to be born within 12 months after contracting or for the sale of crops to be harvested within 12 months or the next normal harvest season after contracting whichever is longer.

(2) The seller retains an insurable interest in goods so long as title to or any security interest in the goods remains in him and where the identification is by the seller alone he may until default or insolvency or notification to the buyer that the identification is final substitute other goods for those identified.

(3) Nothing in this section impairs any insurable interest recognized under any other statute or rule of law.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 220, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2502 Special property and insurable interest in goods; insolvency of seller.

Sec. 2502. (1) Subject to subsection (2) and even though the goods have not been shipped a buyer who has paid a part or all of the price of goods in which he has a special property under the provisions of the immediately preceding section may on making and keeping good a tender of any unpaid portion of their price recover them from the seller if the seller becomes insolvent within 10 days after receipt of the first installment on their price.

(2) If the identification creating his special property has been made by the buyer he acquires the right to recover the goods only if they conform to the contract for sale.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 220, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2503 Tender of delivery by seller.

Sec. 2503. (1) Tender of delivery requires that the seller put and hold conforming goods at the buyer's disposition and give the buyer any notification reasonably necessary to enable him to take delivery. The manner, time and place for tender are determined by the agreement and this article, and in particular

(a) tender must be at a reasonable hour, and if it is of goods they must be kept available for the period reasonably necessary to enable the buyer to take possession; but

(b) unless otherwise agreed the buyer must furnish facilities reasonably suited to the receipt of the goods.

Delivery by shipment.

(2) Where the case is within the next section respecting shipment tender requires that the seller comply with its provisions.

Delivery at particular destination.

(3) Where the seller is required to deliver at a particular destination tender requires that he comply with subsection (1) and also in any appropriate case tender documents as described in subsections (4) and (5) of this section.

Goods in possession of bailee.

(4) Where goods are in the possession of a bailee and are to be delivered without being moved

(a) tender requires that the seller either tender a negotiable document of title covering such goods or procure acknowledgment by the bailee of the buyer's right to possession of the goods; but

(b) tender to the buyer of a non-negotiable document of title or of a written direction to the bailee to deliver is sufficient tender unless the buyer seasonally objects, and receipt by the bailee of notification of the buyer's rights fixes those rights as against the bailee and all third persons; but risk of loss of the goods and of any failure by the bailee to honor the non-negotiable document of title or to obey the direction remains on the seller until the buyer has had a reasonable time to present the document or direction, and a refusal by the bailee to honor the document or to obey the direction defeats the tender.

Delivery of documents.

(5) Where the contract requires the seller to deliver documents

(a) he must tender all such documents in correct form, except as provided in this article with respect to bills of lading in a set (subsection (2) of section 2323); and

(b) tender through customary banking channels is sufficient and dishonor of a draft accompanying the documents constitutes nonacceptance or rejection.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 220, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2504 Delivery by shipment; contract with carrier, documents, notice.

Sec. 2504. Where the seller is required or authorized to send the goods to the buyer and the contract does not require him to deliver them at a particular destination, then unless otherwise agreed he must

(a) put the goods in the possession of such a carrier and make such a contract for their transportation as may be reasonable having regard to the nature of the goods and other circumstances of the case; and

(b) obtain and promptly deliver or tender in due form any document necessary to enable the buyer to obtain possession of the goods or otherwise required by the agreement or by usage of trade; and

(c) promptly notify the buyer of the shipment.

Failure to notify the buyer under paragraph (c) or to make a proper contract under paragraph (a) is a ground for rejection only if material delay or loss ensues.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 221, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2505 Shipment with and without reservation by seller.

Sec. 2505. (1) Where the seller has identified goods to the contract by or before shipment

(a) his procurement of a negotiable bill of lading to his own order or otherwise reserves in him a security interest in the goods. His procurement of the bill to the order of a financing agency or of the buyer indicates in addition only the seller's expectation of transferring that interest to the person named.

(b) a non-negotiable bill of lading to himself or his nominee reserves possession of the goods as security but except in a case of conditional delivery (subsection (2) of section 2507) a non-negotiable bill of lading naming the buyer as consignee reserves no security interest even though the seller retains possession of the bill of lading.

(2) When shipment by the seller with reservation of a security interest is in violation of the contract for sale it constitutes an improper contract for transportation within the preceding section but impairs neither the rights given to the buyer by shipment and identification of the goods to the contract nor the seller's powers as a holder of a negotiable document.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 221, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2506 Financing agency; rights, reimbursement.

Sec. 2506. (1) A financing agency by paying or purchasing for value a draft which relates to a shipment of goods acquires to the extent of the payment or purchase and in addition to its own rights under the draft and any document of title securing it any rights of the shipper in the goods including the right to stop delivery and the shipper's right to have the draft honored by the buyer.

(2) The right to reimbursement of a financing agency which has in good faith honored or purchased the draft under commitment to or authority from the buyer is not impaired by subsequent discovery of defects with reference to any relevant document which was apparently regular on its face.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 221, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2507 Tender of delivery; conditions, payment.

Sec. 2507. (1) Tender of delivery is a condition to the buyer's duty to accept the goods and, unless otherwise agreed, to his duty to pay for them. Tender entitles the seller to acceptance of the goods and to payment according to the contract.

(2) Where payment is due and demanded on the delivery to the buyer of goods or documents of title, his right as against the seller to retain or dispose of them is conditional upon his making the payment due.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 222, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2508 Improper delivery; cure, replacement.

Sec. 2508. (1) Where any tender or delivery by the seller is rejected because non-conforming and the time for performance has not yet expired, the seller may seasonably notify the buyer of his intention to cure and may then within the contract time make a conforming delivery.

(2) Where the buyer rejects a non-conforming tender which the seller had reasonable grounds to believe would be acceptable with or without money allowance the seller may if he seasonably notifies the buyer have a further reasonable time to substitute a conforming tender.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 222, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2509 Risk of loss; absence of breach.

Sec. 2509. (1) Where the contract requires or authorizes the seller to ship the goods by carrier

(a) if it does not require him to deliver them at a particular destination, the risk of loss passes to the buyer when the goods are duly delivered to the carrier even though the shipment is under reservation (section 2505); but

(b) if it does require him to deliver them at a particular destination and the goods are there duly tendered while in the possession of the carrier, the risk of loss passes to the buyer when the goods are there duly so tendered as to enable the buyer to take delivery.

(2) Where the goods are held by a bailee to be delivered without being moved, the risk of loss passes to the buyer

(a) on his receipt of a negotiable document of title covering the goods; or

(b) on acknowledgment by the bailee of the buyer's right to possession of the goods; or

(c) after his receipt of a non-negotiable document of title or other written direction to deliver, as provided in subsection (4)(b) of section 2503.

(3) In any case not within subsection (1) or (2), the risk of loss passes to the buyer on his receipt of the goods if the seller is a merchant; otherwise the risk passes to the buyer on tender of delivery.

(4) The provisions of this section are subject to contrary agreement of the parties and to the provisions of this article on sale on approval (section 2327) and on effect of breach on risk of loss (section 2510).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 222, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2510 Risk of loss; effect of breach.

Sec. 2510. (1) Where a tender or delivery of goods so fails to conform to the contract as to give a right of rejection the risk of their loss remains on the seller until cure or acceptance.

(2) Where the buyer rightfully revokes acceptance he may to the extent of any deficiency in his effective insurance coverage treat the risk of loss as having rested on the seller from the beginning.

(3) Where the buyer as to conforming goods already identified to the contract for sale repudiates or is otherwise in breach before risk of their loss has passed to him, the seller may to the extent of any deficiency in his effective insurance coverage treat the risk of loss as resting on the buyer for a commercially reasonable time.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 222, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2511 Payment by buyer; tender, check.

Sec. 2511. (1) Unless otherwise agreed tender of payment is a condition to the seller's duty to tender and complete any delivery.

(2) Tender of payment is sufficient when made by any means or in any manner current in the ordinary course of business unless the seller demands payment in legal tender and gives any extension of time reasonably necessary to procure it.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this act on the effect of an instrument on an obligation (section 3802), payment by check is conditional and is defeated as between the parties by dishonor of the check on due presentment.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 223, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2512 Payment by buyer; inspection, nonconforming goods.

Sec. 2512. (1) Where the contract requires payment before inspection nonconformity of the goods does not excuse the buyer from so making payment unless

(a) the nonconformity appears without inspection; or
 (b) despite tender of the required documents the circumstances would justify injunction against honor under the provisions of this act (section 5114).

(2) Payment pursuant to subsection (1) does not constitute an acceptance of goods or impair the buyers right to inspect or any of his remedies.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 223, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2513 Inspection by buyer; time, expenses, place, method.

Sec. 2513. (1) Unless otherwise agreed and subject to subsection (3), where goods are tendered or delivered or identified to the contract for sale, the buyer has a right before payment or acceptance to inspect them at any reasonable place and time and in any reasonable manner. When the seller is required or authorized to send the goods to the buyer, the inspection may be after their arrival.

(2) Expenses of inspection must be borne by the buyer but may be recovered from the seller if the goods do not conform and are rejected.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed and subject to the provisions of this article on C.I.F. contracts (subsection (3) of section 2321), the buyer is not entitled to inspect the goods before payment of the price when the contract provides

(a) for delivery C.O.D. or on other like terms; or

(b) for payment against documents of title, except where such payment is due only after the goods are to become available for inspection.

(4) A place or method of inspection fixed by the parties is presumed to be exclusive but unless otherwise expressly agreed it does not postpone identification or shift the place for delivery or for passing the risk of loss. If compliance becomes impossible, inspection shall be as provided in this section unless the place or method fixed was clearly intended as an indispensable condition failure of which avoids the contract.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 223, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2514 Documents; delivery to drawee on acceptance or payment.

Sec. 2514. Unless otherwise agreed documents against which a draft is drawn are to be delivered to the drawee on acceptance of the draft if it is payable more than 3 days after presentment; otherwise, only on payment.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 223, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2515 Adjustment of dispute; preservation of evidence, inspection.

Sec. 2515. In furtherance of the adjustment of any claim or dispute

(a) either party on reasonable notification to the other and for the purpose of ascertaining the facts and preserving evidence has the right to inspect, test and sample the goods including such of them as may be in the possession or control of the other; and

(b) the parties may agree to a third party inspection or survey to determine the conformity or condition of the goods and may agree that the findings shall be binding upon them in any subsequent litigation or adjustment.

PART 6

BREACH, REPUDIATION AND EXCUSE

440.2601 Improper delivery; buyer's rights.

Sec. 2601. Subject to the provisions of this article on breach in installment contracts (section 2612) and unless otherwise agreed under the sections on contractual limitations of remedy (sections 2718 and 2719), if the goods or the tender of delivery fail in any respect to conform to the contract, the buyer may

(a) reject the whole; or

- (b) accept the whole; or
- (c) accept any commercial unit or units and reject the rest.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 224, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2602 Rejection of goods.

Sec. 2602. (1) Rejection of goods must be within a reasonable time after their delivery or tender. It is ineffective unless the buyer seasonably notifies the seller.

(2) Subject to the provisions of the 2 following sections on rejected goods (sections 2603 and 2604),

(a) after rejection any exercise of ownership by the buyer with respect to any commercial unit is wrongful as against the seller; and

(b) if the buyer has before rejection taken physical possession of goods in which he does not have a security interest under the provisions of this article (subsection (3) of section 2711), he is under a duty after rejection to hold them with reasonable care at the seller's disposition for a time sufficient to permit the seller to remove them; but

(c) the buyer has no further obligations with regard to goods rightfully rejected.

(3) The seller's rights with respect to goods wrongfully rejected are governed by the provisions of this article on seller's remedies in general (section 2703).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 224, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2603 Rejection of goods; merchant buyer's duties.

Sec. 2603. (1) Subject to any security interest in the buyer (subsection (3) of section 2711), when the seller has no agent or place of business at the market of rejection a merchant buyer is under a duty after rejection of goods in his possession or control to follow any reasonable instructions received from the seller with respect to the goods and in the absence of such instructions to make reasonable efforts to sell them for the seller's account if they are perishable or threaten to decline in value speedily. Instructions are not reasonable if on demand indemnity for expenses is not forthcoming.

(2) When the buyer sells goods under subsection (1), he is entitled to reimbursement from the seller or out of the proceeds for reasonable expenses of caring for and selling them, and if the expenses include no selling commission then to such commission as is usual in the trade or if there is none to a reasonable sum not exceeding 10% on the gross proceeds.

(3) In complying with this section the buyer is held only to good faith and good faith conduct hereunder is neither acceptance nor conversion nor the basis of an action for damages.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 224, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2604 Rejection of goods; buyer's options.

Sec. 2604. Subject to the provisions of the immediately preceding section on perishables if the seller gives no instructions within a reasonable time after notification of rejection the buyer may store the rejected goods for the seller's account or reship them to him or resell them for the seller's account with reimbursement as provided in the preceding section. Such action is not acceptance or conversion.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 224, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2605 Rejection of goods; failure of buyer to particularize defect; waiver.

Sec. 2605. (1) The buyer's failure to state in connection with rejection a particular defect which is ascertainable by reasonable inspection precludes him from relying on the unstated defect to justify rejection or to establish breach

(a) where the seller could have cured it if stated seasonably; or

(b) between merchants when the seller has after rejection made a request in writing for a full and final written statement of all defects on which the buyer proposes to rely.

(2) Payment against documents made without reservation of rights precludes recovery of the payment for defects apparent on the face of the documents.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 225, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2606 Acceptance of goods; occurrence.

Sec. 2606. (1) Acceptance of goods occurs when the buyer

(a) after a reasonable opportunity to inspect the goods signifies to the seller that the goods are conforming or that he will take or retain them in spite of their nonconformity; or

(b) fails to make an effective rejection (subsection (1) of section 2602), but such acceptance does not occur until the buyer has had a reasonable opportunity to inspect them; or

(c) does any act inconsistent with the seller's ownership; but if such act is wrongful as against the seller it is an acceptance only if ratified by him.

(2) Acceptance of a part of any commercial unit is acceptance of that entire unit.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 225, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2607 Acceptance of goods; effect; notice of breach; burden of establishing breach; notice of claim or litigation to person answerable.

Sec. 2607. (1) The buyer must pay at the contract rate for any goods accepted.

(2) Acceptance of goods by the buyer precludes rejection of the goods accepted and if made with knowledge of a nonconformity cannot be revoked because of it unless the acceptance was on the reasonable assumption that the nonconformity would be seasonably cured but acceptance does not of itself impair any other remedy provided by this article for nonconformity.

(3) Where a tender has been accepted

(a) the buyer must within a reasonable time after he discovers or should have discovered any breach notify the seller of breach or be barred from any remedy; and

(b) if the claim is one for infringement or the like (subsection (3) of section 2312) and the buyer is sued as a result of such a breach he must so notify the seller within a reasonable time after he receives notice of the litigation or be barred from any remedy over for liability established by the litigation.

(4) The burden is on the buyer to establish any breach with respect to the goods accepted.

(5) Where the buyer is sued for breach of a warranty or other obligation for which his seller is answerable over

(a) he may give his seller written notice of the litigation. If the notice states that the seller may come in and defend and that if the seller does not do so he will be bound in any action against him by his buyer by any determination of fact common to the 2 litigations, then unless the seller after seasonable receipt of the notice does come in and defend he is so bound

(b) if the claim is one for infringement or the like (subsection (3) of section 2312) the original seller may demand in writing that his buyer turn over to him control of the litigation including settlement or else be barred from any remedy over and if he also agrees to bear all expense and to satisfy any adverse judgment, then unless the buyer after seasonable receipt of the demand does turn over control the buyer is so barred.

(6) The provisions of subsections (3), (4) and (5) apply to any obligation of a buyer to hold the seller harmless against infringement or the like (subsection (3) of section 2312).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 225, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2608 Acceptance of goods; revocation, time, notice, effect.

Sec. 2608. (1) The buyer may revoke his acceptance of a lot or commercial unit whose nonconformity substantially impairs its value to him if he has accepted it

(a) on the reasonable assumption that its nonconformity would be cured and it has not been seasonably cured; or

(b) without discovery of such nonconformity if his acceptance was reasonably induced either by the difficulty of discovery before acceptance or by the seller's assurances.

(2) Revocation of acceptance must occur within a reasonable time after the buyer discovers or should have discovered the ground for it and before any substantial change in condition of the goods which is not caused by their own defects. It is not effective until the buyer notifies the seller of it.

(3) A buyer who so revokes has the same rights and duties with regard to the goods involved as if he had rejected them.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 226, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2609 Contract for sale; performance; insecurity, demand, assurance of due performance.

Sec. 2609. (1) A contract for sale imposes an obligation on each party that the other's expectation of receiving due performance will not be impaired. When reasonable grounds for insecurity arise with respect to the performance of either party the other may in writing demand adequate assurance of due performance and until he receives such assurance may if commercially reasonable suspend any performance for which he has not already received the agreed return.

(2) Between merchants the reasonableness of grounds for insecurity and the adequacy of any assurance offered shall be determined according to commercial standards.

(3) Acceptance of any improper delivery or payment does not prejudice the aggrieved party's right to demand adequate assurance of future performance.

(4) After receipt of a justified demand failure to provide within a reasonable time not exceeding 30 days such assurance of due performance as is adequate under the circumstances of the particular case is a repudiation of the contract.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 226, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2610 Anticipatory repudiation.

Sec. 2610. When either party repudiates the contract with respect to a performance not yet due the loss of which will substantially impair the value of the contract to the other, the aggrieved party may

(a) for a commercially reasonable time await performance by the repudiating party; or

(b) resort to any remedy for breach (section 2703 or section 2711), even though he has notified the repudiating party that he would await the latter's performance and has urged retraction; and

(c) in either case suspend his own performance or proceed in accordance with the provisions of this article on the seller's right to identify goods to the contract notwithstanding breach or to salvage unfinished goods (section 2704).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 226, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2611 Anticipatory repudiation; retraction.

Sec. 2611. (1) Until the repudiating party's next performance is due he can retract his repudiation unless the aggrieved party has since the repudiation cancelled or materially changed his position or otherwise indicated that he considers the repudiation final.

(2) Retraction may be by any method which clearly indicates to the aggrieved party that the repudiating party intends to perform, but must include any assurance justifiably demanded under the provisions of this article (section 2609).

(3) Retraction reinstates the repudiating party's rights under the contract with due excuse and allowance to the aggrieved party for any delay occasioned by the repudiation.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 226, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2612 Installment contract; breach.

Sec. 2612. (1) An "installment contract" is one which requires or authorizes the delivery of goods in separate lots to be separately accepted, even though the contract contains a clause "each delivery is a separate contract" or its equivalent.

(2) The buyer may reject any installment which is nonconforming if the nonconformity substantially impairs the value of that installment and cannot be cured or if the nonconformity is a defect in the required documents; but if the nonconformity does not fall within subsection (3) and the seller gives adequate assurance of its cure the buyer must accept that installment.

(3) Whenever nonconformity or default with respect to one or more installments substantially impairs the value of the whole contract there is a breach of the whole. But the aggrieved party reinstates the contract if he accepts a nonconforming installment without seasonably notifying of cancellation or if he brings an action with respect only to past installments or demands performance as to future installments.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 227, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2613 Casualty to identified goods; total loss; partial loss, option of buyer.

Sec. 2613. Where the contract requires for its performance goods identified when the contract is made, and the goods suffer casualty without fault of either party before the risk of loss passes to the buyer, or in a proper case under a "no arrival, no sale" term (section 2324) then

(a) if the loss is total the contract is avoided; and

(b) if the loss is partial or the goods have so deteriorated as no longer to conform to the contract the buyer may nevertheless demand inspection and at his option either treat the contract as avoided or accept the goods with due allowance from the contract price for the deterioration or the deficiency in quantity but without further right against the seller.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 227, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2614 Substituted performance; acceptance, payment.

Sec. 2614. (1) Where without fault of either party the agreed berthing, loading, or unloading facilities fail or an agreed type of carrier becomes unavailable or the agreed manner of delivery otherwise becomes commercially impracticable but a commercially reasonable substitute is available, such substitute performance must be tendered and accepted.

(2) If the agreed means or manner of payment fails because of domestic or foreign governmental regulation, the seller may withhold or stop delivery unless the buyer provides a means or manner of payment which is commercially a substantial equivalent. If delivery has already been taken, payment by the means or in the manner provided by the regulation discharges the buyer's obligation unless the regulation is discriminatory, oppressive or predatory.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 227, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2615 Failure of presupposed conditions; nondelivery, partial delivery, excuse.

Sec. 2615. Except so far as a seller may have assumed a greater obligation and subject to the preceding section on substituted performance:

(a) Delay in delivery or nondelivery in whole or in part by a seller who complies with paragraphs (b) and (c) is not a breach of his duty under a contract for sale if performance as agreed has been made impracticable by the occurrence of a contingency the nonoccurrence of which was a basic assumption on which the contract was made or by compliance in good faith with any applicable foreign or domestic governmental regulation or order whether or not it later proves to be invalid.

(b) Where the causes mentioned in paragraph (a) affect only a part of the seller's capacity to perform, he must allocate production and deliveries among his customers but may at his option include regular customers not then under contract as well as his own requirements for further manufacture. He may so allocate in any manner which is fair and reasonable.

(c) The seller must notify the buyer seasonably that there will be delay or nondelivery and, when allocation is required under paragraph (b), of the estimated quota thus made available for the buyer.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 227, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2616 Procedure on notice claiming excuse.

Sec. 2616. (1) Where the buyer receives notification of a material or indefinite delay or an allocation justified under the preceding section he may by written notification to the seller as to any delivery concerned, and where the prospective deficiency substantially impairs the value of the whole contract under the provisions of this article relating to breach of installment contracts (section 2612), then also as to the whole,

(a) terminate and thereby discharge any unexecuted portion of the contract; or

(b) modify the contract by agreeing to take his available quota in substitution.

(2) If after receipt of such notification from the seller the buyer fails so to modify the contract within a reasonable time not exceeding 30 days the contract lapses with respect to any deliveries affected.

(3) The provisions of this section may not be negated by agreement except in so far as the seller has assumed a greater obligation under the preceding section.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 228, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

PART 7REMEDIES*440.2701 Collateral or ancillary contracts; remedies for breach.

Sec. 2701. Remedies for breach of any obligation or promise collateral or ancillary to a contract for sale are not impaired by the provisions of this article.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 228, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2702 Insolvency of buyer; remedies of seller.

Sec. 2702. (1) Where the seller discovers the buyer to be insolvent he may refuse delivery except for cash including payment for all goods theretofore delivered under the contract, and stop delivery under this article (section 2705).

(2) Where the seller discovers that the buyer has received goods on credit while insolvent he may reclaim the goods upon demand made within 10 days after the receipt, but if misrepresentation of solvency has been made to the particular seller in writing within 3 months before delivery the 10 day limitation does not apply. Except as provided in the subsection the seller may not base a right to reclaim goods on the buyer's fraudulent or innocent misrepresentation of solvency or of intent to pay.

(3) The seller's right to reclaim under subsection (2) is subject to the rights of a buyer in ordinary course or other good faith purchaser or lien creditor under this article (section 2403). Successful reclamation of goods excludes all other remedies with respect to them.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 228, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2703 Buyer's wrongful rejection, revocation of acceptance, or nonpayment; remedies of seller.

Sec. 2703. Where the buyer wrongfully rejects or revokes acceptance of goods or fails to make a payment due on or before delivery or repudiates with respect to a part or the whole, then with respect to any goods directly affected and, if the breach is of the whole contract (section 2612), then also with respect to the whole undelivered balance, the aggrieved seller may

- (a) withhold delivery of such goods;
- (b) stop delivery by any bailee as hereafter provided (section 2705);
- (c) proceed under the next section respecting goods still unidentified to the contract;
- (d) resell and recover damages as hereafter provided (section 2706);
- (e) recover damages for nonacceptance (section 2708) or in a proper case the price (section 2709);
- (f) cancel.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 228, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2704 Buyer's wrongful rejection, revocation of acceptance, or nonpayment; identification of goods; resale; salvage.

Sec. 2704. (1) An aggrieved seller under the preceding section may

- (a) identify to the contract conforming goods not already identified if at the time he learned of the breach they are in his possession or control;
- (b) treat as the subject of resale goods which have demonstrably been intended for the particular contract even though those goods are unfinished.

(2) Where the goods are unfinished an aggrieved seller may in the exercise of reasonable commercial judgment for the purposes of avoiding loss and of effective realization either complete the manufacturer [sic] and wholly identify the goods to the contract or cease manufacture and resell for scrap or salvage value or proceed in any other reasonable manner.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 229, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2705 Stoppage of delivery in transit or otherwise; notice to bailee.

Sec. 2705. (1) The seller may stop delivery of goods in the possession of a carrier or other bailee when he discovers the buyer to be insolvent (section 2702) and may stop delivery of carload, truckload, planeload or larger shipments of express or freight when the buyer repudiates or fails to make a payment due before delivery or if for any other reason the seller has a right to withhold or reclaim the goods.

- (2) As against such buyer the seller may stop delivery until
 - (a) receipt of the goods by the buyer; or
 - (b) acknowledgment to the buyer by any bailee of the goods except a carrier that the bailee holds the goods for the buyer; or
 - (c) such acknowledgment to the buyer by a carrier by reshipment or as warehouseman; or
 - (d) negotiation to the buyer of any negotiable document of title covering the goods.
- (3) (a) To stop delivery the seller must so notify as to enable the bailee by reasonable diligence to prevent delivery of the goods.

(b) After such notification the bailee must hold and deliver the goods according to the directions of the seller but the seller is liable to the bailee for any ensuing charges or damages.

(c) If a negotiable document of title has been issued for goods the bailee is not obliged to obey a notification to stop until surrender of the document.

(d) A carrier who has issued a non-negotiable bill of lading is not obliged to obey a notification to stop received from a person other than the consignor.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 229, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2706 Buyer's wrongful rejection, revocation of acceptance, or nonpayment; resale by seller; recovery of loss; notice to buyer; profit.

Sec. 2706. (1) Under the conditions stated in section 2703 on seller's remedies, the seller may resell the goods concerned or the undelivered balance thereof. Where the resale is made in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner the seller may recover the difference between the resale price and the contract price together with any incidental damages allowed under the provisions of this article (section 2710), but less expenses saved in consequence of the buyer's breach.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (3) or unless otherwise agreed resale may be at public or private sale including sale by way of one or more contracts to sell or of identification to an existing contract of the seller. Sale may be as a unit or in parcels and at any time and place and on any terms but every aspect of the sale including the method, manner, time, place and terms must be commercially reasonable. The resale must be reasonably identified as referring to the broken contract, but it is not necessary that the goods be in existence or that any or all of them have been identified to the contract before the breach.

(3) Where the resale is at private sale the seller must give the buyer reasonable notification of his intention to resell.

(4) Where the resale is at public sale

(a) only identified goods can be sold except where there is a recognized market for a public sale of futures in goods of the kind; and

(b) it must be made at a usual place or market for public sale if one is reasonably available and except in the case of goods which are perishable or threaten to decline in value speedily the seller must give the buyer reasonable notice of the time and place of the resale; and

(c) if the goods are not to be within the view of those attending the sale the notification of sale must state the place where the goods are located and provide for their reasonable inspection by prospective bidders; and

(5) A purchaser who buys in good faith at a resale takes the goods free of any rights of the original buyer even though the seller fails to comply with one or more of the requirements of this section.

(6) The seller is not accountable to the buyer for any profit made on any resale. A person in the position of a seller (section 2707) or a buyer who has rightfully rejected or justifiably revoked acceptance must account for any excess over the amount of his security interest, as hereinafter defined (subsection (3) of section 2711).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 229, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2707 Person in the position of a seller.

Sec. 2707. (1) A "person in the position of a seller" includes as against a principal an agent who has paid or become responsible for the price of goods on behalf of his principal or anyone who otherwise holds a security interest or other right in goods similar to that of a seller.

(2) A person in the position of a seller may as provided in this article withhold or stop delivery (section 2705) and resell (section 2706) and recover incidental damages (section 2710).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 230, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2708 Nonacceptance or repudiation; seller's damages.

Sec. 2708. (1) Subject to subsection (2) and to the provisions of this article with respect to proof of market price (section 2723), the measure of damages for nonacceptance or repudiation by the buyer is the difference between the market price at the time and place for tender and the unpaid contract price together with any incidental damages provided in this article (section 2710), but less expenses saved in consequence of the buyer's breach.

(2) If the measure of damages provided in subsection (1) is inadequate to put the seller in as good a position as performance would have done then the measure of damages is the profit (including reasonable overhead) which the seller would have made from full performance by the buyer, together with any incidental damages provided in this article (section 2710), due allowance for costs reasonably incurred and due credit for payments or proceeds of resale.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 230, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2709 Nonpayment; action for price, damages.

Sec. 2709. (1) When the buyer fails to pay the price as it becomes due the seller may recover, together with any incidental damages under the next section, the price

(a) of goods accepted or of conforming goods lost or damaged within a commercially reasonable time after risk of their loss has passed to the buyer; and

(b) of goods identified to the contract if the seller is unable after reasonable effort to resell them at a reasonable price or the circumstances reasonably indicate that such effort will be unavailing.

(2) Where the seller sues for the price he must hold for the buyer any goods which have been identified to the contract and are still in his control except that if resale becomes possible he may resell them at any time prior to the collection of the judgment. The net proceeds of any such resale must be credited to the buyer and payment of the judgment entitles him to any goods not resold.

(3) After the buyer has wrongfully rejected or revoked acceptance of the goods or has failed to make a payment due or has repudiated (section 2610), a seller who is held not entitled to the price under this section shall nevertheless be awarded damages for nonacceptance under the preceding section.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 230, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2710 Seller's incidental damages.

Sec. 2710. Incidental damages to an aggrieved seller include any commercially reasonable charges, expenses or commissions incurred in stopping delivery, in the transportation, care and custody of goods after the buyer's breach, in connection with return or resale of the goods or otherwise resulting from the breach.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 231, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2711 Nondelivery, repudiation, rejection, or revocation of acceptance; buyer's remedies; security interest in goods.

Sec. 2711. (1) Where the seller fails to make delivery or repudiates or the buyer rightfully rejects or justifiably revokes acceptance then with respect to any goods involved, and with respect to the whole if the breach goes to the whole contract (section 2612), the buyer may cancel and whether or not he has done so may in addition to recovering so much of the price as has been paid

(a) “cover” and have damages under the next section as to all the goods affected whether or not they have been identified to the contract; or

(b) recover damages for nondelivery as provided in this article (section 2713).

(2) Where the seller fails to deliver or repudiates the buyer may also

(a) if the goods have been identified recover them as provided in this article (section 2502); or

(b) in a proper case obtain specific performance or replevy or recover the goods as provided in this article (section 2716).

(3) On rightful rejection or justifiable revocation of acceptance a buyer has a security interest in goods in his possession or control for any payments made on their price and any expenses reasonably incurred in their inspection, receipt, transportation, care and custody and may hold such goods and resell them in like manner as an aggrieved seller (section 2706).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 231, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2712 Cover; procurement of substitute goods; buyer's damages.

Sec. 2712. (1) After a breach within the preceding section the buyer may “cover” by making in good faith and without unreasonable delay any reasonable purchase of or contract to purchase goods in substitution for those due from the seller.

(2) The buyer may recover from the seller as damages the difference between the cost of cover and the contract price together with any incidental or consequential damages as hereinafter defined (section 2715), but less expenses saved in consequence of the seller's breach.

(3) Failure of the buyer to effect cover within this section does not bar him from any other remedy.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 231, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2713 Nondelivery or repudiation; buyer's damages.

Sec. 2713. (1) Subject to the provisions of this article with respect to proof of market price (section 2723), the measure of damages for nondelivery or repudiation by the seller is the difference between the market price at the time when the buyer learned of the breach and the contract price together with any incidental and consequential damages provided in this article (section 2715), but less expenses saved in consequence of the seller's breach.

(2) Market price is to be determined as of the place for tender or, in cases of rejection after arrival or revocation of acceptance, as of the place of arrival.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 231, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2714 Accepted goods; buyer's damages for breach.

Sec. 2714. (1) Where the buyer has accepted goods and given notification (subsection (3) of section 2607) he may recover as damages for any nonconformity of tender the loss resulting in the ordinary course of events from the seller's breach as determined in any manner which is reasonable.

(2) The measure of damages for breach of warranty is the difference at the time and place of acceptance between the value of the goods accepted and the value they would have had if they had been as warranted, unless special circumstances show proximate damages of a different amount.

(3) In a proper case any incidental and consequential damages under the next section may also be recovered.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 231, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2715 Buyer's incidental and consequential damages.

Sec. 2715. (1) Incidental damages resulting from the seller's breach include expenses reasonably incurred in inspection, receipt, transportation and care and custody of goods rightfully rejected, any commercially reasonable charges, expenses or commissions in connection with effecting cover and any other reasonable expense incident to the delay or other breach.

(2) Consequential damages resulting from the seller's breach include

(a) any loss resulting from general or particular requirements and needs of which the seller at the time of contracting had reason to know and which could not reasonably be prevented by cover or otherwise; and

(b) injury to person or property proximately resulting from any breach of warranty.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 232, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2716 Specific performance; replevin; claim and delivery.

Sec. 2716. (1) Specific performance may be decreed where the goods are unique or in other proper circumstances.

(2) The decree for specific performance may include such terms and conditions as to payment of the price, damages, or other relief as the court may deem just.

(3) The buyer has a right of replevin or recovery in a claim and delivery proceeding for goods identified to the contract if after reasonable effort he is unable to effect cover for such goods or the circumstances reasonably indicate that such effort will be unavailing or if the goods have been shipped under reservation and satisfaction of the security interest in them has been made or tendered.

440.2717 Deduction of damages from price; notice.

Sec. 2717. The buyer on notifying the seller of his intention to do so may deduct all or any part of the damages resulting from any breach of the contract from any part of the price still due under the same contract.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 232, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2718 Liquidation and limitation of damages; restitution to buyers.

Sec. 2718. (1) Damages for breach by either party may be liquidated in the agreement but only at an amount which is reasonable in the light of the anticipated or actual harm caused by the breach, the difficulties of proof of loss, and the inconvenience or nonfeasibility of otherwise obtaining an adequate remedy. A term fixing unreasonably large liquidated damages is void as a penalty.

(2) Where the seller justifiably withholds delivery of goods because of the buyer's breach, the buyer is entitled to restitution of any amount by which the sum of his payments exceeds

(a) the amount to which the seller is entitled by virtue of terms liquidating the seller's damages in accordance with subsection (1), or

(b) in the absence of such terms, 20% of the value of the total performance for which the buyer is obligated under the contract or $500.00, whichever is smaller.

(3) The buyer's right to restitution under subsection (2) is subject to offset to the extent that the seller establishes

(a) a right to recover damages under the provisions of this article other than subsection (1), and

(b) the amount or value of any benefits received by the buyer directly or indirectly by reason of the contract.

(4) Where a seller has received payment in goods their reasonable value or the proceeds of their resale shall be treated as payments for the purposes of subsection (2);

but if the seller has notice of the buyer's breach before reselling goods received in part performance, his resale is subject to the conditions laid down in this article on resale by an aggrieved seller (section 2706).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 232, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2719 Contractual modification or limitation of remedies.

Sec. 2719. (1) Subject to the provisions of subsections (2) and (3) of this section and of the preceding section on liquidation and limitation of damages

(a) the agreement may provide for remedies in addition to or in substitution for those provided in this article and may limit or alter the measure of damages recoverable under this article, as by limiting the buyer's remedies to return of the goods and repayment of the price or to repair and replacement of nonconforming goods or parts; and

(b) resort to a remedy as provided is optional unless the remedy is expressly agreed to be exclusive, in which case it is the sole remedy.

(2) Where circumstances cause an exclusive or limited remedy to fail of its essential purpose, remedy may be had as provided in this act.

(3) Consequential damages may be limited or excluded unless the limitation or exclusion is unconscionable. Limitation of consequential damages for injury to the person in the case of consumer goods is prima facie unconscionable but limitation of damages where the loss is commercial is not.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 233, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2720 Cancellation, rescission, antecedent breach.

Sec. 2720. Unless the contrary intention clearly appears, expressions of "cancellation" or "rescission" of the contract or the like shall not be construed as a renunciation or discharge of any claim in damages for an antecedent breach.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 233, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2721 Remedies for misrepresentation or fraud.

Sec. 2721. Remedies for material misrepresentation or fraud include all remedies available under this article for nonfraudulent breach. Neither rescission or a claim for rescission of the contract for sale nor rejection or return of the goods shall bar or be deemed inconsistent with a claim for damages or other remedy.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 233, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2722 Right of action against third party for injury to goods.

Sec. 2722. Where a third party so deals with goods which have been identified to a contract for sale as to cause actionable injury to a party to that contract

(a) a right of action against the third party is in either party to the contract for sale who has title to or a security interest or a special property or an insurable interest in the goods; and if the goods have been destroyed or converted a right of action is also in the party who either bore the risk of loss under the contract for sale or has since the injury assumed that risk as against the other;

(b) if at the time of the injury the party plaintiff did not bear the risk of loss as against the other party to the contract for sale and there is no arrangement between them for disposition of the recovery, his suit or settlement is, subject to his own interest, as a fiduciary for the other party to the contract;

(c) either party may with the consent of the other sue for the benefit of whom it may concern.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 233, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2723 Evidence of market price; time, place, surprise.

Sec. 2723. (1) If an action based on anticipatory repudiation comes to trial before the time for performance with respect to some or all of the goods, any damages based on market price (section 2708 or section 2713) shall be determined according to the price of such goods prevailing at the time when the aggrieved party learned of the repudiation.

(2) If evidence of a price prevailing at the times or places described in this article is not readily available the price prevailing within any reasonable time before or after the time described or at any other place which in commercial judgment or under usage of trade would serve as a reasonable substitute for the one described may be used, making any proper allowance for the cost of transporting the goods to or from such other place.

(3) Evidence of a relevant price prevailing at a time or place other than the one described in this article offered by one party is not admissible unless and until he has given the other party such notice as the court finds sufficient to prevent unfair surprise.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 233, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2724 Evidence of market price; market quotations, admissibility.

Sec. 2724. Whenever the prevailing price or value of any goods regularly bought and sold in any established commodity market is in issue, reports in official publications or trade journals or in newspapers or periodicals of general circulation published as the reports of such market shall be admissible in evidence. The circumstances of the preparation of such a report may be shown to affect its weight but not its admissibility.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 234, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.2725 Statute of limitations in contracts for sale; contractual reduction.

Sec. 2725. (1) An action for breach of any contract for sale must be commenced within 4 years after the cause of action has accrued. By the original agreement the parties may reduce the period of limitation to not less than 1 year but may not extend it.

(2) A cause of action accrues when the breach occurs, regardless of the aggrieved party's lack of knowledge of the breach. A breach of warranty occurs when tender of delivery is made, except that where a warrant explicitly extends to future performance of the goods and discovery of the breach must await the time of such performance the cause of action accrues when the breach is or should have been discovered.

(3) Where an action commenced within the time limited by subsection (1) is so terminated as to leave available a remedy by another action for the same breach such other action may be commenced after the expiration of the time limited and within 6 months after the termination of the first action unless the termination resulted from voluntary discontinuance or from dismissal for failure or neglect to prosecute.

(4) This section does not alter the law on tolling of the statute of limitations nor does it apply to causes of action which have accrued before this act becomes effective.

(2) Where an instrument is antedated or postdated the time when it is payable is determined by the stated date if the instrument is payable on demand or at a fixed period after date.

(3) Where the instrument or any signature thereon is dated, the date is presumed to be correct.

Sec. 3115. (1) When a paper whose contents at the time of signing show that it is intended to become an instrument is signed while still incomplete in any necessary respect it cannot be enforced until completed, but when it is completed in accordance with authority given it is effective as completed.

(2) If the completion is unauthorized the rules as to material alteration apply (section 3407), even though the paper was not delivered by the maker or drawer; but the burden of establishing that any completion is unauthorized is on the party so asserting.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 238, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

(c) in any other manner is payable to the payee unconditionally and the additional words are without effect on subsequent parties.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 238, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3118 Ambiguous terms; rules of construction; interest; consent to extension.

Sec. 3118. The following rules apply to every instrument:

(a) Where there is doubt whether the instrument is a draft or a note the holder may treat it as either. A draft drawn on the drawer is effective as a note.

(b) Handwritten terms control typewritten and printed terms, and typewritten control printed.

(c) Words control figures except that if the words are ambiguous figures control.

(d) Unless otherwise specified a provision for interest means interest at the judgment rate at the place of payment from the date of the instrument, or if it is undated from the date of issue.

(e) Unless the instrument otherwise specifies 2 or more persons who sign as maker, acceptor or drawer or indorser and as a part of the same transaction are jointly and severally liable even though the instrument contains such words as "I promise to pay".

(f) Unless otherwise specified consent to extension authorizes a single extension for not longer than the original period. A consent to extension, expressed in the instrument, is binding on secondary parties and accommodation makers. A holder may not exercise his option to extend an instrument over the objection of a maker or acceptor or other party who in accordance with section 3604 tenders full payment when the instrument is due.

440.3120 Instruments payable through a bank.

Sec. 3120. An instrument which states that it is "payable through" a bank or the like designates that bank as a collecting bank to make presentment but does not of itself authorize the bank to pay the instrument.

(b) in the case of a demand instrument upon its date or, if no date is stated, on the date of issue.

(2) A cause of action against the obligor of a demand or time certificate of deposit accrues upon demand, but demand on a time certificate may not be made until on or after the date of maturity.

(3) A cause of action against a drawer of a draft or an indorser of any instrument accrues upon demand following dishonor of the instrument. Notice of dishonor is a demand.

(4) Unless an instrument provides otherwise, interest runs at the rate provided by law for a judgment

PART 2

TRANSFER AND NEGOTIATION

440.3201 Transfer of instruments; indorsement; rights of transferee.

Sec. 3201. (1) Transfer of an instrument vests in the transferee such rights as the transferor has therein, except that a transferee who has himself been a party to any fraud or illegality affecting the instrument or who as a prior holder had notice of a defense or claim against it cannot improve his position by taking from the later holder in due course.

(2) A transfer of a security interest in an instrument vests the foregoing rights in the transferee to the extent of the interest transferred.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed any transfer for value of an instrument not then payable to bearer gives the transferee the specifically enforceable right to have the unqualified indorsement of the transferor. Negotiation takes effect only when the indorsement is made and until that time there is no presumption that the transferee is the owner.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 239, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3202 Negotiation of instruments; indorsement, delivery.

Sec. 3202. (1) Negotiation is the transfer of an instrument in such form that the transferee becomes a holder. If the instrument is payable to order it is negotiated by delivery with any necessary indorsement; if payable to bearer it is negotiated by delivery.

(2) An indorsement must be written by or on behalf of the holder and on the instrument or on a paper so firmly affixed thereto as to become a part thereof.

(3) An indorsement is effective for negotiation only when it conveys the entire instrument or any unpaid residue. If it purports to be of less it operates only as a partial assignment.

(4) Words of assignment, condition, waiver, guaranty, limitation or disclaimer of liability and the like accompanying an indorsement do not affect its character as an indorsement.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 239, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3203 Wrong or misspelled name of payee, indorsement.

Sec. 3203. Where an instrument is made payable to a person under a misspelled name or one other than his own he may indorse in that name or his own or both; but signature in both names may be required by a person paying or giving value for the instrument.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 240, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3204 Special indorsement; blank indorsement.

Sec. 3204. (1) A special indorsement specifies the person to whom or to whose order it makes the instrument payable. Any instrument specially indorsed becomes payable to the order of the special indorsee and may be further negotiated only by his indorsement.

Blank indorsement.

(2) An indorsement in blank specifies no particular indorsee and may consist of a mere signature. An instrument payable to order and indorsed in blank becomes payable to bearer and may be negotiated by delivery alone until specially indorsed.

Conversion of blank indorsement into special indorsement.

(3) The holder may convert a blank indorsement into a special indorsement by writing over the signature of the indorser in blank any contract consistent with the character of the indorsement.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 240, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3205 Restrictive indorsement.

Sec. 3205. An indorsement is restrictive which either

- (a) is conditional; or
- (b) purports to prohibit further transfer of the instrument; or
- (c) includes the words "for collection", "for deposit", "pay any bank", or like terms signifying a purpose of deposit or collection; or
- (d) otherwise states that it is for the benefit or use of the indorser or of another person.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 240, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3206 Restrictive indorsement; effect.

Sec. 3206. (1) No restrictive indorsement prevents further transfer or negotiation of the instrument.

(2) An intermediary bank, or a payor bank which is not the depositary bank, is neither given notice nor otherwise affected by a restrictive indorsement of any person except the bank's immediate transferor or the person presenting for payment.

(3) Except for an intermediary bank, any transferee under an indorsement which is conditional or includes the words "for collection", "for deposit", "pay any bank", or like terms (subparagraphs (a) and (c) of section 3205) must pay or apply any value given by him for or on the security of the instrument consistently with the indorsement and to the extent that he does so he becomes a holder for value. In addition such transferee is a holder in due course if he otherwise complies with the requirements of section 3302 on what constitutes a holder in due course.

(4) The first taker under an indorsement for the benefit of the indorser or another person (subparagraph (d) of section 3205) must pay or apply any value given by him for or on the security of the instrument consistently with the indorsement and to the extent that he does so he becomes a holder for value. In addition such taker is a holder in due course if he otherwise complies with the requirements of section 3302 on what constitutes a holder in due course. A later holder for value is neither given notice nor otherwise affected by such restrictive indorsement unless he has knowledge that a fiduciary or other person has negotiated the instrument in any transaction for his own benefit or otherwise in breach of duty (subsection (2) of section 3304).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 240, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3207 Negotiation effective although subject to rescission, declaration of constructive trust or other remedy.

Sec. 3207. (1) Negotiation is effective to transfer the instrument although the negotiation is

(a) made by an infant, a corporation exceeding its powers, or any other person without capacity; or

(b) obtained by fraud, duress or mistake of any kind; or

(c) part of an illegal transaction; or

(2) Except as against a subsequent holder in due course such negotiation is in an appropriate case subject to rescission, the declaration of a constructive trust or any other remedy permitted by law.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 241, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3208 Reacquisition of instrument.

Sec. 3208. Where an instrument is returned to or reacquired by a prior party he may cancel any indorsement which is not necessary to his title and reissue or further negotiate the instrument, but any intervening party is discharged as against the reacquiring party and subsequent holders not in due course and if his indorsement has been cancelled is discharged as against subsequent holders in due course as well.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 241, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3301 Rights of holder.

Sec. 3301. The holder of an instrument whether or not he is the owner may transfer or negotiate it and, except as otherwise provided in section 3603 on payment or satisfaction, discharge it or enforce payment in his own name.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 241, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3302 Holder in due course.

Sec. 3302. (1) A holder in due course is a holder who takes the instrument

- (a) for value; and
- (b) in good faith; and
- (c) without notice that it is overdue or has been dishonored or of any defense against or claim to it on the part of any person.

(2) A payee may be a holder in due course.

(3) A holder does not become a holder in due course of an instrument:

- (a) by purchase of it at judicial sale or by taking it under legal process; or
- (b) by acquiring it in taking over an estate; or
- (c) by purchasing it as part of a bulk transaction not in regular course of business of the transferor.

(4) A purchaser of a limited interest can be a holder in due course only to the extent of the interest purchased.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 241, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3303 Holder for value.

Sec. 3303. A holder takes the instrument for value

(a) to the extent that the agreed consideration has been performed or that he acquires a security interest in or a lien on the instrument otherwise than by legal process; or

(b) when he takes the instrument in payment of or as security for an antecedent claim against any person whether or not the claim is due; or

(c) when he gives a negotiable instrument for it or makes an irrevocable commitment to a third person.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 241, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3304 Purchaser; notice of claim or defense.

Sec. 3304. (1) The purchaser has notice of a claim or defense if

(a) the instrument is so incomplete, bears such visible evidence of forgery or alteration, or is otherwise so irregular as to call into question its validity, terms or ownership or to create an ambiguity as to the party to pay; or

(b) the purchaser has notice that the obligation of any party is voidable in whole or in part, or that all parties have been discharged.

(2) The purchaser has notice of a claim against the instrument when he has knowledge that a fiduciary has negotiated the instrument in payment of or as security for his own debt or in any transaction for his own benefit or otherwise in breach of duty.

(3) The purchaser has notice that an instrument is overdue if he has reason to know

(a) that any part of the principal amount is overdue or that there is an uncured default in payment of another instrument of the same series; or

(b) that acceleration of the instrument has been made; or

(c) that he is taking a demand instrument after demand has been made or more than a reasonable length of time after its issue. A reasonable time for a check drawn and payable within the states and territories of the United States and the District of Columbia is presumed to be 30 days.

(4) Knowledge of the following facts does not of itself give the purchaser notice of a defense or claim.

- (a) that the instrument is antedated or postdated;
- (b) that it was issued or negotiated in return for an executory promise or accompanied by a separate agreement, unless the purchaser has notice that a defense or claim has arisen from the terms thereof;
- (c) that any party has signed for accommodation;
- (d) that an incomplete instrument has been completed, unless the purchaser has notice of any improper completion;
- (e) that any person negotiating the instrument is or was a fiduciary;
- (f) that there has been default in payment of interest on the instrument or in payment of any other instrument, except one of the same series.

(5) The filing or recording of a document does not of itself constitute notice within the provisions of this article to a person who would otherwise be a holder in due course.

(6) To be effective notice must be received at such time and in such manner as to give a reasonable opportunity to act on it.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 242, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3305 Holder in due course; defenses available.

Sec. 3305. To the extent that a holder is a holder in due course he takes the instrument free from

- (1) all claims to it on the part of any person; and
- (2) all defenses of any party to the instrument with whom the holder has not dealt except
 - (a) infancy, to the extent that it is a defense to a simple contract; and
 - (b) such other incapacity, or duress, or illegality of the transaction, as renders the obligation of the party a nullity; and
 - (c) such misrepresentation as has induced the party to sign the instrument with neither knowledge nor reasonable opportunity to obtain knowledge of its character or its essential terms; and
 - (d) discharge in insolvency proceedings; and
 - (e) any other discharge of which the holder has notice when he takes the instrument.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 242, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3306 One not a holder in due course; defenses available.

Sec. 3306. Unless he has the rights of a holder in due course any person takes the instrument subject to

- (a) all valid claims to it on the part of any person; and
- (b) all defenses of any party which would be available in an action on a simple contract; and
- (c) the defenses of want or failure of consideration, nonperformance of any condition precedent, nondelivery, or delivery for a special purpose (section 3408); and
- (d) the defense that he or a person through whom he holds the instrument acquired it by theft, or that payment or satisfaction to such holder would be inconsistent with the terms of a restrictive indorsement. The claim of any third person to the instrument is not otherwise available as a defense to any party liable thereon unless the third person himself defends the action for such party.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 242, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3307 Burden of proof; signatures, defenses, holder in due course.

Sec. 3307. (1) Unless specifically denied in the pleading each signature on an instrument is admitted. When the effectiveness of a signature is put in issue

- (a) the burden of establishing it is on the party claiming under the signature; but
- (b) the signature is presumed to be genuine or authorized except where the action is to enforce the obligation of a purported signer who has died or become incompetent before proof is required.

(2) When signatures are admitted or established, production of the instrument entitles a holder to recover on it unless the defendant establishes a defense.

(3) After it is shown that a defense exists a person claiming the rights of a holder in due course has the burden of establishing that he or some person under whom he claims is in all respects a holder in due course.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 243, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

PART 4LIABILITY OF PARTIES*440.3401 Liability of parties; signature on instrument.

Sec. 3401. (1) No person is liable on an instrument unless his signature appears thereon.

(2) A signature is made by use of any name, including any trade or assumed name, upon an instrument, or by any word or mark used in lieu of a written signature.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 243, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3402 Liability of parties; signature, in ambiguous capacity.

Sec. 3402. Unless the instrument clearly indicates that a signature is made in some other capacity it is an indorsement.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 243, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3403 Liability of parties; signature by authorized representative.

Sec. 3403. (1) A signature may be made by an agent or other representative, and his authority to make it may be established as in other cases of representation. No particular form of appointment is necessary to establish such authority.

- (2) An authorized representative who signs his own name to an instrument
 - (a) is personally obligated if the instrument neither names the person represented nor shows that the representative signed in a representative capacity;
 - (b) except as otherwise established between the immediate parties, is personally obligated if the instrument names the person represented but does not show that the representative signed in a representative capacity, or if the instrument does not name the person represented but does show that the representative signed in a representative capacity.

(3) Except as otherwise established the name of an organization preceded or followed by the name and office of an authorized individual is a signature made in a representative capacity.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 243, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3404 Signature; ratification when unauthorized.

Sec. 3404. (1) Any unauthorized signature is wholly inoperative as that of the person whose name is signed unless he ratifies it or is precluded from denying it; but it operates as the signature of the unauthorized signer in favor of any person who in good faith pays the instrument or takes it for value.

(2) Any unauthorized signature may be ratified for all purposes of this article. Such ratification does not of itself affect any rights of the person ratifying against the actual signer.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 244, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3405 Imposters; signature in name of payee; criminal or civil liability.

Sec. 3405. (1) An indorsement by any person in the name of a named payee is effective if

(a) an imposter by use of the mails or otherwise has induced the maker or drawer to issue the instrument to him or his confederate in the name of the payee; or

(b) a person signing as or on behalf of a maker or drawer intends the payee to have no interest in the instrument; or

(c) an agent or employee of the maker or drawer has supplied him with the name of the payee intending the latter to have no such interest.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the criminal or civil liability of the person so indorsing.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 244, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3406 Negligence contributing to alteration or unauthorized signature.

Sec. 3406. Any person who by his negligence substantially contributes to a material alteration of the instrument or to the making of an unauthorized signature is precluded from asserting the alteration or lack of authority against a holder in due course or against a drawee or other payor who pays the instrument in good faith and in accordance with the reasonable commercial standards of the drawee's or payor's business.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 244, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3407 Alteration, effect.

Sec. 3407. (1) Any alteration of an instrument is material which changes the contract of any party thereto in any respect, including any such change in

(a) the number or relations of the parties; or

(b) an incomplete instrument, by completing it otherwise than as authorized; or

(c) the writing as signed, by adding to it or by removing any part of it.

(2) As against any person other than a subsequent holder in due course

(a) alteration by the holder which is both fraudulent and material discharges any party whose contract is thereby changed unless that party assents or is precluded from asserting the defense;

(b) no other alteration discharges any party and the instrument may be enforced according to its original tenor, or as to incomplete instruments according to the authority given.

(3) A subsequent holder in due course may in all cases enforce the instrument according to its original tenor, and when an incomplete instrument has been completed, he may enforce it as completed.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 244, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3408 Consideration; want, failure, antecedent obligation, other statute, partial failure.

Sec. 3408. Want or failure of consideration is a defense as against any person not having the rights of a holder in due course (section 3305), except that no consideration is necessary for an instrument or obligation thereon given in payment of or as security for an antecedent obligation of any kind. Nothing in this section shall be taken to displace any statute outside this act under which a promise is enforceable notwithstanding lack or failure of consideration. Partial failure of consideration is a defense pro tanto whether or not the failure is in an ascertained or liquidated amount.

HISTORY: New 1992, p. 244, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1994.

440.3409 Check or draft; operation as assignment.

Sec. 3409. (1) A check or other draft does not of itself operate as an assignment of any funds in the hands of the drawee available for its payment, and the drawee is not liable on the instrument until he accepts it.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect any liability in contract, tort or otherwise arising from any letter of credit or other obligation or representation which is not an acceptance.

HISTORY: New 1992, p. 245, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1994.

440.3410 Acceptance of draft; definition, operation.

Sec. 3410. (1) Acceptance is the drawee's signed engagement to honor the draft as presented. It must be written on the draft, and may consist of his signature alone. It becomes operative when completed by delivery or notification.

(2) A draft may be accepted although it has not been signed by the drawer or is otherwise incomplete or is overdue or has been dishonored.

(3) Where the draft is payable at a fixed period after sight and the acceptor fails to date his acceptance the holder may complete it by supplying a date in good faith.

HISTORY: New 1992, p. 245, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1994.

440.3411 Certification of check.

Sec. 3411. (1) Certification of a check is acceptance. Where a holder procures certification the drawer and all prior indorsers are discharged.

(3) A bank may certify a check before returning it for lack of proper indorsement. If it does so the drawer is discharged.

HISTORY: New 1992, p. 245, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1994.

440.3412 Acceptance varying draft.

Sec. 3412. (1) Where the drawee's proffered acceptance in any manner varies the draft as presented the holder may refuse the acceptance and treat the draft as dishonored in which case the drawee is entitled to have his acceptance cancelled.

(2) The terms of the draft are not varied by an acceptance to pay at any particular bank or place in the United States, unless the acceptance states that the draft is to be paid only at such bank or place.

(3) Where the holder assents to an acceptance varying the terms of the draft each drawer and indorser who does not affirmatively assent is discharged.

HISTORY: New 1992, p. 245, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1994;—Am. 1994, p. 368, Act 250, Eff. Aug. 28.

440.3413 Contract of maker, drawer and acceptor.

Sec. 3413. (1) The maker or acceptor engages that he will pay the instrument according to its tenor at the time of his engagement or as completed pursuant to section 3115 on incomplete instruments.

(2) The drawer engages that upon dishonor of the draft and any necessary notice of dishonor or protest he will pay the amount of the draft to the holder or to any indorser who takes it up. The drawer may disclaim this liability by drawing without recourse.

(3) By making, drawing or accepting the party admits as against all subsequent parties including the drawee the existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse.

HISTORY: New 1992, p. 245, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1994.

440.3414 Contract of indorser; order of liability.

Sec. 3414. (1) Unless the indorsement otherwise specifies (as by such words as "without recourse") every indorser engages that upon dishonor and any necessary notice of dishonor and protest he will pay the instrument according to its tenor at the time of his indorsement to the holder or to any subsequent indorser who takes it up, even though the indorser who takes it up was not obligated to do so.

(2) Unless they otherwise agree indorsers are liable to one another in the order in which they indorse, which is presumed to be the order in which their signatures appear on the instrument.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 245, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3415 Contract of accommodation party.

Sec. 3415. (1) An accommodation party is one who signs the instrument in any capacity for the purpose of lending his name to another party to it.

(2) When the instrument has been taken for value before it is due the accommodation party is liable in the capacity in which he has signed even though the taker knows of the accommodation.

(3) As against a holder in due course and without notice of the accommodation oral proof of the accommodation is not admissible to give the accommodation party the benefit of discharges dependent on his character as such. In other cases the accommodation character may be shown by oral proof.

(4) An indorsement which shows that it is not in the chain of title is notice of its accommodation character.

(5) An accommodation party is not liable to the party accommodated, and if he pays the instrument has a right of recourse on the instrument against such party.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 245, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3416 Contract of guarantor.

Sec. 3416. (1) "Payment guaranteed" or equivalent words added to a signature mean that the signer engages that if the instrument is not paid when due he will pay it according to its tenor without resort by the holder to any other party.

(2) "Collection guaranteed" or equivalent words added to a signature mean that the signer engages that if the instrument is not paid when due he will pay it according to its tenor, but only after the holder has reduced his claim against the maker or acceptor to judgment and execution has been returned unsatisfied, or after the maker or acceptor has become insolvent or it is otherwise apparent that it is useless to proceed against him.

(4) No words of guaranty added to the signature of a sole maker or acceptor affect his liability on the instrument. Such words added to the signature of one of two or more makers or acceptors create a presumption that the signature is for the accommodation of the others.

(5) When words of guaranty are used presentment, notice of dishonor and protest are not necessary to charge the user.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 246, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3417 Warranties on presentment and transfer.

Sec. 3417. (1) Any person who obtains payment or acceptance and any prior transferor warrants to a person who in good faith pays or accepts that

(a) he has a good title to the instrument or is authorized to obtain payment or acceptance on behalf of one who has a good title; and

(b) he has no knowledge that the signature of the maker or drawer is unauthorized, except that this warranty is not given by a holder in due course acting in good faith

- (i) to a maker with respect to the maker's own signature; or
- (ii) to a drawer with respect to the drawer's own signature, whether or not the drawer is also the drawee; or
- (iii) to an acceptor of a draft if the holder in due course took the draft after the acceptance or obtained the acceptance without knowledge that the drawer's signature was unauthorized; and

(c) the instrument has not been materially altered, except that this warranty is not given by a holder in due course acting in good faith

- (i) to the maker of a note; or
- (ii) to the drawer of a draft whether or not the drawer is also the drawee; or
- (iii) to the acceptor of a draft with respect to an alteration made prior to the acceptance if the holder in due course took the draft after the acceptance, even though the acceptance provided "payable as originally drawn" or equivalent terms; or
- (iv) to the acceptor of a draft with respect to an alteration made after the acceptance.

(2) Any person who transfers an instrument and receives consideration warrants to his transferee and if the transfer is by indorsement to any subsequent holder who takes the instrument in good faith that

- (a) he has a good title to the instrument or is authorized to obtain payment or acceptance on behalf of one who has a good title and the transfer is otherwise rightful; and
- (b) all signatures are genuine or authorized; and
- (c) the instrument has not been materially altered; and
- (d) no defense of any party is good against him; and
- (e) he has no knowledge of any insolvency proceeding instituted with respect to the maker or acceptor or the drawer of an unaccepted instrument.

(3) By transferring "without recourse" the transferor limits the obligation stated in subsection (2)(d) to a warranty that he has no knowledge of such a defense.

(4) A selling agent or broker who does not disclose the fact that he is acting only as such gives the warranties provided in this section, but if he makes such disclosure warrants only his good faith and authority.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 246, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3418 Finality of payment or acceptance.

Sec. 3418. Except for recovery of bank payments as provided in the article on bank deposits and collections (article 4) and except for liability for breach of warranty on presentment under the preceding section, payment or acceptance of any instrument is final in favor of a holder in due course, or a person who has in good faith changed his position in reliance on the payment.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 247, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3419 Conversion of instrument; innocent representative.

Sec. 3419. (1) An instrument is converted when

- (a) a drawee to whom it is delivered for acceptance refuses to return it on demand; or
- (b) any person to whom it is delivered for payment refuses on demand either to pay or to return it; or
- (c) it is paid on a forged indorsement.

(2) In an action against a drawee under subsection (1) the measure of the drawee's liability is the face amount of the instrument. In any other action under subsection (1) the measure of liability is presumed to be the face amount of the instrument.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this act concerning restrictive indorsements a representative, including a depositary or collecting bank, who has in good faith and in accordance with the reasonable commercial standards applicable to the business of such representative dealt with an instrument or its proceeds on behalf of one who was not the true owner is not liable in conversion or otherwise to the true owner beyond the amount of any proceeds remaining in his hands.

(4) An intermediary bank or payor bank which is not a depositary bank is not liable in conversion solely by reason of the fact that proceeds of an item indorsed restrictively (sections 3205 and 3206) are not paid or applied consistently with the restrictive indorsement of an indorser other than its immediate transferor.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 247, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

PART 5

PRESENTMENT, NOTICE OF DISHONOR AND PROTEST

Sec. 3501. (1) Unless excused (section 3511) presentment is necessary to charge secondary parties as follows:

(a) presentment for acceptance is necessary to charge the drawer and indorsers of a draft where the draft so provides, or is payable elsewhere than at the residence or place of business of the drawee, or its date of payment depends upon such presentment. The holder may at his option present for acceptance any other draft payable at a stated date;

(b) presentment for payment is necessary to charge any indorser;

(c) in the case of any drawer, the acceptor of a draft payable at a bank or the maker of a note payable at a bank, presentment for payment is necessary, but failure to make presentment discharges such drawer, acceptor or maker only as stated in section 3502(1)(b).

(2) Unless excused (section 3511)

(a) notice of any dishonor is necessary to charge any indorser;

(b) in the case of any drawer, the acceptor of a draft payable at a bank or the maker of a note payable at a bank, notice of any dishonor is necessary, but failure to give such notice discharges such drawer, acceptor or maker only as stated in section 3502(1)(b).

(3) Unless excused (section 3511) protest of any dishonor is necessary to charge the drawer and indorsers of any draft which on its face appears to be drawn or payable outside of the states and territories of the United States and the District of Columbia. The holder may at his option make protest of any dishonor of any other instrument and in the case of a foreign draft may on insolvency of the acceptor before maturity make protest for better security.

(4) Notwithstanding any provision of this section, neither presentment nor notice of dishonor nor protest is necessary to charge an indorser who has indorsed an instrument after maturity.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 247, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3502 Presentment, notice of dishonor and protest; unexcused delay, discharge.

Sec. 3502. (1) Where without excuse any necessary presentment or notice of dishonor is delayed beyond the time when it is due

- (a) any indorser is discharged; and
- (b) any drawer or the acceptor of a draft payable at a bank or the maker of a note payable at a bank who because the drawee or payor bank becomes insolvent during the delay is deprived of funds maintained with the drawee or payor bank to cover the instrument may discharge his liability by written assignment to the holder of his rights against the drawee or payor bank in respect of such funds, but such drawer, acceptor or maker is not otherwise discharged.

(2) Where without excuse a necessary protest is delayed beyond the time when it is due any drawer or indorser is discharged.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 248, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3503 Presentment; time.

Sec. 3503. (1) Unless a different time is expressed in the instrument the time for any presentment is determined as follows:

- (a) where an instrument is payable at or a fixed period after a stated date any presentment for acceptance must be made on or before the date it is payable;
- (b) where an instrument is payable after sight it must either be presented for acceptance or negotiated within a reasonable time after date or issue whichever is later;
- (c) where an instrument shows the date on which it is payable presentment for payment is due on that date;
- (d) where an instrument is accelerated presentment for payment is due within a reasonable time after the acceleration;
- (e) with respect to the liability of any secondary party presentment for acceptance or payment of any other instrument is due within a reasonable time after such party becomes liable thereon.

(2) A reasonable time for presentment is determined by the nature of the instrument, any usage of banking or trade and the facts of the particular case. In the case of an uncertified check which is drawn and payable within the United States and which is not a draft drawn by a bank the following are presumed to be reasonable periods within which to present for payment or to initiate bank collection:

- (a) with respect to the liability of the drawer, 30 days after date or issue whichever is later; and
- (b) with respect to the liability of an indorser, 7 days after his indorsement.

(3) Where any presentment is due on a day which is not a full business day for either the person making presentment or the party to pay or accept, presentment is due on the next following day which is a full business day for both parties.

(4) Presentment to be sufficient must be made at a reasonable hour, and if at a bank during its banking day.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 248, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3504 Presentment; definition, manner and to whom made.

Sec. 3504. (1) Presentment is a demand for acceptance or payment made upon the maker, acceptor, drawee or other payor by or on behalf of the holder.

(2) Presentment may be made

- (a) by mail, in which event the time of presentment is determined by the time of receipt of the mail; or
- (b) through a clearing house; or
- (c) at the place of acceptance or payment specified in the instrument or if there be none at the place of business or residence of the party to accept or pay. If neither the party to accept or pay nor anyone authorized to act for him is present or accessible at such place presentment is excused.

(3) It may be made

(a) to any one of 2 or more makers, acceptors, drawees or other payors; or

(b) to any person who has authority to make or refuse the acceptance or payment.

(4) A draft accepted or a note made payable at a bank in the United States must be presented at such bank.

(5) In the cases described in section 4210 presentment may be made in the manner and with the result stated in that section.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 249, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964;—Am. 1964, p. 368, Act 250, Eff. Aug. 28.

440.3505 Presentment; rights of party to whom made.

Sec. 3505. (1) The party to whom presentment is made may without dishonor require

(a) exhibition of the instrument; and

(b) reasonable identification of the person making presentment and evidence of his authority to make it if made for another; and

(c) that the instrument be produced for acceptance or payment at a place specified in it, or if there be none at any place reasonable in the circumstances; and

(d) a signed receipt on the instrument for any partial or full payment and its surrender upon full payment.

(2) Failure to comply with any such requirement invalidates the presentment but the person presenting has a reasonable time in which to comply and the time for acceptance or payment runs from the time of compliance.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 249, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3506 Presentment; time allowed for acceptance or payment.

Sec. 3506. (1) Acceptance may be deferred without dishonor until the close of the next business day following presentment. The holder may also in a good faith effort to obtain acceptance and without either dishonor of the instrument or discharge of secondary parties allow postponement of acceptance for an additional business day.

(2) Except as a longer time is allowed in the case of documentary drafts drawn under a letter of credit, and unless an earlier time is agreed to by the party to pay, payment of an instrument may be deferred without dishonor pending reasonable examination to determine whether it is properly payable, but payment must be made in any event before the close of business on the day of presentment.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 249, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3507 Dishonor; holder's right of recourse; term allowing presentment.

Sec. 3507. (1) An instrument is dishonored when

(a) a necessary or optional presentment is duly made and due acceptance or payment is refused or cannot be obtained within the prescribed time or in case of bank collections the instrument is seasonably returned by the midnight deadline (section 4301); or

(2) Subject to any necessary notice of dishonor and protest, the holder has upon dishonor an immediate right of recourse against the drawers and indorsers.

(4) A term in a draft or an indorsement thereof allowing a stated time for presentment in the event of any dishonor of the draft by nonacceptance if a time draft or by nonpayment if a sight draft gives the holder as against any secondary party bound by the term an option to waive the dishonor without affecting the liability of the secondary party and he may present again up to the end of the stated time.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 249, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3508 Dishonor; notice.

Sec. 3508. (1) Notice of dishonor may be given to any person who may be liable on the instrument by or on behalf of the holder or any party who has himself received notice, or any other party who can be compelled to pay the instrument. In addition an agent or bank in whose hands the instrument is dishonored may give notice to his principal or customer or to another agent or bank from which the instrument was received.

(2) Any necessary notice must be given by a bank before its midnight deadline and by any other person before midnight of the third business day after dishonor or receipt of notice of dishonor.

(3) Notice may be given in any reasonable manner. It may be oral or written and in any terms which identify the instrument and state that it has been dishonored. A misdescription which does not mislead the party notified does not vitiate the notice. Sending the instrument bearing a stamp, ticket or writing stating that acceptance or payment has been refused or sending a notice of debit with respect to the instrument is sufficient.

(5) Notice to one partner is notice to each although the firm has been dissolved.

(6) When any party is in insolvency proceedings instituted after the issue of the instrument notice may be given either to the party or to the representative of his estate.

(7) When any party is dead or incompetent notice may be sent to his last known address or given to his personal representative.

(8) Notice operates for the benefit of all parties who have rights on the instrument against the party notified.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 250, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3509 Protest; voting for protest.

Sec. 3509. (1) A protest is a certificate of dishonor made under the hand and seal of a United States consul or vice consul or a notary public or other person authorized to certify dishonor by the law of the place where dishonor occurs. It may be made upon information satisfactory to such person.

(2) The protest must identify the instrument and certify either that due presentment has been made or the reason why it is excused and that the instrument has been dishonored by nonacceptance or nonpayment.

(3) The protest may also certify that notice of dishonor has been given to all parties or to specified parties.

(4) Subject to subsection (5) any necessary protest is due by the time that notice of dishonor is due.

(5) If, before protest is due, an instrument has been noted for protest by the officer to make protest, the protest may be made at any time thereafter as of the date of the noting.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 250, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3510 Dishonor and notice of dishonor; evidence.

Sec. 3510. The following are admissible as evidence and create a presumption of dishonor and of any notice of dishonor therein shown:

(a) a document regular in form as provided in the preceding section which purports to be a protest;

(b) the purported stamp or writing of the drawee, payor bank or presenting bank on the instrument or accompanying it stating that acceptance or payment has been refused for reasons consistent with dishonor;

(c) any book or record of the drawee, payor bank, or any collecting bank kept in the usual course of business which shows dishonor, even though there is no evidence of who made the entry.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 250, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3511 Presentment, protest, notice of dishonor; waiver, excuse, delay.

Sec. 3511. (1) Delay in presentment, protest or notice of dishonor is excused when the party is without notice that it is due or when the delay is caused by circumstances beyond his control and he exercises reasonable diligence after the cause of the delay ceases to operate.

(2) Presentment or notice or protest as the case may be is entirely excused when

(a) the party to be charged has waived it expressly or by implication either before or after it is due; or

(b) such party has himself dishonored the instrument or has countermanded payment or otherwise has no reason to expect or right to require that the instrument be accepted or paid; or

(c) by reasonable diligence the presentment or protest cannot be made or the notice given.

(3) Presentment is also entirely excused when

(a) the maker, acceptor or drawee of any instrument except a documentary draft is dead or in insolvency proceedings instituted after the issue of the instrument; or

(4) Where a draft has been dishonored by nonacceptance a later presentment for payment and any notice of dishonor and protest for nonpayment are excused unless in the meantime the instrument has been accepted.

(5) A waiver of protest is also a waiver of presentment and of notice of dishonor even though protest is not required.

(6) Where a waiver of presentment or notice or protest is embodied in the instrument itself it is binding upon all parties; but where it is written above the signature of an indorser it binds him only.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 251, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

PART 6

DISCHARGE

440.3601 Discharge; parties, extent.

Sec. 3601. (1) The extent of the discharge of any party from liability on an instrument is governed by the sections on

(a) payment or satisfaction (section 3603); or

(b) tender of payment (section 3604); or

(c) cancellation or renunciation (section 3605); or

(d) impairment of right of recourse or of collateral (section 3606); or

(e) reacquisition of the instrument by a prior party (section 3208); or

(f) fraudulent and material alteration (section 3407); or

(g) certification of a check (section 3411); or

(h) acceptance varying a draft (section 3412); or

(i) unexcused delay in presentment or notice of dishonor or protest (section 3502).

(2) Any party is also discharged from his liability on an instrument to another party by any other act or agreement with such party which would discharge his simple contract for the payment of money.

(3) The liability of all parties is discharged when any party who has himself no right of action or recourse on the instrument

(a) reacquires the instrument in his own right; or

(b) is discharged under any provision of this article, except as otherwise provided with respect to discharge for impairment of recourse or of collateral (section 3606).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 251, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3602 Discharge; holder in due course.

Sec. 3602. No discharge of any party provided by this article is effective against a subsequent holder in due course unless he has notice thereof when he takes the instrument.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 251, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3603 Discharge; payment or satisfaction.

Sec. 3603. (1) The liability of any party is discharged to the extent of his payment or satisfaction to the holder even though it is made with knowledge of a claim of another person to the instrument unless prior to such payment or satisfaction the person making the claim either supplies indemnity deemed adequate by the party seeking the discharge or enjoins payment or satisfaction by order of a court of competent jurisdiction in an action in which the adverse claimant and the holder are parties. This subsection does not, however, result in the discharge of the liability

(a) of a party who in bad faith pays or satisfies a holder who acquired the instrument by theft or who (unless having the rights of a holder in due course) holds through one who so acquired it; or

(b) of a party (other than an intermediary bank or a payor bank which is not a depository bank) who pays or satisfies the holder of an instrument which has been restrictively indorsed in a manner not consistent with the terms of such restrictive indorsement.

(2) Payment or satisfaction may be made with the consent of the holder by any person including a stranger to the instrument. Surrender of the instrument to such a person gives him the rights of a transferee (section 3201).

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 252, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3604 Discharge; tender of payment.

Sec. 3604. (1) Any party making tender of full payment to a holder when or after it is due is discharged to the extent of all subsequent liability for interest, costs and attorney's fees.

(2) The holder's refusal of such tender wholly discharges any party who has a right of recourse against the party making the tender.

(3) Where the maker or acceptor of an instrument payable otherwise than on demand is able and ready to pay at every place of payment specified in the instrument when it is due, it is equivalent to tender.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 252, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3605 Discharge; cancellation or renunciation.

Sec. 3605. (1) The holder of an instrument may even without consideration discharge any party

(a) in any manner apparent on the face of the instrument or the indorsement, as by intentionally cancelling the instrument or the party's signature by destruction or mutilation, or by striking out the party's signature; or

(b) by renouncing his rights by a writing signed and delivered or by surrender of the instrument to the party to be discharged.

(2) Neither cancellation nor renunciation without surrender of the instrument affects the title thereto.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 252, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3606 Discharge; impairment of recourse or of collateral; express reservation.

Sec. 3606. (1) The holder discharges any party to the instrument to the extent that without such party's consent the holder

(a) without express reservation of rights releases or agrees not to sue any person against whom the party has to the knowledge of the holder a right of recourse or agrees to suspend the right to enforce against such person the instrument or collateral or otherwise discharges such person, except that failure or delay in effecting any required presentment, protest or notice of dishonor with respect to any such person does not discharge any party as to whom presentment, protest or notice of dishonor is effective or unnecessary; or

(b) unjustifiably impairs any collateral for the instrument given by or on behalf of the party or any person against whom he has a right of recourse.

(2) By express reservation of rights against a party with a right of recourse the holder preserves

(a) all his rights against such party as of the time when the instrument was originally due; and

(b) the right of the party to pay the instrument as of that time; and

(c) all rights of such party to recourse against others.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 252, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

PART 7

ADVICE OF INTERNATIONAL SIGHT DRAFT

440.3701 International sight draft; letter of advice.

Sec. 3701. (1) A "letter of advice" is a drawer's communication to the drawee that a described draft has been drawn.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed when a bank receives from another bank a letter of advice of an international sight draft the drawee bank may immediately debit the drawer's account and stop the running of interest pro tanto. Such a debit and any resulting credit to any account covering outstanding drafts leaves in the drawer full power to stop payment or otherwise dispose of the amount and creates no trust or interest in favor of the holder.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed and except where a draft is drawn under a credit issued by the drawee, the drawee of an international sight draft owes the drawer no duty to pay an unadvised draft but if it does so and the draft is genuine, may appropriately debit the drawer's account.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 253, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

PART 8

MISCELLANEOUS

440.3801 Drafts in set; negotiation, indorsement, acceptance, payment, discharge.

Sec. 3801. (1) Where a draft is drawn in a set of parts, each of which is numbered and expressed to be an order only if no other part has been honored, the whole of the parts constitutes one draft but a taker of any part may become a holder in due course of the draft.

(2) Any person who negotiates, indorses or accepts a single part of a draft drawn in a set thereby becomes liable to any holder in due course of that part as if it were the whole set, but as between different holders in due course to whom different parts have been negotiated the holder whose title first accrues has all rights to the draft and its proceeds.

(3) As against the drawee the first presented part of a draft drawn in a set is the part entitled to payment, or if a time draft to acceptance and payment. Acceptance of any subsequently presented part renders the drawee liable thereon under subsection (2). With respect both to a holder and to the drawer payment of a subsequently presented part of a draft payable at sight has the same effect as payment of a check notwithstanding an effective stop order (section 4407).

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this section, where any part of a draft in a set is discharged by payment or otherwise the whole draft is discharged.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 253, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3802 Effect of instrument on underlying obligations.

Sec. 3802. (1) Unless otherwise agreed where an instrument is taken for an underlying obligation

(a) the obligation is pro tanto discharged if a bank is drawer, maker or acceptor of the instrument and there is no recourse on the instrument against the underlying obligor; and

(b) in any other case the obligation is suspended pro tanto until the instrument is due or if it is payable on demand until its presentment. If the instrument is dishonored action may be maintained on either the instrument or the obligation; discharge of the underlying obligor on the instrument also discharges him on the obligation.

(2) The taking in good faith of a check which is not post-dated does not of itself so extend the time on the original obligation as to discharge a surety.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 253, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3803 Notice of litigation to answerable third party.

Sec. 3803. Where a defendant is sued for breach of an obligation for which a third person is answerable over under this article he may give the third person written notice of the litigation, and the person notified may then give similar notice to any other person who is answerable over to him under this article. If the notice states that the person notified may come in and defend and that if the person notified does not do so he will in any action against him by the person giving the notice be bound by any determination of the fact common to the two litigations, then unless after reasonable receipt of the notice the person notified does come in and defend he is so bound.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 254, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3804 Lost, destroyed or stolen instruments.

Sec. 3804. The owner of an instrument which is lost, whether by destruction, theft or otherwise, may maintain an action in his own name and recover from any party liable thereon upon due proof of his ownership, the facts which prevent his production of the instrument and its terms. The court may require security indemnifying the defendant against loss by reason of further claims on the instrument.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 254, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.3805 Instruments not payable to order or bearer.

Sec. 3805. This article applies to any instrument whose terms do not preclude transfer and which is otherwise negotiable within this article but which is not payable to or der or to bearer, except that there can be no holder in due course of such an instrument.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 254, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

Sec. 4102. (1) To the extent that items within this article are also within the scope of articles 3 and 8, they are subject to the provisions of those articles. In the event of conflict the provisions of this article govern those of article 3 but the provisions of article 8 govern those of this article.

(2) The liability of a bank for action or non-action with respect to any item handled by it for purposes of presentment, payment or collection is governed by the law of the place where the bank is located. In the case of action or non-action by or at a branch or separate office of a bank, its liability is governed by the law of the place where the branch or separate office is located.

440.4103 Variation by agreement; measure of damages; action constituting ordinary care.

Sec. 4103. (1) The effect of the provisions of this article may be varied by agreement except that no agreement can disclaim a bank's responsibility for its own lack of good faith or failure to exercise ordinary care or can limit the measure of damages for such lack or failure; but the parties may by agreement determine the standards by which such responsibility is to be measured if such standards are not manifestly unreasonable.

(2) Federal Reserve regulations and operating letters, clearing house rules, and the like, have the effect of agreements under subsection (1), whether or not specifically assented to by all parties interested in items handled.

(3) Action or non-action approved by this article or pursuant to Federal Reserve regulations or operating letters constitutes the exercise of ordinary care and, in the absence of special instructions, action or non-action consistent with clearing house rules and the like or with a general banking usage not disapproved by this article, prima facie constitutes the exercise of ordinary care.

(4) The specification or approval of certain procedures by this article does not constitute disapproval of other procedures which may be reasonable under the circumstances.

(5) The measure of damages for failure to exercise ordinary care in handling an item is the amount of the item reduced by an amount which could not have been realized by the use of ordinary care, and where there is bad faith it includes other damages, if any, suffered by the party as a proximate consequence.

(2) Any item or deposit of money received on any day after a cut-off hour so fixed or after the close of the banking day may be treated as being received at the opening of the next banking day.

(2) Delay by a collecting bank or payor bank beyond time limits prescribed or permitted by this act or by instructions is excused if caused by interruption of communication facilities, suspension of payments by another bank, war, emergency conditions or other circumstances beyond the control of the bank provided it exercises such diligence as the circumstances require.

PART 2

COLLECTION OF ITEMS: DEPOSITARY AND COLLECTING BANKS

440.4201 Agency status of banks; provisional status of credits; applicability of article; indorsement, pay any bank.

Sec. 4201. (1) Unless a contrary intent clearly appears and prior to the time that a settlement given by a collecting bank for an item is or becomes final (subsection (3) of section 4211 and sections 4212 and 4213) the bank is an agent or sub-agent of the owner of the item and any settlement given for the item is provisional. This provision applies regardless of the form of indorsement or lack of indorsement and even though credit given for the item is subject to immediate withdrawal as of right or is in fact withdrawn; but the continuance of ownership of an item by its owner and any rights of the owner to proceeds of the item are subject to rights of a collecting bank such as those resulting from outstanding advances on the item and valid rights of setoff. When an item is handled by banks for purposes of presentment, payment and collection, the relevant provisions of this article apply even though action of parties clearly establishes that a particular bank has purchased the item and is the owner of it.

Indorsement pay any bank.

(2) After an item has been indorsed with the words "pay any bank" or the like, only a bank may acquire the rights of a holder

- (a) until the item has been returned to the customer initiating collection; or
- (b) until the item has been specially indorsed by a bank to a person who is not a bank.

HISTORY: New 1962, p. 256, Act 174, Eff. Jan. 1, 1964.

440.4202 Collecting bank; duty, reasonable action.

Sec. 4202. (1) A collecting bank must use ordinary care in

- (a) presenting an item or sending it for presentment; and
- (b) sending notice of dishonor or nonpayment or returning an item other than a documentary draft to the bank's transferor or directly to the depositary bank under subsection (2) of section 4212 after learning that the item has not been paid or accepted, as the case may be; and
- (c) settling for an item when the bank receives final settlement; and
- (d) making or providing for any necessary protest; and
- (e) notifying its transferor of any loss or delay in transit within a reasonable time after discovery thereof.

(2) A collecting bank taking proper action before its midnight deadline following receipt of an item, notice or payment acts seasonably; taking proper action within a reasonably longer time may be seasonable but the bank has the burden of so establishing.

(3) Subject to subsection (1) (a), a bank is not liable for the insolvency, neglect, misconduct, mistake or default of another bank or person or for loss or destruction of an item in transit or in the possession of others.
